Senate Probe Of Peress Discharge To Be Reopened

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Further impetus was given today to a reopening of a Senate investigation of the Maj. Irving Peress case after what some senators called a belated disclosure of new information by the army.

Democrats on the Senate Investigations subcommittee had indicated they planned an inquiry to clear up the case even before the Army disclosed last night that Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, a deputy chief of staff, and Army counsellor John G. Adams, made the final decision to grant Peress an honorable discharge.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), a member of the subcommittee, said the Army had permitted the Peress case "to become a national issue by failing to give a simple, candid explanation of what transpired."

Indicating he expected the subcommittee to go into the whole matter, Jackson said that "sooner or later" the Army must answer some simple questions about its handling of Peress.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), still acting as chairman of the subcommittee until the Democrats take control in the week ahead, sent out formal notices for a closed meeting Monday morning and planned to urge that some top Army officials be called for questioning.

Peress is a New York City dentist who refused to answer questions about Communist affiliations in testifying before the McCarthy subcommittee last Jan. 30.

McCarthy, calling Peress "a Fifth Amendment Communist," demanded that he be court-martialed by the Army, but on Feb. 2 of last year the Army permitted Peress to leave with an honorable discharge in line with previous orders to get him out of the service.

This decision to grant Peress' request for an immediate discharge, instead of waiting until March 31, was made by Weible and Adams, the Army said last night, after they decided no new evidence warranted holding him. The Army's handling of the case was set out in a 10,000-word chronology.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), who will succeed McCarthy as chairman of the Investigations subcommittee in the new Democratic - controlled Congress, said "it is strange that it has taken this long to disclose the facts, if these are the facts."

Democrats indicated they felt it would be well to call Army authorities and have them testify under oath. They said privately they felt this might not have been necessary except for what they called the apparent reluctance of

Stevens' Future Is Beclouded By New Revelations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Robert T. Stevens' future as secretary of the Army was thrown into further uncertainty today by an upcoming congressional inqury into the Peress case.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee apparently was getting set to ask detailed questions, including why the Army waited until last night to make public its detailed chronology on the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress.

Peress was discharged last February after refusing to answer questions concerning communism in an Army questionnaire and before the Senate subcommittee.

The subcommittee will soon pass into control of Democrats, who indicated they will push the inquiry. Sitting on the subcommittee, ready to join the questioning, will be Stevens' old antagonist, retiring Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis).

Stevens, who was deeply disturbed by the violence of the prolonged fight with McCarthy at last year's Army-McCarthy hearings, thus is confronted with the prospect of another public row.

After last year's hearings reporters asked Stevens whether he had any intention of resigning. His reply then was "none whatsoever." From time to time since then he has repeated the denial.

8 Persons Killed In Head-On Crash Of 2 Automobiles

FINCASTLE, Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—A speeding automobile — purchased only a few hours earlier—hurtled out of control on a U. S. 220 hill near here late last night, rammed head-on into another car and in the resulting tangle of wreckage eight persons died.

State police blamed "wantonly excessive speed" for the thunderous crash two miles south of here and called it "a tragic and appalling thing." It was the most costly two-car collision in Virginia History.

State Trooper H. L. Holzbach said the fast-traveling southbound car, carrying five Negro men, left skid marks for 1,000 feet up the hill as its driver apparently sought desperately to regain control of the runaway vehicle.

Killed instantly were Julian L. Wills, 64, of Fincastle, and his wife, Bertha, 63. Their son, Wilmer Rea Wills, 39, died an hour later.

Two of the five Negro men in the runaway car—William Henry Clay Jr., 20, of Rt. 1, Troutville, owner of the vehicle, and Gilbert Wiley, 21, also of Rt. 1, Troutville—were killed instantly. George Vincent Brown, 21, of Fincastle, lived only a few minutes. Robert Pettus Jr., 16, of Fincastle, died early today in a Roanoke hospital.

Joe Louis Willis, 16, of Fincastle, died at 6:50 p.m. today 18½ hours after the wreck.

Trooper Holzbach said only four hours before the 11:35 p.m. crash he saw Clay purchase the car in Fincastle and watched him attach license plates.

It was the nation's second multiple-fatality crash of the day. Seven persons died yesterday when two cars collided on U. S. 70-80 about 21 miles east of Lordsburg, N. M.

Recall Of Police Juror Is Sought

BASTROP, La. —UP— Voters will decide here March 8 whether to recall police juror Bennie D. Haynes who came under fire for allegedly ordering a ditch cut through a road leading to a cemetery.

Basil Scott of Bonita circulated a petition for the recall election because it was claimed the ditch made it impossible for persons to drive to the cemetery.

The recall election was ordered by Gov. Robert F. Kennon. Scott said he obtained the names of 31 per cent of the district's registered voters on the petition. The law requires 25 per cent. There are 517 registered voters in Haynes' 10th ward.

Martial Rule In Phenix City To End January 17

Gov. Persons To Give Successor In Office Free Hand

MONTGOMERY, Ala., — UP—Gov. Gordon Persons will issue a proclamation Monday rescinding his previous proclamation of qualified martial rule in Russell county as of midnight Jan. 17, his last day in office, it was announced today.

The governor's executive secretary, Vernon Merritt, said Persons will issue the announcement withdrawing National Guard troops from Phenix City in advance to give incoming Governor James E. Folsom complete freedom of action in the matter.

The governor's order will end more than five months of military rule in the one-time sin capital. Some 150 National Guardsmen moved into Russell county after the proclamation of "qualified martial rule," but there has been a gradual change back to civilian control of the city in recent weeks.

Merritt said the advance notice was intended to let Folsom survey the local law enforcement situation in Russell county before he decides what course he will follow.

He said both Folsom and incoming Alabama adjutant general W. D. Partlow had been informed of the plan.

Maj. Gen. Walter J. (Crack) Hanna, present adjutant general and military boss of Phenix City, commented earlier that "I don't think they are going to need troops down there any longer."

Persons declared martial rule and sent in troops to take over all law enforcement in a drive to cleanup vice and corruption after decades of gangster rule and open lawlessness in Phenix City.

The most sweeping cleanup drive in Alabama history was touched off by the assassination of Albert L. Patterson last June 18 after he was nominated state attorney general on a pledge to drive the gangsters from his hometown.

Since then, the National guard has declared the town free of organized crime after scores of arrests and revamping of practically all city, county and court machinery.

In declaring "qualified martial rule" in Phenix City, Persons pledged that National Guard troops would remain there as long as he was in office or as long as they were necessary.

Hanna declined to comment directly on the ending of martial rule, but he said "the sheriff's office and police department in Phenix City both seem to be doing all right now and I don't think they need any more help from us."

Merritt and Hanna said they understood martial rule would continue until Persons's proclamation was actually rescinded, even after the change of administration.

March Of Dimes Auction Planned

Jerry Sugar, 1955 March of Dimes auction chairman, has put out a call for articles to be donated for auctioning off on a three hour television program Sunday, Jan. 23, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Last year, the March of Dimes auction netted over $6 thousand. Sugar said he hopes last year's total will be topped, since funds are even more urgently needed to meet the demand of caring for the rapidly increasing number of victims, and to finance further vaccine tests and trials.

The telephone number of polio headquarters where donations of goods and services can be called in, is 5-1866, Sugar said, between 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Ex-Convict Admits Robbery, Murder

Attempt Made To Burn Body Of Louisianan

Dog Keeps Vigil, Barking Leads To Site Of Slaying

NATCHITOCHES, La., Jan. 8 (AP) — Sheriff Earl Morris said today he would charge ex - convict Matthew Sarpy, 40, with murder in connection with the robbery-slaying of a 63-year-old Natchitoches, La., merchant.

Morris said Sarpy admitted the shooting.

The sheriff said he held a second unidentified man for questioning in the case after Sarpy implicated him in the slaying of B. C. Klug Sr. He declined to give further details of the slaying pending a report from the Natchitoches Parish coroner.

Klug's body was found yesterday beneath the remains of a fire near the Red River levee four miles from his home. His constant companion — a 10-year-old dog — was standing guard over the body. The dog's barking had led searchers to the scene.

Dr. W. H. Pierson, coroner, said Klug was shot to death with a pistol, fired at close range. One bullet struck him under the chin, he said, and another in the head. He said the slayer attempted to burn the body.

Officers said Sarpy, of Bermuda, was pardoned from state penitentiary in 1952 and was arrested almost 48 hours before Klug's partly-burned body was found.

They said the ex-convict had bought clothes and spent money freely on friends. Friends of Klug reported the victim usually carried about $200. Sarpy had about $19 when arrested.

Funeral services for Klug will be held in Shreveport tomorrow.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Irene Klug of New Orleans; two sons, B. C. Klug Jr. of Longview, Tex., and Warren Klug of Harlingen, Tex.; one daughter, Mrs. Marion O. Tucker of Greenwood, Miss.; two brothers, John and Ryne Klug of Foley, Ala.; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Frahm of Wayne, Neb., and Mrs. Emma Christian of Santa Monica, Calif.

Sheppard Blames Court Conviction For Suicide Of 64-Year-Old Mother

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who stayed awake in his jail cell into the early hours of the morning was granted permission today to attend the funeral of his mother, a suicide victim.

His mother, Mrs. Ethel Sheppard, 64, shot herself in the head yesterday with a revolver. Her other two osteopath sons—Richard N. and Stephen—said she was despondent over Sheppard's second degree murder conviction in the July 4 bludgeoning of his wife.

The New York Post today quoted Dr. Sam as saying that "the unjust court and outright public persecution" in his murder trial caused his mother to take her life.

The Post said it had obtained the statement by Sheppard from a close personal friend who visited the doctor in the county jail in Cleveland.

The visitor, the Post said, quoted Sheppard as saying:

"My mother took her life as a result of American injustice. Although no person had more faith in Sam Sheppard's innocence, no person lost more faith in her fellow man and in U.S. law than she.

"Mother found the unjust court and outright public persecution more than she could endure . . ."

The Post quoted Sheppard as calling his mother "a great person who was a mother to Marilyn as well as to her immediate family," and adding:

Eisenhowers On Trip To Farm At Gettysburg, Pa.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Jan 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower, camera in hand and beaming happily, today took his two small granddaughters on a tour of the new farm home he is building here on the Civil War battlefield.

With 5-year-old Barbara Anne and 3-year-old Susan in tow, the President wandered around the nearly completed house and the farm for an hour and a half.

In a jovial mood, he inspected work on the interior decoration of the house, took a look at construction work on a four-car garage, remarked that some of the siding boards and gutters on the old red barn are rotting and learned that some boys hunting pigeons had shot holes in the barn's tin roof.

Dressed warmly in a tan overcoat and brown muffler over a sports shirt with bow tie, the chief executive appeared oblivious to the near freezing weather. Barbara Anne, snug in a bright red coat with matching leggings, didn't seem to mind the cold either but her smaller sister hied off to the warmth of a heated automobile after a while.

The girls and their grandfather drove to the 189-acre farm from nearby Thurmont, Md., where the President is spending the weekend at his Catoctin Mountain retreat, Camp David.

The President's wife, the children's mother, Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, visited the farm yesterday afternoon and remained at Camp David today.

Police said he jumped on an officer yesterday, then he sank his teeth into Jones' left hand and Zach's right leg when they heard the scuffle and rushed to the rescue.

Report Seeing Louisianan In Reds' Custody

Pvt. Verdine Of Starks Apparently In Poor Health

BERLIN, Jan. 8 (AP) — Two Americans returned to the free West from a Soviet forced labor camp tonight and reported seeing a third American at the camp early last year declared fervently:

"I have a lot to tell."

Finally released by Soviet authorities after repeated U.S. demands were John H. Noble, 31, of Detroit, and Pvt. William Marchuk, 38, of Norristown, Pa. They were handed over to U.S. Authorities at the Soviet Command headquarters in East Berlin.

U.S. officials quoted Noble as saying he had seen another American. Pvt. William Verdine of Starks, La., at the prison camp last year. He said Verdine appeared to be ill.

The State Department took civilian Noble in tow, the Army took Marchuk into custody and the soldier still was in trouble despite his liberation from Soviet captivity. He faces a possible court-martial as a deserter.

It was Noble who told American authorities "I have a lot to tell." He indicated he would be glad to tell his story to reporters later.

Noble had been in Russian hands since 1945, Marchuk since he apparently crossed the frontier in Berlin in February, 1949. U.S. officials heard they were in the notorious Siberian Vortuka labor camp more than a year ago from Pvt. Homer Cox who was released after four years of captivity. Cox died last summer in the United States.

The State Department in Washington said it was "extremely pleased" to hear of the release of the men.

In Detroit, Noble's 61-year-old father, Charles A. Noble, said: "It's too wonderful to realize."

Hammarskjold To End Parley Over American Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 8 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai recessed their talks in Peiping today, with a strong probability that the next session, Monday, will be the last.

There was no hint either from Peiping radio, which broadcast a brief announcement of today's 5-hour session, or from Hammarskjold in an equally brief cable here, whether the secretary general is anywhere near his assigned goal of getting freedom for 11 U. S. fliers jailed by Red China as spies and hundreds of other U. N. personnel captured in the Korean War.

A U. N. official said Hammarskjold's schedule, made out before he left here Dec. 30, called for him to end his talks Monday and start home. The official said that since Hammarskjold has not indicated otherwise the schedule still stands.

Officials said recent private cables from Hammarskjold have indicated Tuesday as the earliest departure date. They said the cables have not mentioned any matters in dispute and no consultation with delegation heads here has been required. It was said there is some question whether the Hammarskjold party will fly back by commercial plane or whether governments will provide the trans-

Ike's New Military Budget Stresses Air Warfare

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Almost half of President Eisenhower's new military budget is expected to be for aviation and anti-air defense.

This is because of increased orders for new planes, including strategic bombers and fighter-interceptors, and forthcoming costs for extending the radar warning network.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson indicated several weeks ago that requests for new spending authority in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 might be slightly under 35 billion dollars.

Of that total, it was indicated today, up to about 15 billion might be tagged for long range bombers, fighters and the radar-air-craft control system that constitutes the detection and direction phase of continental defense.

President Eisenhower hinted at the trend in his state of the union message to Congress earlier this week. He said the military budget would emphasize air power and would accelerate the continental defense program.

Washington and Ottawa announced last November that the United States and Canada would line radar system eastward from Alaska across the northern rim of the continent. The cost has been estimated unofficially as high as a billion dollars. Most of it will be paid by the United States.

The announcement said construction would start next summer — which indicates that the starting funds for the new warning line will come from appropriations in the new military budget.

Other factors to be figured into the budget include:

1. Continued conversion of the existing piston - engined fleet of heavy bombers to an all-jet engined fleet of 11 wings. Each of the new B-52 bombers (about 350 will be needed to equip the 11 wings and have some spares) will cost up to 10 million dollars.

2. More procurement of new jet fighters, especially of the interceptor type needed for equipping an eventual force of more than 50 squadrons (with 25 planes to a squadron.)

3. Building of additional nike-guided missile antiaircraft installations near big industrial and military centers in the United States.

Humphrey Assails Benson's Handling Of Security Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—UP—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey Saturday demanded that Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson either apologize or resign for "cruel and inhuman treatment" of Wolf Ladejinsky.

Ladejinsky, Russian - born land reform expert, was relieved by Benson of an Agricultural Department post on "security" and "technical" grounds. He had been agricultural attache in Tokyo under the State Department. After the Agricultural Department refused him security clearance the Foreign Operations Administration hired him to help in carrying out land reforms in Viet Nam.

Humphrey said that if Ladejinsky has been cleared for his new overseas job with White House ap-

Monroe Woman Fatally Shot; Husband Held

Mrs. Shirley Ann Rutledge, a young woman believed to be formerly of Dallas, Texas, was shot to death eight minutes before midnight last night in the apartment she shared with her husband, Robert E. Rutledge, at 238 Grayling Lane, in Monroe.

Police Chief Peters and four officers of his department answered an emergency call, and took Rutledge to jail.

Sgt. W. J. Hunnicutt said that Rutledge admitted shooting his wife. He and Peters added that Rutledge appeared incoherent. They said a .22 caliber rifle inflicted at least one wound. An autopsy was ordered.

Neighbors said the couple had been separated, with Ruthledge a salesman, occupying the apartment and that very recently they had attempted a reconciliation, with the wife moving back into the quarters.

No charges have as yet been filed.

Attempt Made To Burn Body Of Louisianan

Dog Keeps Vigil, Barking Leads To Site Of Slaying

NATCHITOCHES, La., Jan. 8 (AP) — Sheriff Earl Morris said today he would charge ex - convict Matthew Sarpy, 40, with murder in connection with the robbery-slaying of a 63-year-old Natchitoches, La., merchant.

Morris said Sarpy admitted the shooting.

The sheriff said he held a second unidentified man for questioning in the case after Sarpy implicated him in the slaying of B. C. Klug Sr. He declined to give further details of the slaying pending a report from the Natchitoches Parish coroner.

Klug's body was found yesterday beneath the remains of a fire near the Red River levee four miles from his home. His constant companion — a 10-year-old dog — was standing guard over the body. The dog's barking had led searchers to the scene.

Dr. W. H. Pierson, coroner, said Klug was shot to death with a pistol, fired at close range. One bullet struck him under the chin, he said, and another in the head. He said the slayer attempted to burn the body.

Officers said Sarpy, of Bermuda, was pardoned from state penitentiary in 1952 and was arrested almost 48 hours before Klug's partly-burned body was found.

They said the ex-convict had bought clothes and spent money freely on friends. Friends of Klug reported the victim usually carried about $200. Sarpy had about $19 when arrested.

Funeral services for Klug will be held in Shreveport tomorrow.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Irene Klug of New Orleans; two sons, B. C. Klug Jr. of Longview, Tex., and Warren Klug of Harlingen, Tex.; one daughter, Mrs. Marion O. Tucker of Greenwood, Miss.; two brothers, John and Ryne Klug of Foley, Ala.; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Frahm of Wayne, Neb., and Mrs. Emma Christian of Santa Monica, Calif.

Jes' Ramblin'

She was seated in a crowded bus with her small son at her side. As they neared a church, the vehicle had to halt for a wedding party to pass.

The small boy was interested in the dresses that the principals in the wedding were wearing and his mother had to explain all about the affair.

Finally the party got out of the way and the bus resumed its trip.

Then suddenly small son burst forth with: "Mummy wouldn't you like to get married?"

A visiting bishop from across the seas, upon arrival in New York, was warned not to discuss anything with reporters, for he was told that they have a way of twisting news stories that might be such as to involve him in his position in an embarrassing manner.

Sheppard Blames Court Conviction For Suicide Of 64-Year-Old Mother

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who stayed awake in his jail cell into the early hours of the morning was granted permission today to attend the funeral of his mother, a suicide victim.

His mother, Mrs. Ethel Sheppard, 64, shot herself in the head yesterday with a revolver. Her other two osteopath sons—Richard N. and Stephen—said she was despondent over Sheppard's second degree murder conviction in the July 4 bludgeoning of his wife.

The New York Post today quoted Dr. Sam as saying that "the unjust court and outright public persecution" in his murder trial caused his mother to take her life.

The Post said it had obtained the statement by Sheppard from a close personal friend who visited the doctor in the county jail in Cleveland.

The visitor, the Post said, quoted Sheppard as saying:

"My mother took her life as a result of American injustice. Although no person had more faith in Sam Sheppard's innocence, no person lost more faith in her fellow man and in U.S. law than she.

"Mother found the unjust court and outright public persecution more than she could endure . . ."

The Post quoted Sheppard as calling his mother "a great person who was a mother to Marilyn as well as to her immediate family," and adding:

"I can and will never stop fight-

Eisenhowers On Trip To Farm At Gettysburg, Pa.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Jan 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower, camera in hand and beaming happily, today took his two small granddaughters on a tour of the new farm home he is building here on the Civil War battlefield.

With 5-year-old Barbara Anne and 3-year-old Susan in tow, the President wandered around the nearly completed house and the farm for an hour and a half.

In a jovial mood, he inspected work on the interior decoration of the house, took a look at construction work on a four-car garage, remarked that some of the siding boards and gutters on the old red barn are rotting and learned that some boys hunting pigeons had shot holes in the barn's tin roof.

Dressed warmly in a tan overcoat and brown muffler over a sports shirt with bow tie, the chief executive appeared oblivious to the near freezing weather. Barbara Anne, snug in a bright red coat with matching leggings, didn't seem to mind the cold either but her smaller sister hied off to the warmth of a heated automobile after a while.

The girls and their grandfather drove to the 189-acre farm from nearby Thurmont, Md., where the President is spending the weekend at his Catoctin Mountain retreat, Camp David.

The President's wife, the children's mother, Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, visited the farm yesterday afternoon and remained at Camp David today.

Supply Of Diapers Shipped To Flier

KILGORE, Tex., Jan. 8 (AP)—Texans came to the aid of a fellow countryman today.

A package of diapers was sent by air to Brooklyn, N.Y., for Lt. Norman "Moose" Donahoe, who is heading home with his 17-month-old adopted Greek daughter.

A group of Kilgore citizens learned that the Navy fighter pilot's diaper supply was being depleted. They sent an emergency shipment to the pilot's wife, Mrs. Helen Manos Donahoe. She is waiting at the Brooklyn home of her sister, Mrs. George Carren.

Hitchhiker Bites 2 Peace Officers

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 8 (AP)—Officers J. A. Jones and James Zach were taking rabies shots today after a transient hitchhiker at the police station bit them.

The hitchhiker is being detained for further questioning.

Police said he jumped on an officer yesterday, then he sank his teeth into Jones' left hand and Zach's right leg when they heard the scuffle and rushed to the rescue.

Report Seeing Louisianan In Reds' Custody

Pvt. Verdine Of Starks Apparently In Poor Health

BERLIN, Jan. 8 (AP) — Two Americans returned to the free West from a Soviet forced labor camp tonight and reported seeing a third American at the camp early last year declared fervently:

"I have a lot to tell."

Finally released by Soviet authorities after repeated U.S. demands were John H. Noble, 31, of Detroit, and Pvt. William Marchuk, 38, of Norristown, Pa. They were handed over to U.S. Authorities at the Soviet Command headquarters in East Berlin.

U.S. officials quoted Noble as saying he had seen another American, Pvt. William Verdine of Starks, La., at the prison camp last year. He said Verdine appeared to be ill.

The State Department took civilian Noble in tow, the Army took Marchuk into custody and the soldier still was in trouble despite his liberation from Soviet captivity. He faces a possible court-martial as a deserter.

It was Noble who told American authorities "I have a lot to tell." He indicated he would be glad to tell his story to reporters later.

Noble had been in Russian hands since 1945, Marchuk since he apparently crossed the frontier in Berlin in February, 1949. U.S. officials heard they were in the notorious Siberian Vortuka labor camp more than a year ago from Pvt. Homer Cox who was released after four years of captivity. Cox died last summer in the United States.

The State Department in Washington said it was "extremely pleased" to hear of the release of the men.

In Detroit, Noble's 61-year-old father, Charles A. Noble, said: "It's too wonderful to realize."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 8 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai recessed their talks in Peiping today, with a strong probability that the next session, Monday, will be the last.

There was no hint either from Peiping radio, which broadcast a brief announcement of today's 5-hour session, or from Hammarskjold in an equally brief cable here, whether the secretary general is anywhere near his assigned goal of getting freedom for 11 U. S. fliers jailed by Red China as spies and hundreds of other U. N. personnel captured in the Korean War.

A U. N. official said Hammarskjold's schedule, made out before he left here Dec. 30, called for him to end his talks Monday and start home. The official said that since Hammarskjold has not indicated otherwise the schedule still stands.

Officials said recent private cables from Hammarskjold have indicated Tuesday as the earliest departure date. They said the cables have not mentioned any matters in dispute and no consultation with delegation heads here has been required. It was said there is some question whether the Hammarskjold party will fly back by commercial plane or whether governments will provide the trans-

Ike's New Military Budget Stresses Air Warfare

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) —Almost half of President Eisenhower's new military budget is expected to be for aviation and anti-air defense.

This is because of increased orders for new planes, including strategic bombers and fighter-interceptors, and forthcoming costs for extending the radar warning network.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson indicated several weeks ago that requests for new spending authority in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 might be slightly under 35 billion dollars.

Of that total, it was indicated today, up to about 15 billion might be tagged for long range bombers, fighters and the radar-air-craft control system that constitutes the detection and direction phase of continental defense.

President Eisenhower hinted at the trend in his state of the union message to Congress earlier this week. He said the military budget would emphasize air power and would accelerate the continental defense program.

Washington and Ottawa announced last November that the United States and Canada would line radar system eastward from Alaska across the northern rim of the continent. The cost has been estimated unofficially as high as a billion dollars. Most of it will be paid by the United States.

The announcement said construction would start next summer — which indicates that the starting funds for the new warning line will come from appropriations in the new military budget.

Other factors to be figured into the budget include:

1. Continued conversion of the existing piston - engined fleet of heavy bombers to an all-jet engined fleet of 11 wings. Each of the new B-52 bombers (about 350 will be needed to equip the 11 wings and have some spares) will cost up to 10 million dollars.

2. More procurement of new jet fighters, especially of the interceptor type needed for equipping an eventual force of more than 50 squadrons (with 25 planes to a squadron.)

3. Building of additional nike-guided missile antiaircraft installations near big industrial and military centers in the United States.

Sheriff's Dept. Record Good In Solving Crimes

By BILL HARDIN
Staff Writer

An annual report of major crimes reported in Ouachita parish and the number of these crimes cleared by arrests during the past year point out that the average maintained by the Ouachita parish sheriff's department is well above that for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as pointed out in its annual report.

The crimes listed in the report include only those which occurred during 1954 outside of the city limits of Monroe and West Monroe. All crimes committed inside the city limits are registered in reports of the respective police departments whether the sheriff department aids in the investigation or not.

While the national average stood at 55.3 per cent, the per cent of crimes cleared by the local sheriff department was some 29.5 per cent higher, or 84.8 per cent. This was a rise of 2.5 per cent over the preceding year, 1953.

Broken into the eight categories, the major crimes are listed in the annual report as murder and manslaughter; negligent homicide; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary; theft; and auto theft.

In the first five categories, the local department had a perfect record during the past year. However, on the national average, the clearing of crimes in these groups ranged from 39.7 in aggravated assault to 93.7 per cent in murder.

In the sixth category, burglary, the local department cleared up 90.2 per cent or 46 of the 51 burglaries occurring, against a record of 26.8 per cent on the national level.

Thefts, which includes all items valued at $20 or over and which numbered 86 during the year, should the lowest percentage of cases cleared up, shows 38.4 per cent for the local and 19.6 per cent on the national level.

In the final group of major crimes, auto theft, the Ouachita parish sheriff department solved 50 per cent while the national percentage was 26.

In the case of automobile thefts, the second vehicle was located, but no arrest was made. However, this did not count in the annual report, it was pointed out.

In a comparison of the record for 1953 and 1954, the Ouachita parish sheriff department showed a percentage gain in all categories. Following is the report, with the number reported, number cleared and followed by the percentage of cases cleared.

1953: murder and manslaughter, 7, 7, 100 per cent; negligent homicide, 3, 3, 100 per cent; rape, 10, 9, 90 per cent; robbery, 6, 3, 50 per cent; aggravated assault, 11, 11, 100 per cent; burglary, 46, 33, 71.7 per cent; theft, 60, 28, 46.7 per cent; and auto theft, 0, 0,—.

1954: murder and manslaughter, 2, 2, 100 per cent; negligent homicide, 0, 0, —; rape, 4, 5 (one of the cases occurring in 1953 was cleared in 1954); 100 per cent; robbery, 2, 2, 100 per cent; aggravated assault, 15, 15, 100 per cent; burglary, 51, 46, 90.2 per cent; theft, 86, 33, 38.4 per cent; and auto theft, 2, 1, 50 per cent.

On the national level, the following percentages were reported for the past year: murder, 93.7; negligent homicide, 84.2; rape, 79.1; robbery, 73.6; aggravated assault, 39.7; burglary, 26.8; theft, 19.6; and auto theft, 26.

In commenting on the high percentage of crimes cleared up during the past year Sheriff Bailey Grant said he was "happy to have had such a high percentage, which I feel is an excellent record. However, the credit goes to the deputies who have worked hard to make this record."

Speaking for the entire sheriff staff, Sheriff Grant expressed appreciation to the public for the cooperation and assistance in the matters investigated by the office.

Grant pointed out that the department, since setting up a special complaint department which catalogues all such contacts, had received 1,548 during the final five months of 1954. Begun on August 1 of last year, the file catalogues all complaints, including many which are only family arguments or other petty matters.

However, records of all calls into the office of nature are kept by the local department.

Civil Defense Traffic School Plans Readied

Plans have been completed for an emergency traffic operation school beginning February 1 at the civil defense control center, 400 Stone avenue, A. B. Clarkson, District F director, announced Saturday. The school will be under the direction of Major Jack Davis, Monroe police department; Capt. M. E. Kidd, Louisiana state police; and Assistant Chief of Police Jim Cullipher, West Monroe police department.

Commenting on the prospects for the school, Clarkson quoted Major Davis, who is coordinating the school, as saying "we have a splendid program in this training field and feel that we will have no trouble in filling our requirements of auxillary police recruits from this area.

"Knowledge and experience gained before an emergency arises will prove of great value in the saving of lives," Davis was quoted as saying.

The civil defense police services are built on the existing organizations, it was pointed out. These independent agencies must be well trained and ready to mobilize for any type of emergency and must work together as one team.

Major Davis said "police problems encountered in civil defense are closely related to those of peace time operation and are multiplied under emergency conditions in direct proportion to the extent of the emergency."

The school will consist of six hours of basic training, taken from a two-weeks instructors school held last spring, Major Davis pointed out.

Anyone desiring further information regarding this school may contact the civil defense headquarters, telephone 7116, officials said.

Millers Thankful For Aid When Home Destroyed

There are people in this world who are responsive to a call from the needy. Also there are persons who are thankful for what people do for them when tragedy hits.

Such a case is that of the family of Armer Miller whose home out Prairie Road was burned with its contents. This left Mr. Miller with a family of five daughters and no place in which to live and few clothes to wear.

The plight of this helpless family attracted the attention of Reverend Gregory, pastor of the New Light Baptist Church, near the scene of the fire. The Miller family were attendants at this church and well regarded. The pastor sounded an appeal for aid for the stricken family and the News-Star—World ran a story telling of the great misfortune and asking for aid.

The public responded wonderfully and Mr. Miller wants to express sincere thanks for aid rendered. Lumber was obtained, carpenters went on the job, and soon the house was up and furniture was donated so that housekeeping could be resumed.

"I want for my family and myself to return thanks for the wonderful assistance given us in our distress. The public was simply wonderful and I can never thank them enough," he said.

12 Feet Of Sand Cored In Well At Concordia

FERRIDAY, Jan. 8 (Spcial) — Earl C. "Wimpy" Wentworth, of Lake Concordia near here, independent oil operator has cored twelve feet of saturated sand in his Rhone No. 2 well in Catahoula parish.

The well is an offset to the discovery well in the River Slough field. The well is said to have sufficient sand to make a commercial producer and the operator plans to drill ahead.

Wentworth also completed two holes which were abandoned Friday. The Cobb V - 2 in Franklin County, Miss., was abandoned at a total depth of 6556 feet with no show.

In Concordia parish, the Quinn D 2 had a show of oil, but was abandoned at approximately 6800 feet as oil sand was not believed to be in commercial quantity to justify completion of this well.

$2,060,846.06 In 1954 Taxes Paid

A total of $2,060,846.06 or 97.65 per cent of the taxes for Ouachita parish was collected as of January 1, which was the legal deadline, Sheriff Bailey Grant ex - official tax collector, said Saturday. The figures for the tabulation of all taxes collected as of that date were compiled this past week by the civil office of his department.

Total taxes assessed for Ouachita parish during the past year stood at $2,110,341.10.

As of January 1 a fine of 10 per cent was levied, as provided by the state statutes, the sheriff pointed out. Notices that the taxes had become due were sent out in the fall in order to provide property owners plenty of time to make the payments.

Unpaid as of the first of the year were $49,495.04, Grant said.

Meeting Set On War Refugees

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 8 (AP)—A special committee appointed by Gov. Robert Kennon meets here Tuesday to decide what part Louisiana will take in bringing 214,000 war and political refugees into the United States.

The group is headed by J. Hadley Heard, administrator of the Division of Employment Security, and called the governor's advisory committee on the refugee relief act, an emergency federal law under which the immigrants may become permanent residents.

Heard said the act gives no instructions on how many immigrants a state may place, but provides that adults must have a sponsor who will guarantee them a job. Children must be sponsored by someone offering a home.

"Also included," he added, "are a certain number of children for adoption."

In the case of automobile thefts, the second vehicle was located, but no arrest was made. However, this did not count in the annual report, it was pointed out.

In a comparison of the record for 1953 and 1954, the Ouachita parish sheriff department showed a percentage gain in all categories. Following is the report, with the number reported, number cleared and followed by the percentage of cases cleared.

1953: murder and manslaughter, 7, 7, 100 per cent; negligent homicide, 3, 3, 100 per cent; rape, 10, 9, 90 per cent; robbery, 6, 3, 50 per cent; aggravated assault, 11, 11, 100 per cent; burglary, 46, 33, 71.7 per cent; theft, 60, 28, 46.7 per cent; and auto theft, 0, 0,—.

1954: murder and manslaughter, 2, 2, 100 per cent; negligent homicide, 0, 0, —; rape, 4, 5 (one of the cases occurring in 1953 was cleared in 1954); 100 per cent; robbery, 2, 2, 100 per cent; aggravated assault, 15, 15, 100 per cent; burglary, 51, 46, 90.2 per cent; theft, 86, 33, 38.4 per cent; and auto theft, 2, 1, 50 per cent.

On the national level, the following percentages were reported for the past year: murder, 93.7; negligent homicide, 84.2; rape, 79.1; robbery, 73.6; aggravated assault, 39.7; burglary, 26.8; theft, 19.6; and auto theft, 26.

In commenting on the high percentage of crimes cleared up during the past year Sheriff Bailey Grant said he was "happy to have had such a high percentage, which I feel is an excellent record. However, the credit goes to the deputies who have worked hard to make this record."

Speaking for the entire sheriff staff, Sheriff Grant expressed appreciation to the public for the cooperation and assistance in the matters investigated by the office.

Grant pointed out that the department, since setting up a special complaint department which catalogues all such contacts, had received 1,548 during the final five months of 1954. Begun on August 1 of last year, the file catalogues all complaints, including many which are only family arguments or other petty matters.

However, records of all calls into the office of nature are kept by the local department.

Civil Defense Traffic School Plans Readied

Plans have been completed for an emergency traffic operation school beginning February 1 at the civil defense control center, 400 Stone avenue, A. B. Clarkson, District F director, announced Saturday. The school will be under the direction of Major Jack Davis, Monroe police department; Capt. M. E. Kidd, Louisiana state police; and Assistant Chief of Police Jim Cullipher, West Monroe police department.

Commenting on the prospects for the school, Clarkson quoted Major Davis, who is coordinating the school, as saying "we have a splendid program in this training field and feel that we will have no trouble in filling our requirements of auxiliary police recruits from this area.

"Knowledge and experience gained before an emergency arises will prove of great value in the saving of lives," Davis was quoted as saying.

The civil defense police services are built on the existing organizations, it was pointed out. These independent agencies must be well trained and ready to mobilize for any type of emergency and must work together as one team.

Major Davis said "police problems encountered in civil defense are closely related to those of peace time operation and are multiplied under emergency conditions in direct proportion to the extent of the emergency."

The school will consist of six hours of basic training, taken from a two-weeks instructors school held last spring, Major Davis pointed out.

Anyone desiring further information regarding this school may contact the civil defense headquarters, telephone 7116, officials said.

Millers Thankful For Aid When Home Destroyed

There are people in this world who are responsive to a call from the needy. Also there are persons who are thankful for what people do for them when tragedy hits.

Such a case is that of the family of Armer Miller whose home out Prairie Road was burned with its contents. This left Mr. Miller with a family of five daughters and no place in which to live and few clothes to wear.

The plight of this helpless family attracted the attention of Reverend Gregory, pastor of the New Light Baptist Church, near the scene of the fire. The Miller family were attendants at this church and well regarded. The pastor sounded an appeal for aid for the stricken family and the News-Star—World ran a story telling of the great misfortune and asking for aid.

The public responded wonderfully and Mr. Miller wants to express sincere thanks for aid rendered. Lumber was obtained, carpenters went on the job, and soon the house was up and furniture was donated so that housekeeping could be resumed.

"I want for my family and myself to return thanks for the wonderful assistance given us in our distress. The public was simply wonderful and I can never thank them enough," he said.

$2,060,846.06 In 1954 Taxes Paid

A total of $2,060,846.06 or 97.65 per cent of the taxes for Ouachita parish was collected as of January 1, which was the legal deadline, Sheriff Bailey Grant ex - official tax collector, said Saturday. The figures for the tabulation of all taxes collected as of that date were compiled this past week by the civil office of his department.

Total taxes assessed for Ouachita parish during the past year stood at $2,110,341.10.

As of January 1 a fine of 10 per cent was levied, as provided by the state statutes, the sheriff pointed out. Notices that the taxes had become due were sent out in the fall in order to provide property owners plenty of time to make the payments.

Unpaid as of the first of the year were $49,495.04, Grant said.

12 Feet Of Sand Cored In Well At Concordia

FERRIDAY, Jan. 8 (Speial) — Earl C. "Wimpy" Wentworth, of Lake Concordia, near here, independent oil operator has cored twelve feet of saturated sand in his Rhone No. 2 well in Catahoula parish.

The well is an offset to the discovery well in the River Slough field. The well is said to have sufficient sand to make a commercial producer and the operator plans to drill ahead.

Wentworth also completed two holes which were abandoned Friday. The Cobb V - 2 in Franklin County, Miss., was abandoned at a total depth of 6556 feet with no show.

In Concordia parish, the Quinn D 2 had a show of oil, but was abandoned at approximately 6800 feet as oil sand was not believed to be in commercial quantity to justify completion of this well.

Meeting Set On War Refugees

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 8 (AP)—A special committee appointed by Gov. Robert Kennon meets here Tuesday to decide what part Louisiana will take in bringing 214,000 war and political refugees into the United States.

The group is headed by J. Hadley Heard, administrator of the Division of Employment Security, and called the governor's advisory committee on the refugee relief act, an emergency federal law under which the immigrants may become permanent residents.

Heard said the act gives no instructions on how many immigrants a state may place, but provides that adults must have a sponsor who will guarantee them a job. Children must be sponsored by someone offering a home.

"Also included," he added, "are a certain number of children for adoption."

Strange 'Burglar'

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8—UP—A police officer said "stick 'em up or I'll shoot" when he saw the outline of a man in a grocery Thursday night. He turned his flashlight on a life-size cardboard figure of Liberace.

Politics May Keynote May Legislative Session

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Legislators glancing ahead seem to feel the May session will be tame—even "useless"—but foes insist Gov. Robert Kennon will use it to push his choice for governor in 1956.

With the special session out of the way, the governor has his 50 million cash highway program to help until long range planning gets serious.

Backed by Kennon, a 16-member legislative committee will make news in the next few months when it gets down to work on the Automotive Safety Foundation outline for a 2.6 billion, 15-year highway modernization task.

Its major assignment is to get in the state program with whatever President Eisenhower and the Congress provide in highway assistance.

Anyway, the May Legislature—limited to 30 days on fiscal matters—likely will receive recommendations on how to get going if Louisiana is to keep its road network adequate.

Rep. Ford Stinson, chairman of the House education group, reminds that the 1954 regular session appropriated for state needs through 1956 after long and careful financial studies.

"We'll be coming back here just to do all over what we've been doing—it looks like a useless session."

Stinson confesses he is puzzled about "what we're going to be asked to do."

But Sen. B. B. Rayburn of Bogalusa, who also contends "the way it looks now we don't need a May session" because there won't be any money left, believes "You can expect anything—it will be getting close to election time.

"They tell me the reason Kennon wanted this 50 million road program in such a hurry is that he expects to launch a candidate with his road program . . . I don't think he could win an election even if he get 500 million."

Putting it differently, Rep. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley said "You can bet your boots that Gov. Kennon will be here in May after any surplus money still around to help elect the department heads he favors.

"And he will favor appropriations that will help him further the interests of the man he supports for governor. In other words, there'll be a helluva lot of politics in May."

The governor has never indicated he intends to back anyone to succeed him.

Rep. E. W. Gravolet Jr. of Pointe a la Hache said he doubts the May Legislature will be turned into a gubernatorial political arena—"The issues won't be clear enough by then."

In another light, Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield said "There won't be any big issues in the May session unless the opposing political factions decide to use it as a battleground."

The great majority of senators and representatives think annual sessions are a good idea, "and there will be plenty of sound issues to work on," said Sen. M. Eloi Girard of Lafayette. He is the man who inspired scores of informal legislative studies before the 1954 session.

Rep. Albert Koorie of New Orleans sees it this way: "We'll be back for more money for roads. And the school people already have been accused of getting ready to ask for more.

"A major reason, I'm told, for acting on the special session road program was that if we waited until May, the school crowd would pressurize a regular session."

Doubt that the odd-year fiscal Legislature will be effective until 1957 was expressed by Rep. Tom Jewell of New Roads.

Jewell, who frequently fills in as House Speaker, explained the 1954 Legislature already has appropriated "the money to carry us through 1956."

But Jewell emphasized he is confident the state will save money with annual Legislatures.

Sen. Clyde Caillouet of Thibodaux concedes "the usual grandstanding can be expected" in the May Legislature, but that doesn't mean there will be any more politics than usual.

The South Louisianian said he doubts the proximity of elections "will have any material effect on the next Legislature . . ."

Sen. Harry Howard of New Orleans, who tried to curb the 50 million highway bond issue still tied up in court, said he figures the governor will attempt to get a highway bond program in the May session.

"I'm not sure," Howard explained, "but I think all he has to do is to amend the original bond act so that the financing is done straight from the general highway fund rather than through the one-cent gasoline tax.

"A simple amendment bill would cut out any mention of the gasoline tax and clear the way for bonds, since the District Court already has ruled the Highway Department is a legitimate bonding agency of the state."

Store-Keeper Wins Gun Duel With Hijacker

LUCEDALE, Miss. —UP— A Mobile, Ala., man was charged with attempted murder and robbery Saturday in a holdup attempt that saw both bandit and store owner empty their pistols in a blaze of gunfire.

James E. Singley, 27, surrendered to general store owner Fred Davis because he did not know that Davis also had run out of bullets, Sheriff Shelby L. Smith reported. Davis suffered a flesh wound in the left arm but Singley was not hurt.

Six customers took refuge behind counters as the poorly-aimed bullets crashed about the store, some four miles west of here.

"The place was pretty badly shot up," Smith said, "but none of the customers was hurt."

The sheriff quoted witnesses as saying Singley walked into the store about 8 o'clock last night, pulled a .22-caliber pistol and ordered Davis to "hand over the money."

Instead, Davis reached under the counter and brought up a .38-caliber pistol. Singley fired all the bullets in his gun and Davis emptied his .38, Smith said, but Singley did not know Davis was out of ammunition too, and gave up.

There was no explanation as to why the men missed hitting each other so often.

Davis was treated at the George county hospital.

Smith quoted Singley as saying he attempted the holdup because he had "a sick baby" and needed money.

Study Proposal To Make Panama Canal Sea Level

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Rep. Brooks (D-La.), president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, said today the group will study a proposal to convert the Panama Canal to a sea-level waterway.

He named a committee to make the study and submit a report concentrating on the possibility of the existing lock system being knocked out by nuclear weapons.

Brooks said the organizations projects committee recently warned that destruction of the locks would gravely threaten security of the United States.

Hearing the committee, Brooks said, will be Henry H. Buckman, a Jacksonville, Fla., consulting engineer. Other members are Perry T. Ford, executive director of the Ohio Trucking Assn.; former Rep. Homer D. Angell (R) of Portland, Ore.; Rear Adm. Paulus P. Powell, USN (ret), of New York; and Col. Herbert C. Gee, consulting engineer of West Palm Beach, Fla.

In announcing appointment of the committee Brooks said "I share the concern of the projects committee for this vital element of our national defense."

Brooks is vice chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

The 'ABC's For 1955'

This is Sunday morning. Take it real easy for a few moments if you can before you and the folks leave for church. Let's review some facts in this editorial. Let's just forget that rigid rules of journalism apply this morning as we consider a problem so vital to every one of us here in the Twin Cities or anywhere else in our great and wonderful nation.

So many folks here wonder why there has been kept up a running fight with what we term "the International Marxist Conspiracy." Just what is this "International Marxist Conspiracy"? Better known as "Communism," it is the problem which you will have to help solve. Just what is Communism? You hear so much about it, don't you? It is drummed into your ears day and night. You are actually tired of hearing about it, aren't you?

You probably are because most of your fellow citizens including us here at the Morning World are in full agreement with you. But, unless the crisis is safely passed, unless you and all your countrymen resolve yourselves to the idea that there is a religion, a dynamic force of evil at war with you, you and all of your citizens will be destroyed. But fighting "Communism" by itself is merely hitting the fringes of the problem. The Federal Bureau of Investigation states that there are some 25,000 Communists in this country. Others say more. The number is in any case, small.

Seems insignificant, doesn't it?

Twenty-four thousand Communists by themselves could do little harm. That's where their friends come in. Believe us, they have so many friends. So very many friends, fellow citizens. There are different degrees of these friends. Some of them think like the Communists but don't believe in the necessity of a revolution. These people are generally called Socialists. Then, there are the "Fabians" who take years and years to sneak into power. They also believe like the Communists.

Just what do they believe? In the first place, they regard religion as being a detriment to their progress. They feel that religion is "an opium of the people" even though their religion is as fiery and dogmatic as any in existence. They hold that there is no God and hence, no moral law. They state without reservation that there is no soul, no heaven, no hell. Their idea is that man is man only so long as he may remain on the earth. They are what could be termed "physical materialists" although they believe fiercely in the human as being merely a mathematical part of a unit, a state.

They have not the slightest fear of death because they know not or care not what lies ahead. They are extremely patient. If a movement requires ten years, or a hundred years, so be it. If a million deaths are required to attain their Valhalla, so be it. The individual is lost, forgotten, relegated to the state.

In this country, we are supposed to be individualists. Some of us are perhaps better off than others speaking from a purely material standard (because it is certain that many poor destitute people are far richer in heart and mind than even the wealthiest). We generally do as we please just as long as it doesn't offend the other fellow. The Fabians, the Socialists and the Communists do not believe this. They believe in Marx' theories and those theories do not include your reading this editorial or sitting wherever you may be, free to do as you please.

"But," you say, "how can 24,000 Reds take over the United States?" The question is a good one and is asked all the time. They can't. But, they can with the aid of their friends. They are doing it today. They are gagging the press through their influential allies in the American business world and they are subverting public officials who desire to be maintained in office. They are influencing the liberal teachers and ministers who regard many social concepts as being "normal." You see, if the Socialists take over in America, the Communists will almost certainly drive them out and consolidate their rule. It has happened in so very many nations.

The Socialists are Marxists and they are willing tools of the Communists.

How are all of these forces aligned? One is merely a step ahead of the other in "political progress." Each helps the other in times of need. They form what is called a "popular front." Now, just how deeply have they penetrated the hard core of real America? They haven't. There is still a hard core of millions of honest Americans who are afraid of what is happening to their country. They are not the so-called "intellectual elite," nor are they some captains of industry who would sell out their mothers to Red China if it would net them a profit. Nor are they the socialite who finds "radicals" so, "interesting and such good company." Nor are they the speculators who force prices up and down to suit their convenience.

Nor are they the "smart set," some of whom find it so much easier to stick their heads in a golf hole or a cocktail glass instead of attempting to help save what is left. No, far from it.

They are Americans, regular people who live right up the street from you. People who have two or three little kids and who are worrying about their future. Not too long ago, a friend came to this office and we got to talking. He said: "You know, its not me I'm worrying about so much, it's my kids. Shoot, I've lived a good life so far, and I've enjoyed it. But my little boys are just growing into the world. One of them is still a baby. What have they got to look forward to?"

It's folks like him and like yourself who thought they could trust their leaders but who are waking up to find out that the only person humans can trust is God Almighty. It's people who believe in their country and shy with every terrible insult passed its way.

It's folks who still look at our glorious red, white and blue flag with love and awe instead of a weak blue copy of the Soviet battle banner. It's folks who still believe in honor and integrity instead of underhanded secret agreements with Satan himself. It's folks who know what the value of their country is and want to keep it instead of shipping it all overseas to enrich some "fellow traveler."

That's the real hard core of America.

But that hard core is being deliberately confused. Their newspapers steer away from "controversial issues." In the name of God, what issue is not controversial?

If this nation falls, it will not be because the people deserted it, it will be because they were not told what was happening to them. It will be because their only information media of any importance let them down.

The "intellectual" fringe is in charge, fellow citizens, make no mistake of that. They are driving you to certain destruction and there's not a thing you can do about it unless you keep wide awake and protest to your Congressmen and Senators. Throw them out if they refuse to adhere to what you know is right.

As things stand, there's a good chance that many of us will live to see what might happen.

Will it be that then, and only then, we'll learn the true measure and value of freedom?

Will thousands of us be shot, hung and destroyed, others penned up, our children made slaves before we wake up to the value of that which we have lost? Don't say "it can't happen here" because it's happening. Those who are trained in this field know it's happening.

Keep awake, revere your country, its founders and the things they stood for. Listen to your parents and your minister, not a Socialist or a stooge.

Fellow citizens, we may not live to see it, but our country will win. We may lose for awhile and we may have to come back from desolation, but God is on our side. Lift high His royal banners, fellow citizens, see those banners go to victory.

Your wonderful land is worth saving—now, help save it. Keep awake.

Senator Malone Speaks

Senator George Malone of Nevada has sent to the Morning World, the following statement:

I am forwarding to you, under separate cover, a copy of Senate Report 1627, the report of my Minerals, Materials and Fuels Economic Subcommitee. The report has already been adopted as a textbook by numerous universities and colleges and has been widely accepted as an authority on critical materials. The work of the committee is being continued under Senate Resolution 271.

The report is a digest of ten volumes of published testimony on the accessibility of critical materials in time of war, and for our expanding economy. The Introduction, Recommendations and Findings, pages 1 through 9, contain the whole story. The rest is supporting data.

The committee's conclusion is that the Western Hemisphere can be defended—that it will be the only dependable supply of such critical materials in the event of all-out World War III—and that it can be made self-sufficient in the production of the necessary critical materials in peace or war.

For nearly a score of years our domestic and foreign policy has been based on the assumption that we are a "have-not" nation, dependent on the Old World for almost all of our critical minerals and materials. This report completely shatters that theory. It proves conclusively that there is no remote possibility that this nation, together with the Western Hemisphere, will or can exhaust its resources of critical materials at any time in the foreseeable future.

At this time the committee is conducting a similar investigation of the critical materials situation in South America, on which a supplementary report will be issued soon.

The editor has read this statement with the greatest of interest for several very important reasons. In the first place, it was erroneously assumed by this newspaper that the United States was by virtue of two major wars, now a "have not nation." In the second place, if the Western Hemisphere is able to support itself, the government of this nation should pay closer attention to George Smathers, Senator from Florida who keeps asking for more interest in Latin American affairs.

In the third place, the entire foreign policy of this government is based on the assumption that one cannot exist without France and England. Consider the second point—referring to Latin America. In the past, the Morning World has discussed Latin and South America with great interest due to Communist infiltration in the area. Take Guatemala for instance. There, the Communists had a real base. Guatemala is still none too secure.

Brazil reportedly has on its hands an insurgent Communist type Army in the back jungles. Honduras is in danger now that the government is unsettled. The Guianas are in constant turmoil. Chile, the "tin nation" has serious difficulties with a left-labor confederation which is controlled by Communists. Bolivia is none too secure.

Yet, the American people securely refer to these sovereign states insultingly as "Banana Republics" and fanatics. South America, as this nation must know, will be the breadbasket and the source of a great majority of raw materials for the United States should a war come about.

Thus, as Smathers says, build it up and make new friends.

Senator Malone's survey comes at a most inopportune time for Harold ("I Love you all") Stassen who now is dreaming up new ways to squander your hard earned cash. The Malone survey will in no way help many European governments which are begging for more aid and military equipment while their diplomats make new deals with the Communists.

It is indeed a good thing to know that the U. S. is still in most respects, a "have" nation. Senator Malone has opened many eyes and his survey, combined with Smathers idea should be carefully examined by the federal government if the United States foreign policy, badly in need of a change, can be put to better use than it already is.

Governor Kennon And The Roads

Governor Robert Kennon, who by all measures, is one of the better governors in the history of the state, is under considerable attack for calling a special session of the legislature in order to do something about the bond issue which was voted down in the last election.

The Governor will always be attacked, no matter who he may be, when he calls for a special session of the state lawmakers. Louisiana is not the only state in which this generally happens. However, it is well to remember that the state's roads are now at an impasse.

Louisiana has some of the best secondary roads in the United States. Yet, its primary or main highways are in sorry condition. To help offset this plight, Kennon has set up the turnpike authority which includes S. J. Rogers of Monroe. Actually, the Legislature was called upon to vote some fifty million dollars for new highways. Apparently there is to be twenty million devoted to the secondary roads while thirty is supposed to go to the primary system.

Should the Supreme Court act in favor of Kennon's bond issue, which it may, that will be another fifty million for the state. Most of this money should go to the primary system. Experts have told this newspaper that the Louisiana primary system is growing rapidly to be one of the sorriest in the nation while the secondary system is among the best.

Moreover, in the new appropriation, there should be stringent safeguards on the grade of construction. Highways which are built with first class materials, even though they may be initially more costly, will be a better long term investment than roads built with shoddy materials.

Already, the state, (like the city of Monroe) is forced to budget much of its financial appropriation and some of its reserve on repairs which reportedly could have been prevented had first class roads been constructed. Safety experts are seriously worried about the Louisiana primary system which is now considered to be "dangerous" at some points.

While not joining in the attack on the Governor for calling the special session, the Morning World does believe that long range planning (such was proposed by a special commission of the Legislature) would be better than special sessions. The main reason for the non-condemnation of the Governor on this point concerns the fact that the Legislature, not the governor, refused to consider the plans as were proposed. In all, something must be done.

The cash is voted.

Let there be some real action on construction all over the state.

New Men To High Office

DeRidder, La.

Editor, Morning World;

Some newspaper editors and news commentators are trying to "brain wash" the American people into believing that President Eisenhower is very popular. It is not true.

I was just in Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri and I talked to many people and not one person was for Eisenhower or Stevenson. They all stated that unless there are new men nominated in 1956 for President, in both parties, or a new Pro-American party, they would sit on their hands and not vote.

To nominate one man for both parties destroys the Constitution freedom of choice and leads to Dictatorship.

As far as we can see, there is not one bit of difference between the Eisenhower Rpublicans and the Roosevelt and Truman Democrats.

We must elect men to office, new men, that will put country and our people first above anything else, men who will promise not to bleed our nation dry of our money and resources to scatter to the four corners of the earth; to people that don't even call us friends.

There are Pro-American men that, if elected to office will save our beloved country and our freedom. For 20 years, we have been traveling down the road to Communism through socialistic schemes. Our nation is dying of rot, because our younger people have been taught the Government owes them a living from the cradle to the grave. They are not taught the Constitution or what is the true meaning of free enterprise. Hand-outs (so called) kills the will to work or produce. All nations in history that were socialistic have been destroyed and used up under up under a brutal dictator. When our young generation learns the government cannot give anyone anything, it has nothing to give, without first robbing the taxpayer

This nation is ceasing to be, Government for, by and of the people. It is becoming a Government of the politicians, Radicals and a robber of yours and my freedom.

The morals of our people are the lowest ebb in history. Why? Because of hand-outs, our people are growing lazy and unable to plan and thing for themselves. They live for today and not tomorrow.

Wake up Americans, let's elect men to office that love the good ole U. S. A. first and politics last.

Gen. MacArthur To Be Censured By Silence

McAllen, Tex.

Editor, Morning World:

On January 26, in Los Angeles, California, our most respected citizen and military genius, General Douglas MacArthur, will speak at the unveiling of a statue of himself being presented, on his birthday, to the people by the city of Los Angeles.

The major networks have advised our inquiring correspondents that they will only carry the speech of General MacArthur locally! The refusal to permit the American people the opportunity to hear whatever General MacArthur has to say is one more example of the arrogance of men without faces, seeking to brainwash the minds of our people into the human degradation of bureaucratic conformity.

It is up to you, your friends, your neighbors, to see that this outrageous attempt to censure, by silence, our greatest American at the national broadcasting level does not succeed. Call your radio and TV stations and make your request that this speech be heard. The lamp of your courage and your voice is the light and the voice of America. Let it be heard across the nation!

Kowtow To Peking

New York.

Editor, Morning World:

For many centuries the proudest boast of Imperial China was "Wan Kuo Lai Tsao" ("10,000 Nations come to pay tribute"), referring to the annual ceremony when the envoys of minor states, such as Korea, Tibet, Burma, Indo-China, etc. kowtowed nine times to the Emperor, and in turn were feasted for thirty days in Peking. With the passing of China's imperial glory, Wan Kuo Lai Tsao faded from memory. China, the Middle Kingdom (center of the universe), fell on evil days.

But, like a new dawn, China's Imperial glories rise again as Dag Hammarskjold, representing the "ten thousand nations come to pay tribute" and kowtow to Peking.

Answer To An 'Interested Citizen' On Fluoridation

Pensacola, Fla.

Editor, Morning World:

Unfavorable comment on articles against Fluoridation generally comes from those who do not know the truth or only have the propaganda put out by those who have Fluorides and equipment to sell. It pays to read and study both sides of any question and I have been doing so for more than two years and can back up what I write or say as facts and truth.

The A. D. A. will not allow the dentist to say or write anything against Fluoridation. They quiet them by fear of loosing their right to practice dentistry.

Dr. Max Ginns is one who refuses to let the A. D. A. dominate his thinking. Dr. Ginns is senior dental consultant in Worcester City Hospital. Dr. Ginns made a trip to Texas to investigate natural Fluorides in the water there to see for himself the real conditions.

He found so many crooked teeth, diseased gums, real young people with false dentures, and people buying pure spring water trying to save their teeth so he came home and told the truth.

Dr. Ginns has a petition with 119 dentist and 10 M. D. signers as being against Fluoridation.

Any interested person can borrow a book of Pharmacology from their dentist or doctor and read for themselves what Fluorides really are.

All seafoods, wheat, egg yolks, milk, pork, apples, honey, cocoa, cabbage, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes, carrots, white and sweet potatoes, oranges contain natural Fluorine.

Tea contains 40 to 60 parts Fluorine per million and the English people as a nation have the worst teeth.

If the party who commented on my truthfulness will write me I'll send him some facts that he can read for himself. Over 400 cities have rejected Fluoridation in the United States and many have thrown it out after several years use.

The Newburg News of Newburg, N. Y., Wed. Jan. 27, 1954, gave this data signed by Dr. Philip A. Klieger, M.D., New York State Dept. of Education—Newburg pupils examined for teeth defects school year of 1952-53. Pupils examined 4,654 and defects found 4,424. Kingston, N. Y., pupils examined 5,208 and defects found 3,324. Newburg is the trial city for Fluoridation and Kingston is not Fluoridated. Also, cancer increased and heart death rates increased in Newburg.

Can you trust people who would put rat poison in your drinking water? I do not. Remember—Chlorine kills bugs—Fluorides kill you.

Is The NAACP Subversive?

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The Department of Justice now has the names of 282 subversive groups or organizations working within our boundaries. Is the NAACP (National Association for Advancement of Colored People) included in this list? The people here in the south, both white and colored, would like to know. Most of the colored people here in the south want peace, friendship and prosperity but northern agitators, evidently under remote control of the Communists, won't leave them alone.

The president of the NAACP, Arthur Spingarn, is a white man and it is difficult to believe he is there for the good of the colored people. The FBI knows whether this is a subversive organization but the FBI is under obligations to turn over all its information to the president or the attorney general who usually use it for political purposes. Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats woud brand the NAACP as subversive for fear of losing the Negro vote.

This gives Russia remote control over agitators, carpetbaggers and rabble rousers in general. Ever since Roosevelt turned the Russians in our borders they began laying plans with their "sow hatred among the masses who disagree with us" strategy to throw a revolution here. No doubt the NAACP was easy picking. No one can deny that it was the pressure and pleas of NAACP to the Supreme Court which caused the court to rule against segregation in schools and restricted covenants in all - white neighborhoods. The Communists still cling to their contention tha this will give her a revolution with unbounded hatred among the races.

For the good of our country—t h— with the political side of it—the people should know the trut about this troublesome organization. We should keep before us th Communist motto: "Conquer th U. S., then enslave the world."

The Socialists are Marxists and they are willing tools of the Communists.

How are all of these forces aligned? One is merely a step ahead of the other in "political progress." Each helps the other in times of need. They form what is called a "popular front." Now, just how deeply have they penetrated the hard core of real America? They haven't. There is still a hard core of millions of honest Americans who are afraid of what is happening to their country. They are not the so-called "intellectual elite," nor are they some captains of industry who would sell out their mothers to Red China if it would net them a profit. Nor are they the socialite who finds "radicals" so, "interesting and such good company." Nor are they the speculators who force prices up and down to suit their convenience.

Nor are they the "smart set," some of whom find it so much easier to stick their heads in a golf hole or a cocktail glass instead of attempting to help save what is left. No, far from it.

They are Americans, regular people who live right up the street from you. People who have two or three little kids and who are worrying about their future. Not too long ago, a friend came to this office and we got to talking. He said: "You know, its not me I'm worrying about so much, it's my kids. Shoot, I've lived a good life so far, and I've enjoyed it. But my little boys are just growing into the world. One of them is still a baby. What have they got to look forward to?"

It's folks like him and like yourself who thought they could trust their leaders but who are waking up to find out that the only person humans can trust is God Almighty. It's people who believe in their country and shy with every terrible insult passed its way.

It's folks who still look at our glorious red, white and blue flag with love and awe instead of a weak blue copy of the Soviet battle banner. It's folks who still believe in honor and integrity instead of underhanded secret agreements with Satan himself. It's folks who know what the value of their country is and want to keep it instead of shipping it all overseas to enrich some "fellow traveler."

That's the real hard core of America.

But that hard core is being deliberately confused. Their newspapers steer away from "controversial issues." In the name of God, what issue is not controversial?

If this nation falls, it will not be because the people deserted it, it will be because they were not told what was happening to them. It will be because their only information media of any importance let them down.

The "intellectual" fringe is in charge, fellow citizens, make no mistake of that. They are driving you to certain destruction and there's not a thing you can do about it unless you keep wide awake and protest to your Congressmen and Senators. Throw them out if they refuse to adhere to what you know is right.

As things stand, there's a good chance that many of us will live to see what might happen.

Will it be that then, and only then, we'll learn the true measure and value of freedom?

Will thousands of us be shot, hung and destroyed, others penned up, our children made slaves before we wake up to the value of that which we have lost? Don't say "it can't happen here" because it's happening. Those who are trained in this field know it's happening.

Keep awake, revere your country, its founders and the things they stood for. Listen to your parents and your minister, not a Socialist or a stooge.

Fellow citizens, we may not live to see it, but our country will win. We may lose for awhile and we may have to come back from desolation, but God is on our side. Lift high His royal banners, fellow citizens, see those banners go to victory.

Your wonderful land is worth saving—now, help save it. Keep awake.

Senator Malone Speaks

Senator George Malone of Nevada has sent to the Morning World, the following statement:

I am forwarding to you, under separate cover, a copy of Senate Report 1627, the report of my Minerals, Materials and Fuels Economic Subcommitee. The report has already been adopted as a textbook by numerous universities and colleges and has been widely accepted as an authority on critical materials. The work of the committee is being continued under Senate Resolution 271.

The report is a digest of ten volumes of published testimony on the accessibility of critical materials in time of war, and for our expanding economy. The Introduction, Recommendations and Findings, pages 1 through 9, contain the whole story. The rest is supporting data.

The committee's conclusion is that the Western Hemisphere can be defended—that it will be the only dependable supply of such critical materials in the event of all-out World War III—and that it can be made self-sufficient in the production of the necessary critical materials in peace or war.

For nearly a score of years our domestic and foreign policy has been based on the assumption that we are a "have-not" nation, dependent on the Old World for almost all of our critical minerals and materials. This report completely shatters that theory. It proves conclusively that there is no remote possibility that this nation, together with the Western Hemisphere, will or can exhaust its resources of critical materials at any time in the foreseeable future.

At this time the committee is conducting a similar investigation of the critical materials situation in South America, on which a supplementary report will be issued soon.

The editor has read this statement with the greatest of interest for several very important reasons. In the first place, it was erroneously assumed by this newspaper that the United States was by virtue of two major wars, now a "have not nation." In the second place, if the Western Hemisphere is able to support itself, the government of this nation should pay closer attention to George Smathers, Senator from Florida who keeps asking for more interest in Latin American affairs.

In the third place, the entire foreign policy of this government is based on the assumption that one cannot exist without France and England. Consider the second point—referring to Latin America. In the past, the Morning World has discussed Latin and South America with great interest due to Communist infiltration in the area. Take Guatemala for instance. There, the Communists had a real base. Guatemala is still none too secure.

Brazil reportedly has on its hands an insurgent Communist type Army in the back jungles. Honduras is in danger now that the government is unsettled. The Guianas are in constant turmoil. Chile, the "tin nation" has serious difficulties with a left-labor confederation which is controlled by Communists. Bolivia is none too secure.

Yet, the American people securely refer to these sovereign states insultingly as "Banana Republics" and fanatics. South America, as this nation must know, will be the breadbasket and the source of a great majority of raw materials for the United States should a war come about.

Thus, as Smathers says, build it up and make new friends.

Senator Malone's survey comes at a most inopportune time for Harold ("I Love you all") Stassen who now is dreaming up new ways to squander your hard earned cash. The Malone survey will in no way help many European governments which are begging for more aid and military equipment while their diplomats make new deals with the Communists.

It is indeed a good thing to know that the U. S. is still in most respects, a "have" nation. Senator Malone has opened many eyes and his survey, combined with Smathers idea should be carefully examined by the federal government if the United States foreign policy, badly in need of a change, can be put to better use than it already is.

Governor Kennon And The Roads

Governor Robert Kennon, who by all measures, is one of the better governors in the history of the state, is under considerable attack for calling a special session of the legislature in order to do something about the bond issue which was voted down in the last election.

The Governor will always be attacked, no matter who he may be, when he calls for a special session of the state lawmakers. Louisiana is not the only state in which this generally happens. However, it is well to remember that the state's roads are now at an impasse.

Louisiana has some of the best secondary roads in the United States. Yet, its primary or main highways are in sorry condition. To help offset this plight, Kennon has set up the turnpike authority which includes S. J. Rogers of Monroe. Actually, the Legislature was called upon to vote some fifty million dollars for new highways. Apparently there is to be twenty million devoted to the secondary roads while thirty is supposed to go to the primary system.

Should the Supreme Court act in favor of Kennon's bond issue, which it may, that will be another fifty million for the state. Most of this money should go to the primary system. Experts have told this newspaper that the Louisiana primary system is growing rapidly to be one of the sorriest in the nation while the secondary system is among the best.

Moreover, in the new appropriation, there should be stringent safeguards on the grade of construction. Highways which are built with first class materials, even though they may be initially more costly, will be a better long term investment than roads built with shoddy materials.

Already, the state, (like the city of Monroe) is forced to budget much of its financial appropriation and some of its reserve on repairs which reportedly could have been prevented had first class roads been constructed. Safety experts are seriously worried about the Louisiana primary system which is now considered to be "dangerous" at some points.

While not joining in the attack on the Governor for calling the special session, the Morning World does believe that long range planning (such was proposed by a special commission of the Legislature) would be better than special sessions. The main reason for the non-condemnation of the Governor on this point concerns the fact that the Legislature, not the governor, refused to consider the plans as were proposed. In all, something must be done.

The cash is voted.

Let there be some real action on construction all over the state.

New Men To High Office

DeRidder, La.

Editor, Morning World;

Some newspaper editors and news commentators are trying to "brain wash" the American people into believing that President Eisenhower is very popular. It is not true.

I was just in Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri and I talked to many people and not one person was for Eisenhower or Stevenson. They all stated that unless there are new men nominated in 1956 for President, in both parties, or a new Pro-American party, they would sit on their hands and not vote.

To nominate one man for both parties destroys the Constitution freedom of choice and leads to Dictatorship.

As far as we can see, there is not one bit of difference between the Eisenhower Rpublicans and the Roosevelt and Truman Democrats.

We must elect men to office, new men, that will put country and our people first above anything else, men who will promise not to bleed our nation dry of our money and resources to scatter to the four corners of the earth; to people that don't even call us friends.

There are Pro-American men that, if elected to office will save our beloved country and our freedom. For 20 years, we have been traveling down the road to Communism through socialistic schemes. Our nation is dying of rot, because our younger people have been taught the Government owes them a living from the cradle to the grave. They are not taught the Constitution or what is the true meaning of free enterprise. Hand-outs (so called) kills the will to work or produce. All nations in history that were socialistic have been destroyed and used up under up under a brutal dictator. When our young generation learns the government cannot give anyone anything, it has nothing to give, without first robbing the taxpayer

This nation is ceasing to be, Government for, by and of the people. It is becoming a Government of the politicians, Radicals and a robber of yours and my freedom.

The morals of our people are the lowest ebb in history. Why? Because of hand-outs, our people are growing lazy and unable to plan and thing for themselves. They live for today and not tomorrow.

Wake up Americans, let's elect men to office that love the good ole U. S. A. first and politics last.

Gen. MacArthur To Be Censured By Silence

McAllen, Tex.

Editor, Morning World:

On January 26, in Los Angeles, California, our most respected citizen and military genius, General Douglas MacArthur, will speak at the unveiling of a statue of himself being presented, on his birthday, to the people by the city of Los Angeles.

The major networks have advised our inquiring correspondents that they will only carry the speech of General MacArthur locally! The refusal to permit the American people the opportunity to hear whatever General MacArthur has to say is one more example of the arrogance of men without faces, seeking to brainwash the minds of our people into the human degradation of bureaucratic conformity.

It is up to you, your friends, your neighbors, to see that this outrageous attempt to censure, by silence, our greatest American at the national broadcasting level does not succeed. Call your radio and TV stations and make your request that this speech be heard. The lamp of your courage and your voice is the light and the voice of America. Let it be heard across the nation!

Kowtow To Peking

New York.

Editor, Morning World:

For many centuries the proudest boast of Imperial China was "Wan Kuo Lai Tsao" ("10,000 Nations come to pay tribute"), referring to the annual ceremony when the envoys of minor states, such as Korea, Tibet, Burma, Indo-China, etc. kowtowed nine times to the Emperor, and in turn were feasted for thirty days in Peking. With the passing of China's imperial glory, Wan Kuo Lai Tsao faded from memory. China, the Middle Kingdom (center of the universe), fell on evil days.

But, like a new dawn, China's Imperial glories rise again as Dag Hammarskjold, representing the "ten thousand nations come to pay tribute" and kowtow to Peking.

Answer To An 'Interested Citizen' On Fluoridation

Pensacola, Fla.

Editor, Morning World:

Unfavorable comment on articles against Fluoridation generally comes from those who do not know the truth or only have the propaganda put out by those who have Fluorides and equipment to sell. It pays to read and study both sides of any question and I have been doing so for more than two years and can back up what I write or say as facts and truth.

The A. D. A. will not allow the dentist to say or write anything against Fluoridation. They quiet them by fear of loosing their right to practice dentistry.

Dr. Max Ginns is one who refuses to let the A. D. A. dominate his thinking. Dr. Ginns is senior dental consultant in Worcester City Hospital. Dr. Ginns made a trip to Texas to investigate natural Fluorides in the water there to see for himself the real conditions.

He found so many crooked teeth, diseased gums, real young people with false dentures, and people buying pure spring water trying to save their teeth so he came home and told the truth.

Dr. Ginns has a petition with 119 dentist and 10 M. D. signers as being against Fluoridation.

Any interested person can borrow a book of Pharmacology from their dentist or doctor and read for themselves what Fluorides really are.

All seafoods, wheat, egg yolks, milk, pork, apples, honey, cocoa, cabbage, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes, carrots, white and sweet potatoes, oranges contain natural Fluorine.

Tea contains 40 to 60 parts Fluorine per million and the English people as a nation have the worst teeth.

If the party who commented on my truthfulness will write me I'll send him some facts that he can read for himself. Over 400 cities have rejected Fluoridation in the United States and many have thrown it out after several years use.

The Newburg News of Newburg, N. Y., Wed. Jan. 27, 1954, gave this data signed by Dr. Philip A. Klieger, M.D., New York State Dept. of Education—Newburg pupils examined for teeth defects school year of 1952-53. Pupils examined 4,654 and defects found 4,424. Kingston, N. Y., pupils examined 5,208 and defects found 3,324. Newburg is the trial city for Fluoridation and Kingston is not Fluoridated. Also, cancer increased and heart death rates increased in Newburg.

Can you trust people who would put rat poison in your drinking water? I do not. Remember—Chlorine kills bugs—Fluorides kill you.

Is The NAACP Subversive?

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The Department of Justice now has the names of 282 subversive groups or organizations working within our boundaries. Is the NAACP (National Association for Advancement of Colored People) included in this list? The people here in the south, both white and colored, would like to know. Most of the colored people here in the south want peace, friendship and prosperity but northern agitators, evidently under remote control of the Communists, won't leave them alone.

The president of the NAACP, Arthur Spingarn, is a white man and it is difficult to believe he is there for the good of the colored people. The FBI knows whether this is a subversive organization but the FBI is under obligations to turn over all its information to the president or the attorney general who usually use it for political purposes. Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats woud brand the NAACP as subversive for fear of losing the Negro vote.

This gives Russia remote control over agitators, carpetbaggers and rabble rousers in general. Ever since Roosevelt turned the Russians in our borders they began laying plans with their "sow hatred among the masses who disagree with us" strategy to throw a revolution here. No doubt the NAACP was easy picking. No one can deny that it was the pressure and pleas of NAACP to the Supreme Court which caused the court to rule against segregation in schools and restricted covenants in all - white neighborhoods. The Communists still cling to their contention that this will give her a revolution with unbounded hatred among the races.

For the good of our country—to h— with the political side of it—the people should know the truth about this troublesome organization. We should keep before us the Communist motto: "Conquer the U. S., then enslave the world."

Ike's "New Look"

Dallas, Tex.

Editor, Morning World:

Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov says nothing will stop the spread of communism in its conquest for world domination; therefore an eventual "show-down" between America and Russia is inevitable. If we continue our present trend in the reduction of our defense, when the time comes will our armed forces be adequate to conduct a defensive war? Eisenhower's "new look" in reducing our air - wings from 147 to 137 wings and our ground troops from 17 to 15 divisions and now the proposal to use the revised UMT for a further reduction of 50 per cent in our ground troops, looks as though our home defense is being sacrificed, while the unpredictable foreign aid continues to increase. Our enemies grow stronger militarily and we continue to weaken our economy and defense. More defense for less money seems to be an impracticable illusion, as we drift into a condition of inadequacy.

Committee Posts Offer Headaches To Democrats Seeking Senate Vantage

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders said today they were confident of duplicating their 1953 feat of giving every freshman Democratic senator a major committee post in the new Congress.

They conceded, however, that they were finding a lot of headaches in trying to satisfy the requests of all their members.

Republican Senate chieftains also are working on the committee problem. But they have much less to offer since they lose one place on each committee.

The first session of the 84th Congress is marking time while the committee slates are fought out behind closed diors.

The fighting for key places sometimes is terrific. A good committee job frequently offers a senator far more opportunity to expedite legislation and win attention than any amount of floor speech-making.

Early assignment to a major committee will put a member quickly on the long road to a coveted chairmanship. These chairmanships once were described by Woodrow Wilson as the most powerful posts in the American system of government.

Assignments and chairmanships usually have been determined by seniority.

Two years ago the Democrats, as one of their leaders put it, "tossed seniority out the window" after determining it would be good strategy to give every new member one top spot.

As a result, Sen. Symington, (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force, got a post on the Armed Services Committee. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), long a prominent member of the House Foreign Affairs group, was put on Foreign Relations, a remarkable assignment for a freshman.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Democratic leader, has let it be known that the same policy will be followed this year.

The Democrats' problem is complicated this year by freshmen who actually are long-term veterans

They are Sen. Barkley (Ky), who spent 14 years in the House, 22 years in the Senate and four as vice president; and Sen. O-Mahoney (Wyo.), who was in the Senate 19 years before his 1952 defeat. Both had top assignments in their previous Senate service.

The Democrats also must provide assignments for Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), whose vote gives them their margin of control.

Barkley has asked for places on Foreign Relations and Finance. He was on these two groups when he was previously in the Senate.

It seems to be a good bet that he will win back both spots. The other Foreign Relations opening available to the Democrats is believed likely to go to Morse who long has sought this membership.

CHAMBER EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Meeting for the first time Friday afternoon, the new executive committee of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce formulated plans for the coming year. Petitioners Set Special Conference

Mrs. L. O. Green, spokesman for a group of West Monroe citizens who have signed a petition seeking the removal of Mrs. Tina Clark as principal of Ransom Elementary School, has called a meeting of the petition signers for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the union hall on Natchitoches Street in West Monroe.

Mrs. Green asked that no one attend the meeting who did not sign the petition, and said the names would be checked at the door.

Matters relating to the petition will be discussed at the meeting, Mrs. Green said.

Mrs. Green and Rev. E. H. Hemphill of West Monroe presented the petition to the Ouachita Parish school board last week on behalf of the 495 signers.

School board President James Trousdale, Jr. said Mrs. Clark and M. C. Griggs, parish school truant officer who was named in several notarized statements filed with the petition, will have a chance to present their side of the question to the school board at a later date.

The action, which Mrs. Green said is aimed at having Mrs. Clark transferred away from the elementary school, arose in the main over Mrs. Clark's handling of the recent Joe Cooper case, the widely publicized incident in which the boy attempted to take his dog from school officials at the point of a gun.

The Cooper case has since been disposed of by juvenile court.

Parish's Schools Show Large Enrollment Gains

An end-of-the year report, issued by the Ouachita Parish school system revealed an overall gain of 66 2-3 per cent over the past ten years, bringing the number of students enrolled in all schools to 11.467. The percentage of gain was heaviest in the white schools with a gain of 70 while the Negro increase was 53 per cent.

Of the 3.388 pupils enrolled in the Negro schools, over 1,000 are from the City of Monroe, while slightly over 900 students of the 8,079 enrolled in white schools live in the City of Monroe.

Enrollment in 1944-45 session was 4,759 in white schools and 2,217 in Negro facilities. Over the past ten years the numbers have risen to 8,079 and 3,388 respectively.

During the 1944-45 session the parish system operated 42 Negro schools of which a majority were housed in one-room buildings. In 1954-55 the system operates only 10 schools, six of which are housed in new brick buildings and the other four schools in buildings that are in a good state of repair.

Negro schools were staffed in 1945 with 83 teachers compared with 109 which now teach the Negro students.

Twenty schools were operated in the parish system for white children in the 1944-45 session. At present the system has 22 schools now in operation for this group.

Two schools, Lapine and Mt. Vernon, which were operated in 1944-45 have been consolidated into the present school at Woodlawn. Other new schools added for white children during the ten-year period include the new West Monroe High School, Selman and Highland Elementary Schools.

During the 1944-45 session the white schools employed 193 teachers, while the white schools of this session are staffed by 322 teachers.

The Shady Grove Elementary School, now being constructed on the Bernstein Park Road, will be opened for white students in Sept. 1955.

All of the white schools now in operation by the parish school board, with the exception of the Ouachita Parish Grammar School, have either received new buildings during the past ten years or have had extensive repairs and additions made to their plants. In spite of the new buildings and the additions made during the period, many of the schools are again becoming overcrowded and many classrooms have a heavy teacher-pupil load.

The Louisiana State Department of Education, upon the invitation of the parish school board, has an educational survey committee now working in the parish examining all present school facilities and studying population trends of the various school communities. This study is being conducted with the view of trying to project population trends for the next 10 years. After the survey has been completed the school board will be given a complete report of the findings of the committee. The recommendations of this group will have an effect on the formulation of future plans for developing a better educational program for the students of the parish.

In the matter of school bus transportation, the parish operated 82 buses in 1944-45 and has a fleet of 102 buses in operation at the present. Most of the buses used by the school board now are much larger than those that were in operation in 1944-45.

'Dream Cars' Feature Of Annual Automobile Show

By DAVID J WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (AP)—A dazzling array of 1955 model automobiles, with some of the most fanciful color schemes every attempted, went on display at the International Amphitheater today in Chicago's annual automobile show.

Every car maker had models on the floor. So, too, did most of the truck builders. There were engineering exhibits, demonstrating the operation of power steering, automatic transmissions and the dozens of other accessories.

What may lie ahead in car development was shown in numerous "dream" cars, and "experimental" models. For the more immediate future there were four-door hardtop convertibles. With rear doors hinged wholly below the belt line and no upright center posts, they represent the industry's latest achievements in body design and construction.

Color undoubtedly was the dominant theme of the show, which has become the biggest in the nation. It ranged from what the car makers called a "heather rose" with soft pink upholstery in what was identified as a "la femme" Dodge two-door hardtop, to a black and copper-hued model, also by Chrysler's designers. Neither could be called a production model.

Every car maker had at least one standout model.

Buick and Oldsmobile gave top place to their new four-door hardtops.

Ford had its "Thunderbird" and "Fairlane" models on display. Its Lincoln-Mercury division featured a somewhat fantastic conception of the "car of tomorrow" in what it called the "Futura." Nearly 19 feet long and wider than any car presently on the road, the "Futura" has a turret-like top. It undoubtedly still is a decade or more away from assembly-line production.

Studebaker-Packard Corp. had representative models of all its 1955 cars on display, giving a prominent place to its new Caribbean convertible powered with a 275-horsepower engine. This is the most powerful engine in any production models currently being built.

American Motors (Nash-Hudson) showed its larger 1955 model cars for the first time. Some of these will have 208-horsepower V8 engines, built for Nash and Hudson by Studebaker-Packard.

The show, which runs nine days, brought many of the auto industry's top executives to Chicago for conferences with dealer organizations. Without exception the factory representatives pictured 1955 as "at least the third best year" in the industry's history. Their most popular production estimate was 5¾ million cars and a million trucks for 1955. And retail deliveries they said, will come close to the same total.

Last year's production of slightly more than 5½ million cars was the third highest in industry records.

Initial Meeting Is Conducted By C. C. Committee

Plans for the coming year's activities by the Monroe - West Monroe Chamber of Commerce were formulated late Friday, when the new executive committee held its initial meeting at the Chamber headquarters in the Virginia hotel. President Shelby Cage, who only last month assumed office, mapped out plans which he urged the group to undertake.

Attending the meeting, in addition to Cage, were Lawrence J. Hulin, Lee Vanderpool, Jr., C. D. McAdams, J. W. Roberson, and Grayson Guthrie, members of the committee. Ivy Faulk, also a member of the group, was out of town at the time of the meeting.

The group made plans for the establishment of a number of committees which will work closely with officers and the board of directors in handling all plans for this year. Chairmen of the various committees are being selected and will be announced shortly, President Cage pointed out. These committees include agriculture, aviation, conventions, education, traffic and parking, public relations, transportation, membership, solicitation, city planning, river - water conservation, legislation, sports and the budget group.

Due to the nature of the projects to be undertaken, the executive group suggested the traffic and parking committees be consolidated into one body. This was done, It was stressed, since the two were "so closely associated" in their functions.

The executive group also suggested that an armed forces subcommittee be created as a part of the public relations committee and that a special city clean up subcommittee be created under the city planning committee.

An entirely new facet of activity of the organzation was the creation within the Chamber of Commerce of the river - water conservation committee. It was felt that due to the importance of the Ouachita river to this area that an immediate study of the entire system should be made. With the advent of irrigation, which will be forthcoming during the near future here, this survey should be made as soon as possible, it was brought out.

President Cage and the executive committee plan to formally announce the selection of committee chairmen within the next week. On Friday a second meeting of the group is scheduled to be held at which time all chairmen will be confirmed.

Court Reaffirms Teachers' Right To Spank Pupils

BRAZIL, Ind., Jan. 8—UP—Teachers have the right to paddle their pupils when they misbehave, a court ruled Saturday.

Judge Robert B. Stewart, in fining a Brazil couple for a hassle with a school principal over discipline, said "the law of this state... gives a teacher exactly the same right over a child in his school as that possessed by the parent, even to the extent of physical punishment."

Stanley A. Eldridge was fined $10 and given a 30-day suspended jail term for grabbing Mrs. Margaret Barding, principal of Knightsville school, in an argument over her refusal to discuss discipline problems in front of students.

Stewart also levied a $5 fine against Mrs. Eldridge for slapping a member of the schoolboy patrol.

The Eldridges, charged with assault and battery, pleaded guilty Dec. 13 but accused the school of using "police state" methods on children. They said their son, Stanley, told them he was paddled by a patrol boy and locked in a coal bin for spilling water on a restroom floor.

In upholding the right of school authorities to discipline students, Judge Stewart said:

"The teacher who must resort to such punishment if employed within the requirements of the law will be protected by the law."

John Zufall Is Deputy Director Of Protection

A. B. Clarkson, district F director for civil defense, has appointed John Zufall as deputy director of plant protection. The appointment was made late Friday.

A resident of the Twin Cities for the past 24 years, Zufall and his wife reside at 507 Moore avenue, Monroe. He has been in the carpentry and wood craft business for many years.

A veteran of both World War II and the Korean confict, Zufall enlisted in the Seabees in November of 1942 and was discharged on April 18, 1945 with a rating of chief petty officer. He then joined the naval reserve and with the opening of the Korean conflict again went on active duty until January of 1952. At present he is 14th district commander, department of Louisiana Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Highly interested in weapons he is considered one of the nation's most respected small bore weapons instructors. He holds a life membership in the National Rifle Association.

Clarkson said he was "proud to have a man with Mr. Zufall's marked ability to assume the responsibility of this phase of civil defense."

Parish's Schools Show Large Enrollment Gains

An end-of-the year report, issued by the Ouachita Parish school system revealed an overall gain of 66 2-3 per cent over the past ten years, bringing the number of students enrolled in all schools to 11,467. The percentage of gain was heaviest in the white schools with a gain of 70 while the Negro increase was 53 per cent.

Of the 3,388 pupils enrolled in the Negro schools, over 1,000 are from the City of Monroe, while slightly over 900 students of the 8,079 enrolled in white schools live in the City of Monroe.

Enrollment in 1944-45 session was 4,759 in white schools and 2,217 in Negro facilities. Over the past ten years the numbers have risen to 8,079 and 3,388 respectively.

During the 1944-45 session the parish system operated 42 Negro schools of which a majority were housed in one-room buildings. In 1954-55 the system operates only 10 schools, six of which are housed in new brick buildings and the other four schools in buildings that are in a good state of repair.

Negro schools were staffed in 1945 with 83 teachers compared with 109 which now teach the Negro students.

Twenty schools were operated in the parish system for white children in the 1944-45 session. At present the system has 22 schools now in operation for this group.

Two schools, Lapine and Mt. Vernon, which were operated in 1944-45 have been consolidated into the present school at Woodlawn. Other new schools added for white children during the ten-year period include the new West Monroe High School, Selman and Highland Elementary Schools.

During the 1944-45 session the white schools employed 193 teachers, while the white schools of this session are staffed by 322 teachers.

The Shady Grove Elementary School, now being constructed on the Bernstein Park Road, will be opened for white students in Sept. 1955.

All of the white schools now in operation by the parish school board, with the exception of the Ouachita Parish Grammar School, have either received new buildings during the past ten years or have had extensive repairs and additions made to their plants. In spite of the new buildings and the additions made during the period, many of the schools are again becoming overcrowded and many classrooms have a heavy teacher-pupil load.

The Louisiana State Department of Education, upon the invitation of the parish school board, has an educational survey committee now working in the parish examining all present school facilities and studying population trends of the various school communities. This study is being conducted with the view of trying to project population trends for the next 10 years. After the survey has been completed the school board will be given a complete report of the findings of the committee. The recommendations of this group will have an effect on the formulation of future plans for developing a better educational program for the students of the parish.

In the matter of school bus transportation, the parish operated 82 buses in 1944-45 and has a fleet of 102 buses in operation at the present. Most of the buses used by the school board now are much larger than those that were in operation in 1944-45.

Committee Posts Offer Headaches To Democrats Seeking Senate Vantage

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders said today they were confident of duplicating their 1953 feat of giving every freshman Democratic senator a major committee post in the new Congress.

They conceded, however, that they were finding a lot of headaches in trying to satisfy the requests of all their members.

Republican Senate chieftains also are working on the committee problem. But they have much less to offer since they lose one place on each committee.

The first session of the 84th Congress is marking time while the committee slates are fought out behind closed diors.

The fighting for key places sometimes is terrific. A good committee job frequently offers a senator far more opportunity to expedite legislation and win attention than any amount of floor speech-making.

Early assignment to a major committee will put a member quickly on the long road to a coveted chairmanship. These chairmanships once were described by Woodrow Wilson as the most powerful posts in the American system of government.

Assignments and chairmanships usually have been determined by seniority.

Two years ago the Democrats, as one of their leaders put it, "tossed seniority out the window" after determining it would be good strategy to give every new member one top spot.

As a result, Sen. Symington, (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force, got a post on the Armed Services Committee. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), long a prominent member of the House Foreign Affairs group, was put on Foreign Relations, a remarkable assignment for a freshman.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Democratic leader, has let it be known that the same policy will be followed this year.

The Democrats' problem is complicated this year by freshmen who actually are long-term veterans

They are Sen. Barkley (Ky), who spent 14 years in the House, 22 years in the Senate and four as vice president; and Sen. O-Mahoney (Wyo.), who was in the Senate 19 years before his 1952 defeat. Both had top assignments in their previous Senate service.

The Democrats also must provide assignments for Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), whose vote gives them their margin of control.

Barkley has asked for places on Foreign Relations and Finance. He was on these two groups when he was previously in the Senate.

It seems to be a good bet that he will win back both spots. The other Foreign Relations opening available to the Democrats is believed likely to go to Morse who long has sought this membership.

'Dream Cars' Feature Of Annual Automobile Show

By DAVID J WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (AP)—A dazzling array of 1955 model automobiles, with some of the most fanciful color schemes every attempted, went on display at the International Amphitheater today in Chicago's annual automobile show.

Every car maker had models on the floor. So, too, did most of the truck builders. There were engineering exhibits, demonstrating the operation of power steering, automatic transmissions and the dozens of other accessories.

What may lie ahead in car development was shown in numerous "dream" cars, and "experimental" models. For the more immediate future there were four-door hardtop convertibles. With rear doors hinged wholly below the belt line and no upright center posts, they represent the industry's latest achievements in body design and construction.

Color undoubtedly was the dominant theme of the show, which has become the biggest in the nation. It ranged from what the car makers called a "heather rose" with soft pink upholstery in what was identified as a "la femme" Dodge two-door hardtop, to a black and copper-hued model, also by Chrysler's designers. Neither could be called a production model.

Every car maker had at least one standout model.

Buick and Oldsmobile gave top place to their new four-door hardtops.

Ford had its "Thunderbird" and "Fairlane" models on display. Its Lincoln-Mercury division featured a somewhat fantastic conception of the "car of tomorrow" in what it called the "Futura." Nearly 19 feet long and wider than any car presently on the road, the "Futura" has a turret-like top. It undoubtedly still is a decade or more away from assembly-line production.

Petitioners Set Special Conference

Mrs. L. O. Green, spokesman for a group of West Monroe citizens who have signed a petition seeking the removal of Mrs. Tina Clark as principal of Ransom Elementary School, has called a meeting of the petition signers for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the union hall on Natchitoches Street in West Monroe.

Mrs. Green asked that no one attend the meeting who did not sign the petition, and said the names would be checked at the door.

Matters relating to the petition will be discussed at the meeting, Mrs. Green said.

Mrs. Green and Rev. E. H. Hemphill of West Monroe presented the petition to the Ouachita Parish school board last week on behalf of the 495 signers.

School board President James Trousdale, Jr. said Mrs. Clark and M. C. Griggs, parish school truant officer who was named in several notarized statements filed with the petition, will have a chance to present their side of the question to the school board at a later date.

The action, which Mrs. Green said is aimed at having Mrs. Clark transferred away from the elementary school, arose in the main over Mrs. Clark's handling of the recent Joe Cooper case, the widely publicized incident in which the boy attempted to take his dog from school officials at the point of a gun.

The Cooper case has since been disposed of by juvenile court.

Rise In Unemployment Seen By Economists For Remainder Of Winter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Government economists are predicting that the unemployed, counted at 2,838,000 in December, may grow by as many as a million in January and February.

They are not too worried about the prospect. An increase of from 750,000 to a million among unemployed during the first two months of the year has been normal since the end of World War II.

But an increase of that size would give more ammunition to critics of the rosy economic picture which President Eisenhower reported to Congress in his State of the Union message.

The upward movement of the stock market indicates that business leaders have already discounted the expected January-February employment slack and are banking on a healthy spring and summer pickups in jobs, buying and profits.

However, union leaders continue to say that not enough attention is being paid to the job picture and that without sufficient jobs there are too few purchases for the products of industry and agriculture.

The government economists generally agree that the jobless total should climb to somewhere around 3½ million through February, or even a bit beyond 1954's peak figure of 3¾ million last March. They say there would be real cause for worry if unemployment hits four million.

The forecast of a jobless increase during January and February is based on these facts: Retail trade usually slackens in the early months of a new year after the holiday buying season; construction and other outdoor activity slows considerably until the weather moderates, and mining, transportation and factory activity also is curtailed.

Just as unemployment is expected to go up, employment is expected to go down. The total employed was estimated at 60,688,000 in December, compared with 61,731,000 in November.

If the government economists are right in their guessing, employment will drop below the 60-million level during the first two months of this year for the first time in a long time.

While December's 60,688,000 employed was about the same as in the same month a year earlier, Labor Department figures showed a 765,000 decline from a year ago in the number of persons on nonfarm payrolls.

One factor that has all the economists guessing is auto production. It is zooming right now and buoying the economy. Production of cars and trucks is well ahead of actual sales in apparent anticipation of possible labor troubles when union contracts start expiring in June.

The economists fear that sooner or later auto industry inventories may grow so big that production may have to be curtailed drastically, with a consequent letdown among all segments of the economy serving the car producers.

Mardi Gras Queen Entries Opening For 'Matthuan'

It was announced Saturday by Miss Rita Snider and Miss Sue Turner, editors of the school yearbook, The Matthuan, that entries are now open for candidates for the queen of the Mardi Gras carnival.

Annually this activity is sponsored by the yearbook staff for the purpose of raising funds for the book's publication.

The queen of the carnival may be chosen from any of the four divisions in the high school department. Her title and honor of reigning at the Mardi Gras is earned through the accumulation of the most votes — given her through the school, every vote costing one penny.

Through a vote of the faculty recently, the following St. Matthew's High School students were cited for outstanding citizenship: Julian Fontana, Linda Scalia, Frank Jungina, Judy Landreaux, Connie Ticheli, Margaret Costanza.

The following attained a "B" average in their studies during the second six weeks' period: Jo Ann Byrne, Eddie Pohlman, Charles Greene, Jeannette Rivoire, Mary Elaine Greene, Ann Landry.

The annual spiritual retreat for St. Matthew's High School boys and girls will be held as usual at Maryhill, La., with the Rev. Roland Bordelon conducting the exercises.

Students who wish to participate in this series of three days' prayer, meditation and sacrifice will leave Monroe by bus on Thursday afternoon and will return Saturday at about six p. m. They will be accompanied by Sister Patricia, D. C., and Sister Benedict Joseph, D. C.

The new semester at St. Matthew's will begin Friday following the regular examinations, which will be held at the school the three days previous, Tuesday through Thursday. Reports will be issued the week of January 16.

in Dresden, Germany, in 1945. The father was released in 1952.

"Johnny has plenty to say. I know he will not keep back a thing," the father told newsmen in Detroit. His joy over the liberation of his son was coupled with wrath against the Russians whom he accused of "kidnapping" him and his son.

Noble was firm about his desire to have his son tell the free world the story of his captivity. "Not two per cent of American citizens have any idea what it means to be a prisoner behind the Iron Curtain. I think they have a right to hear all Johnny's story and he has the duty to tell it," Noble said.

Marchuk's father in Norristown had suffered a stroke recently, and the soldier's mother asked the sister, Mrs. Elmer Clemson, to do the talking for the family. Mrs. Clemson expressed the family's joy at the news of Marchuk's release and said she believed her brother was picked up by the Russians while on some kind of intelligence assignment.

"I'm positive William is no deserter," she said. "He's just not that kind of fellow. I known darn well he never went into the Soviet zone without just cause."

Cox and several German and Austrian repatriates also named Pvt. William Verdine of Starks, La., as a third American inmate of the work camp. The Russians denied knowledge of Verdine but American authorities believe he is suffering from a serious case of tuberculosis and will not be released until he is in better shape.

Noble and Marchuk were reported by U.S. Army and State Department officials as being in "apparently very good shape" despite their long ordeal. The civilian, Noble, though slightly built, had a spring in his stride and chatted galy with U.S. Consul Norman K. Pratt en route from Russian headquarters to West Berlin.

Marchuk, wearing a moustache, was taciturn. He asked only for an American cigarette and commented it was his first in six years. As a soldier missing from his unit he was taken nto military custody. Both men will be given physical tests and also will be interrogated by intelligence officers. The question of their public appearance to tell their stories will be decided after that.

Noble, an American citizen of German descent, was brought to Dresden by his father in 1938, along with his mother, and a sister. The senior Noble opened a camera factory, then was caught by World War II. In 1945, the invading Russians arrested the whole family, but held only the father and John. The father was released in Berlin in 1952 and returned to Detroit.

Marchuk's explanation of his disappearance into the East was not divulged by Army interrogators.

There was a 3½ hour session Thursday, a 3¾ hour meeting Friday.

Hammarskjold's communications for the press here and the Peiping radio have omitted any indication of specific subjects discussed.

Hammarskjold left here declaring he would do his best, but stressing that he was in no position to bargain for release of the fliers and the other prisoners, as demanded in an Assembly resolution which also condemned the Chinese Communists.

the Army in the past to set out the whole story.

A move looking toward further action in the case already had been initiated by Sen. Daniel (D-Tex), and he said today he was glad that Secretary of the Army Stevens had decided to make public the Army chronology of the case.

"I think it's long overdue," he said.

Daniel announced this week that he, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) and others were sponsoring a resolution calling for "completion of all pending and unfinished investigations" involving alleged Communist angles.

Daniels said today that one of his reasons in sponsoring the resolution was to obtain an expression from the Senate "approving and supporting the work that I know Sen. McClellan and his subcommittee will undertake." He said he was not trying to tell McClellan what to do.

The Army report named 62 persons, including Weible and Adams, as having had a part at one time or another in the promotion and discharge of Peress.

The only civilian on the list was Adams, a principal in the televised hearings last spring on the McCarthy-Army row. The hearings were conducted by the Investigations subcommittee under the temporary chairmanship of Sen. Mundt (R-SD).

After the issuance of the Army report last night, McCarthy said he wanted to know why Stevens "didn't give this information" to the Mundt committee.

McCarthy told newsmen that "a great deal of perjury apparently was committed" during the Mundt hearings. He also contended the list of names in the new Army report was "completely different" from a list of 30 names submitted by the Army last year.

The collection was acquired gradually, Dr. Zahl explained in a recent National Geographic Magazine article. It was cared for in half a dozen aquariums, plus sandy and moss - fern terrariums providing dry or moist habitats.

Deputies said he read a pocket-size novel and a newspaper supplement until 3 a.m. He was awakened at 6 a.m. to eat the jail breakfast of cereal, bread, milk and coffee. Then he slept again.

Common Pleas Judge Harry A. Hanna gave the order that will enable Sheppard to go to his mother's funeral Monday afternoon in a suburban Lakewood mortuary. He will be handcuffed to two deputies.

Sheppard has been in jail since July 30. Convicted by a jury Dec. 21, he was sentenced to life imprisonment, which means he will not be eligible for parole for 10 years.

Yesterday his attorneys filed notice of intention to appeal his conviction to a higher court. They also asked the appellate court to release Sheppard on bail, pending the outcome.

Rise In Unemployment Seen By Economists For Remainder Of Winter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Government economists are predicting that the unemployed, counted at 2,838,000 in December, may grow by as many as a million in January and February.

They are not too worried about the prospect. An increase of from 750,000 to a million among unemployed during the first two months of the year has been normal since the end of World War II.

But an increase of that size would give more ammunition to critics of the rosy economic picture which President Eisenhower reported to Congress in his State of the Union message.

The upward movement of the stock market indicates that business leaders have already discounted the expected January-February employment slack and are banking on a healthy spring and summer pickups in jobs, buying and profits.

However, union leaders continue to say that not enough attention is being paid to the job picture and that without sufficient jobs there are too few purchases for the products of industry and agriculture.

The government economists generally agree that the jobless total should climb to somewhere around 3½ million through February, or even a bit beyond 1954's peak figure of 3¾ million last March. They say there would be real cause for worry if unemployment hits four million.

The forecast of a jobless increase during January and February is based on these facts: Retail trade usually slackens in the early months of a new year after the holiday buying season; construction and other outdoor activity slows considerably until the weather moderates, and mining, transportation and factory activity also is curtailed.

Just as unemployment is expected to go up, employment is expected to go down. The total employed was estimated at 60,688,000 in December, compared with 61,731,000 in November.

If the government economists are right in their guessing, employment will drop below the 60-million level during the first two months of this year for the first time in a long time.

While December's 60,688,000 employed was about the same as in the same month a year earlier, Labor Department figures showed a 765,000 decline from a year ago in the number of persons on non-farm payrolls.

One factor that has all the economists guessing is auto production. It is zooming right now and buoying the economy. Production of cars and trucks is well ahead of actual sales in apparent anticipation of possible labor troubles when union contracts start expiring in June.

The economists fear that sooner or later auto industry inventories may grow so big that production may have to be curtailed drastically, with a consequent letdown among all segments of the economy serving the car producers.

Mardi Gras Queen Entries Opening For 'Matthuan'

It was announced Saturday by Miss Rita Snider and Miss Sue Turner, editors of the school yearbook, The Matthuan, that entries are now open for candidates for the queen of the Mardi Gras carnival.

Annually this activity is sponsored by the yearbook staff for the purpose of raising funds for the book's publication.

The queen of the carnival may be chosen from any of the four divisions in the high school department. Her title and honor of reigning at the Mardi Gras is earned through the accumulation of the most votes — given her through the school, every vote costing one penny.

Through a vote of the faculty recently, the following St. Matthaw's High School students were cited for outstanding citizenship: Julian Fontana, Linda Scalia, Frank Jungina, Judy Landreaux, Connie Ticheli, Margaret Costanza.

The following attained a "B" average in their studies during the second six weeks' period: Jo Ann Byrne, Eddie Pohlman, Charles Greene, Jeannette Rivoire, Mary Elaine Greene, Ann Landry.

The annual spiritual retreat for St. Matthew's High School boys and girls will be held as usual at Maryhill, La., with the Rev. Roland Bordelon conducting the exercises.

Students who wish to participate in this series of three days' prayer, meditation and sacrifice will leave Monroe by bus on Thursday afternoon and will return Saturday at about six p. m. They will be accompanied by Sister Patricia, D. C., and Sister Benedict Joseph, D. C.

The new semester at St. Matthew's will begin Friday following the regular examinations, which will be held at the school the three days previous, Tuesday through Thursday. Reports will be issued the week of January 16.

in Dresden, Germany, in 1945. The father was released in 1952.

"Johnny has plenty to say. I know he will not keep back a thing," the father told newsmen in Detroit. His joy over the liberation of his son was coupled with wrath against the Russians whom he accused of "kidnapping" him and his son.

Noble was firm about his desire to have his son tell the free world the story of his captivity. "Not two per cent of American citizens have any idea what it means to be a prisoner behind the Iron Curtain. I think they have a right to hear all Johnny's story and he has the duty to tell it," Noble said.

Marchuk's father in Norristown had suffered a stroke recently, and the soldier's mother asked the sister, Mrs. Elmer Clemson, to do the talking for the family. Mrs. Clemson expressed the family's joy at the news of Marchuk's release and said she believed her brother was picked up by the Russians while on some kind of intelligence assignment.

"I'm positive William is no deserter," she said. "He's just not that kind of fellow. I known darn well he never went into the Soviet zone without just cause."

Cox and several German and Austrian repatriates also named Pvt. William Verdine of Starks, La., as a third American inmate of the work camp. The Russians denied knowledge of Verdine but American authorities believe he is suffering from a serious case of tuberculosis and will not be released until he is in better shape.

Noble and Marchuk were reported by U.S. Army and State Department officials as being in "apparently very good shape" despite their long ordeal. The civilian, Noble, though slightly built, had a spring in his stride and chatted galy with U.S. Consul Norman K. Pratt en route from Russian headquarters to West Berlin.

Marchuk, wearing a moustache, was taciturn. He asked only for an American cigarette and commented it was his first in six years. As a soldier missing from his unit he was taken nto military custody. Both men wll be given physical tests and also will be interrogated by intelligence officers. The question of their public appearance to tell their stories will be decided after that.

Noble, an American citizen of German descent, was brought to Dresden by his father in 1938, along with his mother, and a sister. The senior Noble opened a camera factory, then was caught by World War II. In 1945, the invading Russians arrested the whole family, but held only the father and John. The father was released in Berlin in 1952 and returned to Detroit.

Marchuk's explanation of his disappearance into the East was not divulged by Army interrogators.

N Assembly orders to get the prisoners returned.

There was a 3½ hour session Thursday, a 3¾ hour meeting Friday.

Hammarskjold's communications for the press here and the Peiping radio have omitted any indication of specific subjects discussed.

The U. N. Assembly's ruling banning any consideration of Red China's demands for a U. N. seat expired Dec. 31.

Hammarskjold left here declaring he would do his best, but stressing that he was in no position to bargain for release of the fliers and the other prisoners, as demanded in an Assembly resolution which also condemned the Chinese Communists.

the Army in the past to set out the whole story.

A move looking toward further action in the case already had been initiated by Sen. Daniel (D-Tex), and he said today he was glad that Secretary of the Army Stevens had decided to make public the Army chronology of the case.

"I think it's long overdue," he said.

Daniel announced this week that he, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) and others were sponsoring a resolution calling for "completion of all pending and unfinished investigations" involving alleged Communist angles.

Daniels said today that one of his reasons in sponsoring the resolution was to obtain an expression from the Senate "approving and supporting the work that I know Sen. McClellan and his subcommittee will undertake." He said he was not trying to tell McClellan what to do.

The Army report named 62 persons, including Weible and Adams, as having had a part at one time or another in the promotion and discharge of Peress.

The only civilian on the list was Adams, a principal in the televised hearings last spring on the McCarthy-Army row. The hearings were conducted by the Investigations subcommittee under the temporary chairmanship of Sen. Mundt (R-SD).

After the issuance of the Army report last night, McCarthy said he wanted to know why Stevens "didn't give this information" to the Mundt committee.

McCarthy told newsmen that "a great deal of perjury apparently was committed" during the Mundt hearings. He also contended the list of names in the new Army report was "completely different" from a list of 30 names submitted by the Army last year.

The collection was acquired gradually, Dr. Zahl explained in a recent National Geographic Magazine article. It was cared for in half a dozen aquariums, plus sandy and moss - fern terrariums providing dry or moist habitats.

ing in the name of truth for their sake if for nothing else. . .

"They are now spared this terrible situation and may be fortunate."

Sheppard sobbed yesterday afternoon when he learned of his mother's death. As the day wore on he calmed himself. Deputies said he read a pocket-size novel and a newspaper supplement until 3 a.m. He was awakened at 6 a.m. to eat the jail breakfast of cereal, bread, milk and coffee. Then he slept again.

Common Pleas Judge Harry A. Hanna gave the order that will enable Sheppard to go to his mother's funeral Monday afternoon in a suburban Lakewood mortuary. He will be handcuffed to two deputies.

Sheppard has been in jail since July 30. Convicted by a jury Dec. 21, he was sentenced to life imprisonment, which means he will not be eligible for parole for 10 years.

Yesterday his attorneys filed notice of intention to appeal his conviction to a higher court. They also asked the appellate court to release Sheppard on bail, pending the outcome.

Region's Mental Health Resources To Be Discussed

"How our community's mental health resources may be made more effective through planning and coordination", will be aired Tuesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Association for Mental Health.

The meeting will be held at the United Gas Auditorium at 2809 Louisville Avenue beginning at 7:30 p.m.

According to John A. Pritchett, Jr., assistant professor of Sociology at Northeast State College, a panel discussion will evolve around the previous stated topic with members of the panel representing religion, public health, education, law enforcement, public welfare, and city recreation.

Pritchett, slated to be moderator of the group, states that an attempt will be made to evaluate our community's resources which promote mental health and the function of community preventative services in the chain of mental hygiene will be emphasized.

The Northeast Branch, a part of the Louisiana Association for Mental Health, is designed to carry out the functions of the state organization.

A question at this point might be inferred. Just what is the association?

It is a citizen's movement in mental health; a voluntary non-governmental group dedicated to helping everyone within its influence to achieve a happy, useful way of living. High on the list of helpful purposes, is the one to improve the care of the mentally ill in Louisiana.

A board of directors from all parts of the state make up the operational function of the association. This board is chosen on the basis of citizens who have an interest in mental health.

In the association's lengthy ameliorative projects, the organization encourages the training and improvement of the quality of psychiatric aides in mental hospitals and gives awards to best men and women aides in state hospitals.

It also works for the expansion of facilities for the care of mentally deficient children, and the development of classes for retarded children who benefit from such special instruction.

The Northeast Branch members hope for a large attendance of the public at the meeting which they say will prove enlighting on our community's mental health resources.

Yazoo River Flood Plan Is Proposed

VICKSBURG, Miss., Jan. 8 (AP) The U. S. Corps of Engineers has proposed a 12-million dollar floodway plan for the lower Yazoo River.

Col. Thomas Simpson, Vicksburg district engineer, said the plan calls for a 32 - mile diversionary channel near Silver City from the Yazoo River to the Sunflower River to handle the Yazoo's flood waters.

Equally, the waters would return to the Yazoo River, but on the lower reaches, control would be easier, Simpson said.

He said bids would be accepted next summer.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The woman who knows she is reasonably attractive will sparkle because she feels secure in her self-confidence.

Marathon Will Improve Both Beauty And Health

We women are very likely to live up to the picture we have of ourselves. If we feel that we look old we are likely to act and think old. If we feel poorly groomed and generally unattractive we are most apt to act in a self-conscious, awkward way. The woman who knows that she is reasonably attractive will sparkle because she feels secure in her self-confidence.

Striving for beauty is not a superficial thing to do. When we follow the routines for beauty we are doing things which will promote fine health. The figure molding exercises we take to reduce or build up our figures are splendid for health. The vital reducing diet is packed with vitamins and minerals and proteins and therefore provides a pickup in energy.

Both Improve

Plenty of sleep and fresh air and outdoor life will improve the complexion but will also stir up circulation, increase respiration, tone the muscles and with the reducing diet will overcome constipation. Beauty and health go hand in hand. What promotes one zooms the other.

I have advised those of you who wish to lose weight not to skip a meal. When you do you will probably feel weak before the next one and will more than likely make up for it at the next one.

However, when ratios are cut much lower than you are accustomed to, it is sometimes most helpful to save a glass of milk or some fresh fruit or fruit juice for in-between meals. Many women find it more comfortable when reducing to spread their calories over 16 hours of each 24.

The important thing is to keep within the calories allowable for each 24 hours.

As most of you know I have been getting readers started on the Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. Also, as most of you know, the idea of this is to see how much you can improve yourself in eight weeks' time.

Perhaps you would like to lose 20 pounds in eight weeks or reduce your measurements, improve your posture, your complexion and your hair. If you would like to join tens of thousands of women in Marathon, you may want my new 1955 Marathon Booklet. It so, send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Public Is Lauded For Support Of Dimes Campaign

Sam Rubin, Jr., chairman of the 1955 March of Dimes, has issued a public "thanks to all who participated in the kick-off parade Tuesday." The statement was made Saturday morning after Rubin had consulted with other leaders in the civic movement.

In issuing the statement, Rubin pointed out that the groups participating in the parade had cooperated closey with both these organizing the event and other groups.

"I want to personally thank the many persons who were instrumental in staging the kick off parade for the current March of Dimes fund campaign," Rubin said. "It was certainly heartwarming to have received the cooperation which we had once the parade was mentioned.

"Particularly I would like to thank the participating groups in the parade, especially the bands from West Monroe and Carroll High schools, the Matthuettes from St. Matthews, St. Francis Hospital and the Monroe firemen. I was especially pleased with the way the groups selected their place in the parade, showing the true spirit of democracy of no preference by anyone. Through the drawing of numbers we were able to space the two bands out and not have them right in the forefront.

"Again may I say thanks to all who worked with us in the kick-off parade," Rubin concluded. Following the issuing of the statement on the parade, the chairman also commended Joe Saraguso, who donated all of the proceeds from his establishment during the hours of 7 until 11 a.m. Friday to the drive. Rubin said a total of $104.35 was brought in during the four-hour period.

Britain Accuses Viet Minh Regime Of Flouting Pact

LONDON, Jan. 8—UP—Britain, in a note to Moscow, has accused the Communist Viet Minh regime of "an attempt to flout" the authority of the international Indo-China Armistice Commission, the foreign office announced Saturday.

The British note sharply rejected a Russian request that Britain circulate to other members of the Geneva conference on Indo-China Communist complaints of alleged breaches of the truce by the United States, France and Viet Nam. The note, in reply to a Soviet communication of Dec. 30, was delivered to the Russians in Moscow Friday.

Britain maintained that under the Geneva agreement all such complaints must be channeled through the international supervisory commission composed of India, Canda and Poland.

Ho Chi Minh's regime is trying "to ignore the provisions of the agreement" which ended the shooting war in Indo-China in attempting to get Britain to relay its comlaints, the note said.

Thurmond Warns Of Federal Threat To States Rights

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), who was the 1948 States Rights candidate for President, said tonight federal encroachment on states rights is one of the greatest threats to the traditional American way of life.

Thurmond, appearing on the radio program (Capitol Cloakroom, CBS), said "I have studied this problem of federal encroachment for many years."

"It is a threat to the foundations of American democracy because it is a violation of a fundamental provision of the constitution.

"Education should be a primary duty of the states just as national defense is a primary obligation of the federal government."

He said South Carolina's three per cent sales tax revenue goes entirely to education and is continuing to meet the demands for an adequate educational system.

"I do not believe federal legislation would in any way add to the progress our people are making in this field. I do not foresee the likelihood of such legislation," Thurmond stated.

10-Million Ton Navy Ceiling Is Asked By Solon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Congress will be asked this session to rewrite a maze of laws into broad new legislation authorizing a 10-million-ton Navy.

This new ceiling, if adopted, would be somewhat less than now permitted but would be a million tons more than all of the Navy craft now available or approved for construction, informed sources said.

Much of the total tonnage would continue to be laid up, as it is now, unless war breaks out. The present active or seagoing fleet totals 1,319,746 tons.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), prospective chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said a fourth supercarrier, like the recently launched Forrestal, will be included in the new shipbuilding bill. The measure will include other types of craft but he declined to say whether another atomic submarine would be requested.

Committee sources said Pentagon proposals, not yet sent to Congress, call for the first comprehensive single law covering authorizations for the modern fleet.

Naval craft now are authorized in a series of laws which have become unwieldy, they said. The Navy has unneeded building authority in some types of warcraft but needs specific approval for new types of experimental and auxiliary craft required for modern warfare.

Total authorizations now are for 10½ million tons of naval vessels of all types. The active and the mothball fleets, craft under construction and others specifically approved now aggregate around nine million tons.

Rail Strike In Britain Averted By Wage Hikes

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Britain's railroad dispute ended today with a settlement yielding at least 84 cents a week more wages for lowest-paid railmen and a promise of boosts for higher grades.

Bosses of the British Transport Commission which runs the state-owned railroads hammered out the settlement today with leaders of the 400,000-strong National Union of Railwaymen.

As prospects of the settlement grew last night the union called off a nationwide strike scheduled for Sunday.

The raises will be paid beginning Monday. Porters and other bottom-of-the-ladder grades will start at $18.34 weekly — an 84-cent increase.

Lowest grades with more seniority get raises ranging from 98 cents to $1.68 cents a week.

These increases affect around 60,000 men. Increases for higher grades—signalmen, guards and locomotive engineers and firemen—are to be negotiated urgently and will be dated from next Monday.

Today's settlement brought peace to a dispute that started in the fall of 1953 when the NUR demanded a 15 per cent hike. Basic rates then ranged from $16.50 for lowest paid workers to $23.80 for engineers. As a result of the 1953 claim, all grades won increases totaling $1.05 a week for first year men and $1.61 for men in their third or later years.

The railwaymen continued to press, however, for a full 15 per cent increase over the 1953 rates and the strike threat came when negotiations broke down.

At the wage negotiations today, the Transport Commission asked the NUR for reaffirmation of an agreement last year for further productivity and for the fullest cooperation of its members to increase efficiency.

GOP Expenditures In Late Campaign Exceed Demos'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Republicans fought a losing battle moneywise and at the polls in the 1954 national congressional election campaign.

Reports filed with the clerk of the House today showed the losing Republicans spent about $800,000 more than the winning Democrats who took over control of the House and Senate in the November election.

The outlay by four GOP national organizations totalled $3,716,184 last year, the reports showed. That was about 28 per cent more than the indicated spending for Democratic national groups.

The outgo for the Democratic campaigns reported thus far totalled $2,822,631. That figure included money output by national labor political organizations which usually back the Democrats heavily, with little going to the Republicans.

But, the figure was not complete because one group, the CIO Political Action Committee had not sent in figures for the last two months of 1954.

10-Million Ton Navy Ceiling Is Asked By Solon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Congress will be asked this session to rewrite a maze of laws into broad new legislation authorizing a 10-million-ton Navy.

This new ceiling, if adopted, would be somewhat less than now permitted but would be a million tons more than all of the Navy craft now available or approved for construction, informed sources said.

Much of the total tonnage would continue to be laid up, as it is now, unless war breaks out. The present active or seagoing fleet totals 1,319,746 tons.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), prospective chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said a fourth supercarrier, like the recently launched Forrestal, will be included in the new shipbuilding bill. The measure will include other types of craft but he declined to say whether another atomic submarine would be requested.

Committee sources said Pentagon proposals, not yet sent to Congress, call for the first comprehensive single law covering authorizations for the modern fleet.

Naval craft now are authorized in a series of laws which have become unwieldy, they said. The Navy has unneeded building authority in some types of warcraft but needs specific approval for new types of experimental and auxiliary craft required for modern warfare.

Total authorizations now are for 10½ million tons of naval vessels of all types. The active and the mothball fleets, craft under construction and others specifically approved now aggregate around nine million tons.

Dave Pearce Is Man Of Year In La. Farm Service

The Progressive Farmer magazine has named Dave Pearce, state commissioner of agriculture, "Man of the Year in Service to Louisiana Agriculture."

According to word received here the magazine gave Pearce the title as a result of "his remarkable record in aiding and advancing the state's agriculture."

Pearce, a member of the Louisiana state legislature for eight years and commissioner of agriculture for 2½ years, was given credit for aiding the advancement of the state's agriculture.

The article said Pearce worked on behalf of agriculture both as a legislator and as commissioner of agriculture.

Rail Strike In Britain Averted By Wage Hikes

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Britain's railroad dispute ended today with a settlement yielding at least 84 cents a week more wages for lowest-paid railmen and a promise of boosts for higher grades.

Bosses of the British Transport Commission which runs the state-owned railroads hammered out the settlement today with leaders of the 400,000-strong National Union of Railwaymen.

As prospects of the settlement grew last night the union called off a nationwide strike scheduled for Sunday.

The raises will be paid beginning Monday. Porters and other bottom-of-the-ladder grades will start at $18.34 weekly — an 84-cent increase.

Lowest grades with more seniority get raises ranging from 98 cents to $1.68 cents a week.

These increases affect around 60,000 men. Increases for higher grades—signalmen, guards and locomotive engineers and firemen—are to be negotiated urgently and will be dated from next Monday.

Today's settlement brought peace to a dispute that started in the fall of 1953 when the NUR demanded a 15 per cent hike. Basic rates then ranged from $16.50 for lowest paid workers to $23.80 for engineers. As a result of the 1953 claim, all grades won increases totaling $1.05 a week for first year men and $1.61 for men in their third or later years.

The railwaymen continued to press, however, for a full 15 per cent increase over the 1953 rates and the strike threat came when negotiations broke down.

At the wage negotiations today, the Transport Commission asked the NUR for reaffirmation of an agreement last year for further productivity and for the fullest cooperation of its members to increase efficiency.

GOP Expenditures In Late Campaign Exceed Demos'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Republicans fought a losing battle moneywise and at the polls in the 1954 national congressional election campaign.

Reports filed with the clerk of the House today showed the losing Republicans spent about $800,000 more than the winning Democrats who took over control of the House and Senate in the November election.

The outlay by four GOP national organizations totalled $3,716,184 last year, the reports showed. That was about 28 per cent more than the indicated spending for Democratic national groups.

The outgo for the Democratic campaigns reported thus far totalled $2,822,631. That figure included money output by national labor political organizations which usually back the Democrats heavily, with little going to the Republicans.

But, the figure was not complete because one group, the CIO Political Action Committee had not sent in figures for the last two months of 1954.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Regardless of the outcome of last night's meeting at Hammond with Southeastern's Lions—the game hadn't been played at this writing—the Northeast State Indians appear to have "become of age" basketball-wise. For one who has seen every team ever to wear the Tribal costumes here, the current edition is tops. Of course cage chieftains at Northeast aren't completely satisfied, expecting to be better next season and so on, but the progress has been so good in the brief years as a senior college that Redskin followers can now boast of a better than average small college quint that's going to make its presence felt in the Gulf States Conference this season.

Within the next ten days the Tribe should be able to show just how strong it will go in the Gulf campaign. By Tuesday week, when they face Louisiana Tech, the Indians will have faced five of their six conference rivals. Already winners over Louisiana College in a squeaker by one point, the Indians draw Northwestern at Natchitoches Tuesday, and Louisiana College here Saturday before traveling to Ruston the following Tuesday.

Mel Gibson, Bill Bradley, and Bill Crowe, all six-footers or over, represent the scoring punch of the Tribe with Gibson and Bradley currently tops in the league scoring race. Earl Miles, a six-foot-eight reserve center, and Crowe and Bradley are 1-2-3 in percentage of field goals made. Gibson, Harold Davis, and Bradley run in that order in percentage of successful free throws. Bradley and Lloyd Crocker are far out in front as rebound artists, and this department alone is enough to keep the Tribe running hot.

Bradley, incidentally, came near establishing a national record for free throws as the Tribe beat Arkansas State here Tuesday night. Bill hooped 22 out of 23, missing only his first gift shot of the night and then dunking 22 in a row. We wouldn't be too positive, but somewhere a while back we heard where 21 for 21 without a miss is the college record.

The high school football season is over everywhere except at Ferriday where Bulldog rooters are still rehashing the 1954 Class A championship season as they build up to awards night at the Ferriday banquet January 17.

Lloyd Love, Ferriday attorney and Bulldog tub-thumper who will be master of ceremonies at the big fete, comes up with the dope that Ferriday is even better than Minden's double-A champions.

Says Love, according to Harold Case, our Ferriday informant, "Minden beat Vivian by a score of 14-13. Ferriday beat Vivian, 41-0, and our second and third teams saw nearly as much action as the first. Also, Neville beat Minden by one touchdown. Rayville stopped Neville by a touchdown, and we beat Rayville, 33-6.

"I do not believe the high school sports writers of Louisiana fully realized the capability of this Ferriday squad. This was the third year that Max Fugler, center, Frank Brocato, guard, Leo Young, end, James Joplin, tackle, Guy Hill, halfback, Don Horton, quarterback, and Tommy Purvis, fullback, had played together. In that three-year period they won state championships twice . . . Ferriday has won 25 consecutive games . . . No high school in the state can match the record of the Bulldogs."

Pick Group To Determine Ticklish TV Grid Policy

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—The NCAA today named five new members and seven holdovers to a committee that will have to deal with one of the toughest tasks in sports during the next few months.

The 1955 NCAA television committee, elected today by the new NCAA Council at the end of its annual convention, is charged with devising a suitable plan for football television for the coming season. It will have to come up with something that will avert a threatened split in the NCAA ranks and which will be satisfactory to potential sponsors and the broadcasting networks.

In short, it will have to decide (1) How much danger exists in the Big Ten threat of a "bolt" if its demands aren't satisfied and (2) What sort of program can be sold in 1955.

The 1954 Game-A-Week plan, pleasing to many colleges because of its protective features, was "completely unsatisfactory" to the Big Ten institutions, many of them under legislative pressure to televise all their games. And it was a financial flop in that the network which outbid its rivals for the games couldn't find sponsors to foot all the bills.

The men who will have to decide are Warren P. McGuirk, University of Massachusetts; Max Farrington, George Washington; Douglas R. Mills, Illinois; Earl S. Fullbrook, Nebraska and Ted Harder, Santa Barbara (Calif.) College, the new members, and holdovers Robert J. Kane, Cornell; Howard Grubbs, Southwest Conference; E. L. Romney, Mountain States Conference; Harvey Cassill, Washington; J. Shober Barr, Franklin and Marshall; Asa S. Bushnell, Eastern College Athletic Conference, and Walter Byers, NCAA executive director.

They'll only have two or three months to study all the possibilities and reach a decision. Byers, pro-tem chairman until the first meeting, said he hoped to get the group together by the last week in January. The new plan should be ready to submit to the NCAA members for approval by April.

An informal ballot, taken at yesterday's convention session after some rather tense maneuvering, indicated a strong sentiment in favor of continuing the strict national controls in effect during the past few years. But the Big Ten's regional proposals apparently gained more support than before.

South Whips North In Senior Bowl, 12-6

Bobby Freeman, Auburn Ace, Too Much For Yanks

By STANLEY ATKINS

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 8 — The South rallied with two long touchdown drives in the second half to overpower the North 12-6 in the Senior Bowl today.

The North had jumped to a 6-0 lead in the second quarter with quarterback Dave Leggett of the national championship Ohio State team diving over from the one-foot line.

But Bobby Freeman, Auburn's hard-running quarterback, drove the Rebels to two touchdowns in the second half in a tremendous demonstration of power.

Frank Eidom, Southern Methodist back, dove over from the two in the third quarter to tie the score, and fullback Dick Bielski of Maryland smashed over from the 10 in the final quarter. Every try for conversiom was wide.

All-America Alan Ameche, Wisconsin fullback, was used only sparingly on offense.

Most of the yardage in the North's 80 - yard touchdown drive in the second quarter came where it was least expected, through the center of the big South line.

Taking over on the 20 after Bielski's second unsuccessful try for a field goal, Leggett sent his backs on bursts inside and off tackle.

Minnesota's Bob McNamara went 30 yards on the third play to put the ball in South territory.

Fullback Dick Young of Chattanooga and McNamara got four and two respectively, to reach the south 12. Four straight power plays by Young made it to the south two and Leggett went over from a foot away on his second quarterback sneak.

Jim Garrity, Penn State end who kicked the winning point in the East - West game at San Francisco, missed the try for conversion.

Freeman drove the South to the North eight with about five minutes to go in the first half but the drive stalled and Bielski missed a field goal from the 24, biggest gain in the drive was a 37 - yard Freeman pass to end Max Boydston of Oklahoma that put the ball on the North 23.

Shortly afterward, All-America guard Bud Brooks of Arkansas knocked the ball from North back Ron Drzewieci of Marquette and Boydston recovered on the North 36.

Boydston dropped a pass from Freeman on the goal line and Bielski was stopped with no gain. Freeman went four on the keep and Bielski missed a field goal on fourth down, it was there that the Yankees began their touchdown drive.

The South came back looking like a new team after the half. Freeman used six running plays to ad-

Northwestern St. Cager's Alertness Sparks 8-3 Record

NATCHITOCHES, Jan. 8 —(Special) —Waple Lilley, a six-one forward on Northwestern State College's basketball team who has a knack for winding up in the general vicinity of the ball on every play, is one of the best reasons the Demons have an 8-3 record going into Gulf States Conference action here Monday night with Northeast of Monroe.

The Shreveport senior, who plans to coach after a stint in the armed services, has lettered three years in the hoop sport and twice in track. Regarded in his first three years as a floor man and rebounder first, and secondly a scoring threat, Lilley has shown a surprising eye for the basket in the first half of his fourth season.

His favorite shots, a leapng one-hander from 10 to 20 feet out and a one-hand set shot, and his hustle on the fast break are mainly responsible for a couple of "big" nights for the Demons against Central Missouri State in the Midwest Tournament at Terre Haute, Ind., and against North Texas State here.

Although he was a high-scoring ace in high school, hitting 36 in one game, Waple's 21 points against Central Missouri in his senior year was his first time to crack the "twenty-point" circle in college competition. Five days later he scored 19 against N.T.S.C. Northwestern easly won both games.

Prior to this season, Lilley's track marks were more impressive than his scoring totals in basketball. The ex-Belmont High School star ran the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds, the 440-yard dash in 53 flat and high jumped 5'8" as a prep thinclad.

He gets the biggest thrill out of snaring a rebound or getting a tip-in while engaging the hoop sport.

And the "big game?" That's an easy one. . . . In the 1951-52 season Northwestern State was trailing Texas A. and M.'s lofty Cadets for the first three quarters of a nip-and-tuck battle. Lilley, then a sophomore, came off the bench in the last ten minutes to score four fielders and two charity tosses and give the Demons the upset of the year, a 58-53 decision over the Southwest Conference five.

Wyatt Goes To Tennessee

LEAVES PORKERS FOR VOLS—Bowden Wyatt, university of Arkansas football coach, yesterday was lured from the Porkers to coach the U. of Tennessee Volunteers. Wyatt is pictured above with a football and plastic mask from the equipment display at the coaches meeting in connection with the N.C.A.A. gathering at New York City the past week. (AP Wirephoto)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 8 (AP)—Tennessee today lured Bowden Wyatt away from Arkansas, where he was riding high, to be head coach at his alma mater and try to rebuild the sagging Vol football team.

He succeeds Harvey Robinson, fired Dec. 2 by the University of Tennessee athletic council after the Vols' worst season in 30 years. He also will assume Robinson's duties as assistant athletic director.

Council chairman N. W. Dougherty said Wyatt, whose appointment came as no surprise, had signed a five-year contract. His salary reportedly will be $15,000 a year, which would match what he was getting after a recent boost from $12,000 at Arkansas.

The long-expected announcement came after a council meeting, and surprised almost no one.

It was a week ago today that Wyatt took his Arkansas Razorbacks, which won the Southwest Conference championship, to the Cotton Bowl. Georgia Tech beat the Porkers 14-6 in that contest, but not without a struggle.

Reportedly, Wyatt will bring some assistants with him—probably George Cafego, another ex-Vol, and Dick Hitt, both of whom have coached with Wyatt when he was at Wyoming as well as Arkansas. He will have a free hand in chosing his aides.

On the very day that Robinson got the sack, doting Arkansas fans presented Wyatt with a shiny, new Cadillac and distributed a $20,000 "appreciation fund" among his assistants.

But the Loudon, Tenn., native—who came to U. T. 20 years ago from nearby Kingston—to a step which most coaches dream about and "The job I've always wanted—a return to the gridiron where he first became known, with a chance to become even better known. He is among a few of many coaches trained by Gen. Bob Neyland who still adheres to the traditional Vol single-wing.

When Wyatt signed as a freshman under Neyland, now athletic director, then head coach, he came paradoxically because a seemingly more illustrious high school teammate would come only, "If you give my friend, Bowden Wyatt, a chance to play too."

The teammate never played varsity ball at Tennessee, and U. T. officials can't even remember his name. But Wyatt became, in 1936-37-38, a star end, and was captain of the 1938 team which went to the Orange Bowl — Tennessee's first post-season bowl game — and beat Oklahoma 17-0.

As soon as he was graduated here, he was hired by Allyn McKeen, then head coach at Mississippi State, as an assistant. He stayed there from 1939 to 1942. Then served three years as a navy lieutenant during World War II. He returned to Mississippi State the next year, where he helped McKeen during the time he was his assistant to compile a 48-7-2 record.

Next year, he moved west—and became head coach of the University of Wyoming Cowboys at Laramie. He stayed there six years and turned the Cowboys into something of a football power, particularly in the Skyline Conference, taking his charges to the 1952 Gator Bowl where they beat Washington and Lee 20-7.

In 1953, he moved on to Fayetteville and the Razorbacks. The first year, he compiled a mediocre 3-7 record. But last season, it was something else again. An 8-2 record put the Porkers at the top of the Southwest Conference, and made them hosts at the Cotton Bowl.

It also led to the Cadillac, the appreciation fund, and the salary increase. Indirectly, it helped bring him home.

Monti Holds L. A. Lead Entering Final 18 Today

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Eric Monti of Los Angeles moved into a one-stroke lead at the end of the third round of the $32,500 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament today, shooting a 69 for a 54-hole total of 205.

One shot back was Gardner Dickinson of St. Andrews, Ill., with a 70 today for 206.

The 36-year-old Monti, a club professional who plays only in local tournaments, thus goes into the final round of the rich winter event with the closest of margins.

Two strokes back of the leader was Gene Littler, who is bound to be a dangerous threat as the field starts out on the final 18 holes at the Inglewood Country Club tomorrow.

Monti, supposedly a poor putter, was anything but that on this sunny, crisp day. He sank birdie putts that measured 20, 20 and 30 feet on the first four holes.

Dickinson, the slender slammer who started out the round in a deadlock with Monti, came up to the 18th green with a chance to keep the battle tied but took a bogey five. He shot the course in 34-36 while Monti made the tour in 34-35.

Matching Littler's total of 201 were Johnny Bulla, a one-time winner of this event, with a 68, and Jay Hebert, Long Island, with a 67.

Ted Kroll, prominent on the tournament trail, with a 69, and Billy Maxwell, the former National Amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., with a 67, tied at 209.

Two seasoned pros, Johnny Palmer and Doug Ford, wound up with a pair of 79s for 210.

Arkansas U. To Try For Coach Of Texas Tech

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 8 (AP)—If Arkansas gets the man it wants as a successor for football coach Bowden Wyatt, it'll probably hire DeWitt Weaver, highly-successful coach at Texas Tech.

It's been known here for the past week that school officials favor Weaver, but no one knows if the Tech mentor is available for the job.

In addition to Weaver, speculation here has centered around Deke Brackett, an assistant to Red Sanders at U.C.L.A. and former Arkansas assistant, and Jim Benton, former Arkansas and professional great, who two years ago coached little Arkansas A. and M. to the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championship.

Twirler Billy Pierce Is 18th Chisox Signer

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 —(AP)—Lefty Billy Pierce, dean of the Chicago White Sox roster, today signed his 1955 contract and became the Club's 18th player accepting terms.

The 27-year-old pitcher was the first acquistion of General Manager Frank Lane, who has completely revamped the Sox roster since Pierce was obtained from the Detroit Tigers Nov. 10, 1948.

Lane regards the best of his numerous deals the one that brought Pierce from the Tigers for catcher Aaron Robinson.

Infected teeth gave Pierce arm trouble last season which sidelined him from May 28 to June 20. But after his return to action, Billy The Kid hurled four shutouts, needing help on one, to finish with a 9-10 record.

Pierce has a six-year major league record of exactly .500 with 79 victories and 79 defeats.

Boston's total points bettered the 114 registered by Syracuse against New York on the Convention Hall court in 1953. The combined total of 222 points topped the previous Hall high of 217 made in that same Syracuse-New York game.

In addition to Barksdale, double figures were registered by Bob Cousy, 24; Bill Sharman, 21; Ed MacCauley 14, and Ramsey, 14. Big Neil Johnston with 27 and Paul Arizin with 25 topped the losing Warriors.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Regardless of the outcome of last night's meeting at Hammond with Southeastern's Lions—the game hadn't been played at this writing—the Northeast State Indians appear to have "become of age" basketball-wise. For one who has seen every team ever to wear the Tribal costumes here, the current edition is tops. Of course cage chieftains at Northeast aren't completely satisfied, expecting to be better next season and so on, but the progress has been so good in the brief years as a senior college that Redskin followers can now boast of a better than average small college quint that's going to make its presence felt in the Gulf States Conference this season.

Within the next ten days the Tribe should be able to show just how strong it will go in the Gulf campaign. By Tuesday week, when they face Louisiana Tech, the Indians will have faced five of their six conference rivals. Already winners over Louisiana College in a squeaker by one point, the Indians draw Northwestern at Natchitoches Tuesday, and Louisiana College here Saturday before traveling to Ruston the following Tuesday.

Mel Gibson, Bill Bradley, and Bill Crowe, all six-footers or over, represent the scoring punch of the Tribe with Gibson and Bradley currently tops in the league scoring race. Earl Miles, a six-foot-eight reserve center, and Crowe and Bradley are 1-2-3 in percentage of field goals made. Gibson, Harold Davis, and Bradley run in that order in percentage of successful free throws. Bradley and Lloyd Crocker are far out in front as rebound artists, and this department alone is enough to keep the Tribe running hot.

Bradley, incidentally, came near establishing a national record for free throws as the Tribe beat Arkansas State here Tuesday night. Bill hooped 22 out of 23, missing only his first gift shot of the night and then dunking 22 in a row. We wouldn't be too positive, but somewhere a while back we heard where 21 for 21 without a miss is the college record.

The high school football season is over everywhere except at Ferriday where Bulldog rooters are still rehashing the 1954 Class A championship season as they build up to awards night at the Ferriday banquet January 17.

Lloyd Love, Ferriday attorney and Bulldog tub-thumper who will be master of ceremonies at the big fete, comes up with the dope that Ferriday is even better than Minden's double-A champions.

Says Love, according to Harold Case, our Ferriday informant, "Minden beat Vivian by a score of 14-13. Ferriday beat Vivian, 41-0, and our second and third teams saw nearly as much action as the first. Also, Neville beat Minden by one touchdown. Rayville stopped Neville by a touchdown, and we beat Rayville, 33-6.

"I do not believe the high school sports writers of Louisiana fully realized the capability of this Ferriday squad. This was the third year that Max Fugler, center, Frank Brocato, guard, Leo Young, end, James Joplin, tackle, Guy Hill, halfback, Don Horton, quarterback, and Tommy Purvis, fullback, had played together. In that three-year period they won state championships twice . . . Ferriday has won 25 consecutive games . . . No high school in the state can match the record of the Bulldogs."

Pick Group To Determine Ticklish TV Grid Policy

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—The NCAA today named five new members and seven holdovers to a committee that will have to deal with one of the toughest tasks in sports during the next few months.

The 1955 NCAA television committee, elected today by the new NCAA Council at the end of its annual convention, is charged with devising a suitable plan for football television for the coming season. It will have to come up with something that will avert a threatened split in the NCAA ranks and which will be satisfactory to potential sponsors and the broadcasting networks.

In short, it will have to decide (1) How much danger exists in the Big Ten threat of a "bolt" if its demands aren't satisfied and (2) What sort of program can be sold in 1955.

The 1954 Game-A-Week plan, pleasing to many colleges because of its protective features, was "completely unsatisfactory" to the Big Ten institutions, many of them under legislative pressure to televise all their games. And it was a financial flop in that the network which outbid its rivals for the games couldn't find sponsors to foot all the bills.

The men who will have to decide are Warren P. McGuirk, University of Massachusetts; Max Farrington, George Washington; Douglas R. Mills, Illinois; Earl S. Fullbrook, Nebraska and Ted Harder, Santa Barbara (Calif.) College, the new members, and holdovers Robert J. Kane, Cornell; Howard Grubbs, Southwest Conference; E. L. Romney, Mountain States Conference; Harvey Cassill, Washington; J. Shober Barr, Franklin and Marshall; Asa S. Bushnell, Eastern College Athletic Conference, and Walter Byers, NCAA executive director.

They'll only have two or three months to study all the possibilities and reach a decision. Byers, pro-tem chairman until the first meeting, said he hoped to get the group together by the last week in January. The new plan should be ready to submit to the NCAA members for approval by April.

An informal ballot, taken at yesterday's convention session after some rather tense maneuvering, indicated a strong sentiment in favor of continuing the strict national controls in effect during the past few years. But the Big Ten's regional proposals apparently gained more support than before.

South Whips North In Senior Bowl, 12-6

Bobby Freeman, Auburn Ace, Too Much For Yanks

By STANLEY ATKINS

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 8 — The South rallied with two long touchdown drives in the second half to overpower the North 12-6 in the Senior Bowl today.

The North had jumped to a 6-0 lead in the second quarter with quarterback Dave Leggett of the national championship Ohio State team diving over from the one-foot line.

But Bobby Freeman, Auburn's hard-running quarterback, drove the Rebels to two touchdowns in the second half in a tremendous demonstration of power.

Frank Eidom, Southern Methodist back, dove over from the two in the third quarter to tie the score, and fullback Dick Bielski of Maryland smashed over from the 10 in the final quarter. Every try for conversiom was wide.

All-America Alan Ameche, Wisconsin fullback, was used only sparingly on offense.

Most of the yardage in the North's 80 - yard touchdown drive in the second quarter came where it was least expected, through the center of the big South line.

Taking over on the 20 after Bielski's second unsuccessful try for a field goal, Leggett sent his backs on bursts inside and off tackle.

Minnesota's Bob McNamara went 30 yards on the third play to put the ball in South territory.

Fullback Dick Young of Chattanooga and McNamara got four and two respectively, to reach the south 12. Four straight power plays by Young made it to the south two and Leggett went over from a foot away on his second quarterback sneak.

Jim Garrity, Penn State end who kicked the winning point in the East - West game at San Francisco, missed the try for conversion.

Freeman drove the South to the North eight with about five minutes to go in the first half but the drive stalled and Bielski missed a field goal from the 24, biggest gain in the drive was a 37 - yard Freeman pass to end Max Boydston of Oklahoma that put the ball on the North 23.

Shortly afterward, All-America guard Bud Brooks of Arkansas knocked the ball from North back Ron Drzewieci of Marquette and Boydston recovered on the North 36.

Boydston dropped a pass from Freeman on the goal line and Bielski was stopped with no gain. Freeman went four on the keep and Bielski missed a field goal on fourth down, it was there that the Yankees began their touchdown drive.

The South came back looking like a new team after the half. Freeman used six running plays to ad-

Next year, he moved west—and became head coach of the University of Wyoming Cowboys at Laramie. He stayed there six years and turned the Cowboys into something of a football power, particularly in the Skyline Conference, taking his charges to the 1952 Gator Bowl where they beat Washington and Lee 20-7.

In 1953, he moved on to Fayetteville and the Razorbacks. The first year, he compiled a mediocre 3-7 record. But last season, it was something else again. An 8-2 record put the Porkers at the top of the Southwest Conference, and made them hosts at the Cotton Bowl.

It also led to the Cadillac, the appreciation fund, and the salary increase. Indirectly, it helped bring him home.

Monti Holds L. A. Lead Entering Final 18 Today

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Eric Monti of Los Angeles moved into a one-stroke lead at the end of the third round of the $32,500 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament today, shooting a 69 for a 54-hole total of 205.

One shot back was Gardner Dickinson of St. Andrews, Ill., with a 70 today for 206.

The 36-year-old Monti, a club professional who plays only in local tournaments, thus goes into the final round of the rich winter event with the closest of margins.

Two strokes back of the leader was Gene Littler, who is bound to be a dangerous threat as the field starts out on the final 18 holes at the Inglewood Country Club tomorrow.

Monti, supposedly a poor putter, was anything but that on this sunny, crisp day. He sank birdie putts that measured 20, 20 and 30 feet on the first four holes.

Dickinson, the slender slammer who started out the round in a deadlock with Monti, came up to the 18th green with a chance to keep the battle tied but took a bogey five. He shot the course in 34-36 while Monti made the tour in 34-35.

Matching Littler's total of 201 were Johnny Bulla, a one-time winner of this event, with a 68, and Jay Hebert, Long Island, with a 67.

Ted Kroll, prominent on the tournament trail, with a 69, and Billy Maxwell, the former National Amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., with a 67, tied at 209.

Two seasoned pros, Johnny Palmer and Doug Ford, wound up with a pair of 79s for 210.

Arkansas U. To Try For Coach Of Texas Tech

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 8 (AP)—If Arkansas gets the man it wants as a successor for football coach Bowden Wyatt, it'll probably hire DeWitt Weaver, highly-successful coach at Texas Tech.

It's been known here for the past week that school officials favor Weaver, but no one knows if the Tech mentor is available for the job.

In addition to Weaver, speculation here has centered around Deke Brackett, an assistant to Red Sanders at U.C.L.A. and former Arkansas assistant, and Jim Benton, former Arkansas and professional great, who two years ago coached little Arkansas A. and M. to the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championship.

Twirler Billy Pierce Is 18th Chisox Signer

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 —(AP)—Lefty Billy Pierce, dean of the Chicago White Sox roster, today signed his 1955 contract and became the Club's 18th player accepting terms.

The 27-year-old pitcher was the first acquistion of General Manager Frank Lane, who has completely revamped the Sox roster since Pierce was obtained from the Detroit Tigers Nov. 10, 1948.

Lane regards the best of his numerous deals the one that brought Pierce from the Tigers for catcher Aaron Robinson.

Infected teeth gave Pierce arm trouble last season which sidelined him from May 28 to June 20. But after his return to action, Billy The Kid hurled four shutouts, needing help on one, to finish with a 9-10 record.

Pierce has a six-year major league record of exactly .500 with 79 victories and 79 defeats.

In addition to Barksdale, double figures were registered by Bob Cousy, 24; Bill Sharman, 21; Ed MacCauley 14, and Ramsey, 14. Big Neil Johnston with 27 and Paul Arizin with 25 topped the losing Warriors.

Northeast Cagers Shade Southeastern Rivals, 70-68

Earl Miles Sinks Last-Minute Goal To End Deadlock

HAMMOND, La., Jan. 8 (AP) — Center Earl Miles scored his only field goal of the night in the last second to give Northeast State a 70-68 victory over Southeastern Louisiana tonight in a Gulf States Conference basketball game.

Northeast took a 31-28 intermission lead but Southeastern rallied in the second half and was ahead 68-66 when Northeast guard Mel Gibson tied the score at 68-68.

Dick Sharp, all-GSC guard, took scoring honors with 27 points. Gibson was high for Northeast with 18 points.

The rousing contest was tied four times in the last two minutes, with Northeast stalling in the last few seconds to spike any Lion threat after Miles had sunk the clincher.

Norhteast's supremacy was at foul line. Field goals were even on both sides, but Southeastern missed 13 of its 26 gift shots, while Northeast missed only three while sinking 14.

Jonesboro Offers Independent Cage Twin Bill Monday

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 8 (Special) —Two of the top games of the season will be presented to the sports public at the Jonesboro-Hodge High School gymnasium in Jonseboro Monday evening, with the Jonesboro-Hodge girls Stars meeting the well-known Pelican Truckers of Shreveport at 7:30 p.m., followed by a boys' game between Kilpatrick and Gresham of Jonesboro and the Pepsi-Cola team from Monroe at 8:30.

These games are sponsored by the Girls' Physical Education Club of Jonesboro-Hodge High School, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Oleta Haile, and the proceeds will be used to buy equipment and materials to improve the girls' programs.

Some of the girls who will play for Jonesboro-Hodge in the opener, with the teams for which they played previously, are: Mrs. Oleta Haile (Weston), Kay McBride (Weston), Alma Jean Hall (Weston), Alice Nunn (Quitman), Barbara Burlingham (Neville), Loyce Kilpatrick (Montgomery), Janelle Wyatt (Weston), Pat Mathews (Friendship), Elvie Pratt (Friendship), Carol Autry (Friendship), and Jackie Ursey (Friendship). The local area drew heavily upon outside talent because Jonesboro-Hodge High School has no girls' basketball.

The Kilpatrick Gresham players, also with their former clubs, are: Sam Ledbetter (La. Tech), S. W. "Red" Haile (Northwestern St.), Carroll Dowies (Homer), Kenneth "Zero" Brown (Jonesboro-Hodge), Ted Gullatt (Simsboro), and many others. Pepsi-Cola will feature Bob Bennett (Northeast St.), and Herschel McConathy (Northwestern St.) among their stars.

Officials for the games will be John Haile and Allen "Preacher" Vail, who have had considerable experience in officiating both high school and college games in this area.

The IC4A track and field championships will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden Feb. 26.

Wrestling Again Tues. Featuring Newcomers

ON VILLAIN'S TEAM Tuesday night when wrestling resumes at Kallio's Arena after a two-week layoff, is Rasputin, the Mad Russian, (above) who pairs with "Wild Bill" Steddum in the feature tag team match against Danny Dusek and Ken Hill.

After a two-week layoff due to Gus Kallio's hospitalization and recuperation from a couple of major operations performed the same day, wrestling resumes Tuesday night at the Walnut St. Arena, with a tag team match headlining the card.

Two newcomers to the local ring make their initial appearance here on opposite sides of the ropes, when Rasputin, the Mad Russian, pairs with "Wild Bill" Steddum to meet Danny Dusek and Ken Hill, an Oklahoman who hails from Miami and attended a college in Iowa.

Two one-fall, ten-minute-time-limit preliminaries will open hostilities at 8 p.m. between opposing team members, and all bouts will be refereed by West Monroe's Bill Barney.

The main event, which will require two-of-three falls to win, pits the renowned Texas villain, Steddum, and his partner, Rasputin, whose tactics are unknown but who looks every inch as equally villainous; against two clean-cuts, who will no doubt rapidly become the fan-favorites.

Hill, who resembles Johnny Henning in appearance, hails from a not-so-famous Miami, situated in Oklahoma. He is 28 years of age, weighs 200, and appears plenty muscular as well as youthful.

His partner, Dusek, who wrestles equally well as a popularite or villain, is a younger brother of the famed athletic Duseks, and is well known here as a "strong man" of the first order.

However, he and Hill will have their work cut out for them against Steddum and company, for without Jack Curtis to best him in every slugfest, "Wild Bill" is a dangerous opponent for anyone.

Ruston's Boys, Calhoun Girls Capture Tourney

CALHOUN, La., Jan. 8 (Special) —The Ruston High School boys and the Calhoun High girls won championships at the annual Calhoun Invitational Basketball Tournament here tonight as Ruston topped Ouachita of Monroe in the boys' final, 55-40, after the Calhoun girls had tripped Farmerville, 39-24, in their title round.

James hooped 29 points to spark the Ruston triumph in a game that saw the Bearcats leading 24-18 at the half and enjoying an 11-point spread entering the final quarter. Thomas sparked Ouachita with 18.

The Calhoun girls, paced by Baker with 17, jumped ahead early and were never headed as they toppled Farmerville, led by Smithwick with 12.

In consolation games, West Monroe boys, led by Gary Huckaby with 22, nipped Calhoun, 54-52, in double overtime, and Calhoun's sextet defeated Downsville, 26-23.

Calhoun led West Monroe 14-9 at the quarter, but the game was 48-48 at the end of regulation time and 52-52 after the first overtime session. Jeep Sanders hit with a jump shot in the sudden death second overtime to win for the Rebels. Bobby Thompson was high scorer for Calhoun with 25.

Simmons hooped 13 points to lead Chatham's girls in their consolation win, while Albritton led Downsville with nine.

Semi-final results earlier in the day saw the Ruston boys tag West Monroe, 58-49; the Ouachita boys outlast Calhoun, 52-49, in a game that was tied at 47-47 with a minute and a half to go; the Farmerville girls stop Downsville, 28-25; and the Calhoun girls defeat Chatham, 40-23.

Winnsboro Girls, Colfax 5 Champs At Harrisonburg

HARRISONBURG, La., Jan. 8 (Special) —The Colfax boys and the Winnsboro girls won their division titles in the Harrisonburg Invitational Basketball tournament finals tonight.

The Colfax boys, with Annette scoring 35 points, defeated Enterprise, 77-49, in the final. Cruse was high point man for the losers, with 12.

The Winnsboro girls won over the Enterprise sextette in their division final, by a 37-12 count. Glenda Bennett paced the victorious Wildcats with 22 points, and Miss Shepperd scored 12 for Enterprise.

In today's semi-final play, the Colfax quintet defeated Winnsboro, 57-44; and Enterprise beat Ft. Necessity, 53-40.

Girls' semis found Enterprise edging Waterproof, 19-11, and Winnsboro tromping Colfax, 43-28.

Ft. Necessity won the boys' consolation over Winnsboro, 51-48; while Waterproof's girls beat Colfax, 25-23, in the girls'.

Winnsboro Bills State Champion Girls This Week

WINNSBORO, Jan. 8 (Special) —A "standing room only" crowd is expected at the Baskin High School gymnasium Tuesday night for the first basketball game of the season between the Class B state champion Baskin girls and the Class A state champion Winnsboro girls.

The Baskin High School "miracle" team, coached by Miss Willie Edna (Tiny) Tarbutton, has been state champions for the past seven years. They had won 218 straight games before Winnsboro defeated them 33 to 27 on January 6, 1953. Since then they have won every game played, including three over Winnsboro last season.

Coach Tarbutton listed the probable starting lineup for Tuesday night's game as:

Forwards — Betty Ruth Jarrette, Joann Gray, and Emma June Anderson.

Guards — Frances Dear, Virginia Coronado, and Patsy Jarrette.

Only two members of this year's team were on the first string last year. They are Betty Ruth Jarrette and Virginia Coronado.

The Winnsboro High School team, coached by Miss Carrice Russell, won the Class A state championship last year and have won all games this season.

The Winnsboro team includes Glenda Bennett, who has been all-state forward for two years and Geneva Wiliams, who was all-state guard last year. Other starters for the Winnsboro sextet this year have been two freshman guards, Bobbie Hudgins and Johnnie Watson, and forwards, Lois Lantrip and Loretta Bennett. Other girls that are seeing quite a bit of action are Bea Hudgins, Shirley Anderson, Edna Faye Croke and Joan Ellerman.

Gonsalves, Smith Fight Unpopular Draw In Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Johnny Gonsalves, a fancy fighter from Oakland, Calif., with a feather-like punch, was awarded an unpopular draw with Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati tonight in a 10-round battle between lightweight contenders at the City Auditorium.

Smith, one of the hardest hitters in the lightweight division, floored Gonsalves with a shattering left in the first round and drove him to the verge of a knockout with a vicious attack in the fourth round.

In spite of this, Judge Mark Erwin voted Gonsalves the winner, 96-95. Judge Jerry Sherrard gave it to Smith, 96-93, and referee Billy Y. Regan called it a draw, 94-94.

Miss Suggs Wins Women's Event At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Louise Suggs, the sweet swinger from Atlanta, Ga., won the $1,000 first prize in the women's section of the Los Angeles Open in a sudden death playoff today with Beverly Hanson.

Each player had 54-hole totals of 223.

The playoff lasted only one hole. Louise collected a par with a putt of 11 feet while Miss Hanson went one over when her 10-footer failed to drop. That putt was worth $300 to the Georgia gal.

Starting today's play Miss Hanson, Mickey Wright, La Jolla, and Carol Bowman, Oakland, paced the field.

Both Misses Wright and Bowman succumbed to the final day pressure with an 81 and 53 respectively.

Betty Hicks, Palm Springs, Calif., slipped into third place and would have tied for the lead except for a two over par six on the final hole. She wound up with 75 and 225. At 226 was Babe Zaharias who had a fine 72 today but started the final round far behind.

Georgia Tech Ends Kentucky Winning Streak

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 8 (AP)—A jump shot in the last second by little Joe Helms gave Georgia Tech a 59-58 upset over Kentucky tonight and stopped the nation's No. 1 collegiate basketball power after 32 straight victories.

The defeat also shattered Kentucky's home winning streak at 129 games.

Kentucky, slugish and in serious trouble all the way, looked like it would pull the game out of the fire in the last half. However, Tech, six points down with eight minutes to go, came back to tie the score and win in the last second as Helms stole the ball in back court and scored with his jump shot.

Tech accomplished what a Southeastern Conference school has been trying to for nearly 16 years—beat Kentucky at home.

The last time Kentucky lost at home to a Dixie team was Jan. 21, 1939, when Tennessee scored a 30-29 decision.

The Kentuckians hadn't lost to any opponent at Lexington since 1943 when Ohio State won by 45-40.

Earl Miles Sinks Last-Minute Goal To End Deadlock

HAMMOND, La., Jan. 8 (AP)—Center Earl Miles scored his only field goal of the night in the last second to give Northeast State a 70-68 victory over Southeastern Louisiana tonight in a Gulf States Conference basketball game.

Northeast took a 31-28 intermission lead but Southeastern rallied in the second half and was ahead 68-66 when Northeast guard Mel Gibson tied the score at 68-68.

Dick Sharp, all-GSC guard, took scoring honors with 27 points. Gibson was high for Northeast with 18 points.

The rousing contest was tied four times in the last two minutes, with Northeast stalling in the last few seconds to spike any Lion threat after Miles had sunk the clincher.

Norhteast's supremacy was at foul line. Field goals were even on both sides, but Southeastern missed 13 of its 26 gift shots, while Northeast missed only three while sinking 14.

Jonesboro Offers Independent Cage Twin Bill Monday

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 8 Special) —Two of the top games of the season will be presented to the sports public at the Jonesboro-Hodge High School gymnasium in Jonseboro Monday evening, with the Jonesboro-Hodge girls Stars meeting the well-known Pelican Truckers of Shreveport at 7:30 p.m., followed by a boys' game between Kilpatrick and Gresham of Jonesboro and the Pepsi-Cola team from Monroe at 8:30.

These games are sponsored by the Girls' Physical Education Club of Jonesboro-Hodge High School, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Oleta Haile, and the proceeds will be used to buy equipment and materials to improve the girls' programs.

Some of the girls who will play for Jonesboro-Hodge in the opener, with the teams for which they played previously, are: Mrs. Oleta Haile (Weston), Kay McBride (Weston), Alma Jean Hall (Weston), Alice Nunn (Quitman), Barbara Burlingham (Neville), Loyce Kilpatrick (Montgomery), Janelle Wyatt (Weston), Pat Mathews (Friendship), Elvie Pratt (Friendship), Carol Autry (Friendship), and Jackie Ursey (Friendship). The local area drew heavily upon outside talent because Jonesboro-Hodge High School has no girls' basketball.

The Kilpatrick Gresham players, also with their former clubs, are: Sam Ledbetter (La. Tech), S. W. "Red" Haile (Northwestern St.), Carroll Dowies (Homer), Kenneth "Zero" Brown (Jonesboro-Hodge), Ted Gullatt (Simsboro), and many others. Pepsi-Cola will feature Bob Bennett (Northeast St.), and Herschel McConathy (Northwestern St.) among their stars.

Officials for the games will be John Haile and Allen "Preacher" Vail, who have had considerable experience in officiating both high school and college games in this area.

The IC4A track and field championships will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden Feb. 26.

Wrestling Again Tues. Featuring Newcomers

ON VILLAIN'S TEAM Tuesday night when wrestling resumes at Kallio's Arena after a two-week layoff, is Rasputin, the Mad Russian, (above) who pairs with "Wild Bill" Steddum in the feature tag team match against Danny Dusek and Ken Hill.

After a two-week layoff due to Gus Kallio's hospitalization and recuperation from a couple of major operations performed the same day, wrestling resumes Tuesday night at the Walnut St. Arena, with a tag team match headlining the card.

Two newcomers to the local ring make their initial appearance here on opposite sides of the ropes, when Rasputin, the Mad Russian, pairs with "Wild Bill" Steddum to meet Danny Dusek and Ken Hill, an Oklahoman who hails from Miami and attended a college in Iowa.

Two one-fall, ten-minute-time-limit preliminaries will open hostilities at 8 p.m. between opposing team members, and all bouts will be refereed by West Monroe's Bill Barney.

The main event, which will require two-of-three falls to win, pits the renowned Texas villain, Steddum, and his partner, Rasputin, whose tactics are unknown but who looks every inch as equally villainous; against two clean-cuts, who will no doubt rapidly become the fan-favorites.

Hill, who resembles Johnny Henning in appearance, hails from a not-so-famous Miami, situated in Oklahoma. He is 28 years of age, weighs 200, and appears plenty muscular as well as youthful.

His partner, Dusek, who wrestles equally well as a popularite or villain, is a younger brother of the famed athletic Duseks, and is well known here as a "strong man" of the first order.

However, he and Hill will have their work cut out for them against Steddum and company, for without Jack Curtis to best him in every slugfest, "Wild Bill" is a dangerous opponent for anyone.

Ruston's Boys, Calhoun Girls Capture Tourney

CALHOUN, La., Jan. 8 (Special)—The Ruston High School boys and the Calhoun High girls won championships at the annual Calhoun Invitational Basketball Tournament here tonight as Ruston topped Ouachita of Monroe in the boys' final, 55-40, after the Calhoun girls had tripped Farmerville, 39-24, in their title round.

James hooped 29 points to spark the Ruston triumph in a game that saw the Bearcats leading 24-18 at the half and enjoying an 11-point spread entering the final quarter. Thomas sparked Ouachita with 18.

The Calhoun girls, paced by Baker with 17, jumped ahead early and were never headed as they toppled Farmerville, led by Smithwick with 12.

In consolation games, West Monroe boys, led by Gary Huckaby with 22, nipped Calhoun, 54-52, in double overtime, and Calhoun's sextet defeated Downsville, 26-23.

Calhoun led West Monroe 14-9 at the quarter, but the game was 48-48 at the end of regulation time and 52-52 after the first overtime session. Jeep Sanders hit with a jump shot in the sudden death second overtime to win for the Rebels. Bobby Thompson was high scorer for Calhoun with 25.

Simmons hooped 13 points to lead Chatham's girls in their consolation win, while Albritton led Downsville with nine.

Semi-final results earlier in the day saw the Ruston boys tag West Monroe, 58-49; the Ouachita boys outlast Calhoun, 52-49, in a game that was tied at 47-47 with a minute and a half to go; the Farmerville girls stop Downsville, 28-25; and the Calhoun girls defeat Chatham, 40-23.

In today's semi-final play, the Colfax quintet, defeated Winnsboro, 57-44; and Enterprise beat Ft. Necessity, 53-40.

Girls' semis found Enterprise edging Waterproof, 19-14; and Winnsboro tromping Colfax, 43-28.

Ft. Necessity won the boys' consolation over Winnsboro, 51-48; while Waterproof's girls beat Colfax, 25-23, in the girls'.

Winnsboro Bills State Champion Girls This Week

WINNSBORO, Jan. 8 (Special)—A "standing room only" crowd is expected at the Baskin High School gymnasium Tuesday night for the first basketball game of the season between the Class B state champion Baskin girls and the Class A state champion Winnsboro girls.

The Baskin High School "miracle" team, coached by Miss Willie Edna (Tiny) Tarbutton, has been state champions for the past seven years. They had won 218 straight games before Winnsboro defeated them 33 to 27 on January 6, 1953. Since then they have won every game played, including three over Winnsboro last season.

Coach Tarbutton listed the probable starting lineup for Tuesday night's game as:

Forwards — Betty Ruth Jarrette, Joann Gray, and Emma June Anderson.

Guards — Frances Dear, Virginia Coronado, and Patsy Jarrette.

Only two members of this year's team were on the first string last year. They are Betty Ruth Jarrette and Virginia Coronado.

The Winnsboro High School team, coached by Miss Carrice Russell, won the Class A state championship last year and have won all games this season.

The Winnsboro team includes Glenda Bennett, who has been all-state forward for two years and Geneva Wiliams, who was all-state guard last year. Other starters for the Winnsboro sextet this year have been two freshman guards, Bobbie Hudgins and Johnnie Watson, and forwards, Lois Lantrip and Loretta Bennett. Other girls that are seeing quite a bit of action are Bea Hudgins, Shirley Anderson, Edna Faye Croke and Joan Ellerman.

Gonsalves, Smith Fight Unpopular Draw In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. Jan. 8 (AP)—Johnny Gonsalves, a fancy fighter from Oakland, Calif., with a feather-like punch, was awarded an unpopular draw with Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati tonight in a 10-round battle between lightweight contenders at the City Auditorium.

Smith, one of the hardest hitters in the lightweight division, floored Gonsalves with a shattering left in the first round and drove him to the verge of a knockout with a vicious attack in the fourth round.

In spite of this, Judge Mark Erwin voted Gonsalves the winner, 96-95. Judge Jerry Sherrard gave it to Smith, 96-93, and referee Billy Y. Regan called it a draw, 94-94.

Miss Suggs Wins Women's Event At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Louise Suggs, the sweet swinger from Atlanta, Ga., won the $1,000 first prize in the women's section of the Los Angeles Open in a sudden death playoff today with Beverly Hanson.

Each player had 54-hole totals of 223.

The playoff lasted only one hole. Louise collected a par with a putt of 11 feet while Miss Hanson went one over when her 10-footer failed to drop. That putt was worth $300 to the Georgia gal.

Starting today's play Miss Hanson, Mickey Wright, La Jolla, and Carol Bowman, Oakland, paced the field.

Both Misses Wright and Bowman succumbed to the final day pressure with an 81 and 53 respectively.

Betty Hicks, Palm Springs, Calif., slipped into third place and would have tied for the lead except for a two over par six on the final hole. She wound up with 75 and 225. At 226 was Babe Zaharias who had a fine 72 today but started the final round far behind.

Georgia Tech Ends Kentucky Winning Streak

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 8 (AP)—A jump shot in the last second by little Joe Helms gave Georgia Tech a 59-58 upset over Kentucky tonight and stopped the nation's No. 1 collegiate basketball power after 32 straight victories.

The defeat also shattered Kentucky's home winning streak at 129 games.

Kentucky, slugish and in serious trouble all the way, looked like it would pull the game out of the fire in the last half. However, Tech, six points down with eight minutes to go, came back to tie the score and win in the last second as Helms stole the ball in back court and scored with his jump shot.

Tech accomplished what a Southeastern Conference school has been trying to for nearly 16 years—beat Kentucky at home.

The last time Kentucky lost at home to a Dixie team was Jan. 21, 1939, when Tennessee scored a 30-29 decision.

The Kentuckians hadn't lost to any opponent at Lexington since 1943 when Ohio State won by 45-40.

Congress Cold To Amendment Of Immigration Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Congress appeared likely today to turn a deaf ear to President Eisenhower's renewed call for correction of "injustices" in the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

The law, overhauling the immigration and naturalization laws, was passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto and has been a continuing subject of controversy. There is nothing now, however, to indicate any substantial change in congressional sentiment.

Sen. Watkins of Utah, senior Republican member of the Senate immigration subcommittee, said that before deciding whether to sponsor any administration amendments he would want to confer with the Justice Department and Immigration Service to find out just what they have in mind.

"I'm not averse to some liberalizing changes to make the law work smoother," he said, "but I doubt if there is sentiment in Congress to bring about changes in the fundamental philosophy of the Act."

Watkins, who was chairman of the Immigration subcommittee in the last Congress, voted to override Truman's veto. He is expected to be succeeded as chairman by Sen. Kilgore (D-WVa), who also will be head of the parent Judiciary Committee in the new Congress.

While Kilgore opposed the McCarran-Walter Act and voted to sustain Truman's veto, the Judiciary Committee as a whole hasn't shown any disposition to revise it.

The chairman of the Immigration subcommittee in the House will be Rep. Walter (D-Pa), the original cosponsor of the 1952 Act with the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev).

Both Walter and McCarran denied there was any racial or religious discrimination in the Act and defended it against criticism that it worked undue hardships on immigrants.

A chief item of contention has been the law's retention of the national origins quota system of immigration. This is based on the makeup of the U.S. population in 1920 and the effect is to give by far the largest immigration quotas to northern European countries.

Draft Extension Given Priority By House Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) said today the House Armed Services Committee will consider first a straight four-year extension of the present draft law, and delay until later action on a proposal to train 17-year-olds for reserve assignments.

Vinson, incoming chairman of the group, and Rep. Short (R-Mo), whom he will replace when the Democrats organize the new Congress, discussed the Defense Department's proposed legislative program with Secretary Wilson and other officials at the Pentagon.

Vinson said agreement was reached that the full committee take up the draft extension, while special subcommittees begin studies of proposals for a military pay raise and for strengthening the reserve forces. The present draft law is due to expire June 30.

Other proposals reportedly discussed included:

1. A possible new security program for the armed services and defense industries.

2. A new military housing program, which would provide between 27,000 and 30,000 new units a year for military personnel.

3. A Navy proposal for a new law which would wipe out miscellaneous authorizations for new ships, many not now wanted, and substitute a program covering an up to date fleet.

Vinson said Wilson and the joint chiefs of staff will brief the committee thoroughly on "the national defense situation" at a hearing to be held sometime after Jan. 20. He said Wilson would testify publicly, and non-security information offered by the military chieftains also would be given at an open session.

Short said Wilson reported he thought security in the armed services and defense industries now is "pretty well under control" but that some legislative proposals would be made. Short gave no details.

In the past there have been indications that a security program was being formulated for defense industries to tighten surveillance over them. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has demanded stronger attempts to weed out what he says is Communist influence in defense plants.

Short said Wilson told the congressmen he was convinced proposed manpower cuts in the armed services would not affect national security. The new cutback calls for a reduction to about 2,850,000 by mid-1956, a cut of 368,000.

The Missouri congressman quoted Wilson that he "never put balancing the budget over the security of the country." He said Wilson reported the reduction resulted from long and careful study between Pentagon civilian officials, and the joint chiefs of staff in consultation with the President.

Some Democrats have questioned sharply a proposed reduction in Army, Navy and Marine personnel in a budget nearly half of which would be devoted to the Air Force for buying aircraft and antiair defense.

The shipbuilding plan which the Navy is asking would cancel large numbers of authorizations already approved and propose a similar tonnage of newer ships.

Congress will be asked to rewrite a maze of laws into new broad legislation authorizing a 10 million-ton Navy.

DR. HENRY SAGESER

Dr. H. Sageser Writes Vocational Guidance Article

Dr. Henry Sageser of the Northeast State education faculty is the author of an article on 'Vocational Guidance for the Small High School," which will be published in March. It will appear in the Personnel and Guidance Journal, a professional magazine published monthly.

Information for the work is based on a pilot study which is in its second year of performance at Calhoun High School. The state supervisor of guidance services chose the school with a senior class of 21 and 30 members respectively for the two-year period. She also obtained the cooperation of the parish superintendent of schools, principal of the high school, State Employment Service and Northeast State.

Purpose of the project was to pioneer the way for vocational guidance to reach small high schools in Louisiana.

Attention was given to evolving such a program as a unit of study integrated within the regular school plan of work.

The social science teacher arranged a unit in modern vocations and administered the Kuder Preference Record Test. Its interpretation led to a class discussion, followed by a study of occupations that interested members of the class.

Exporing library resources preceded a conference with Dr. Sageser, vocational guidance counselor of Northeast, who talked to the group at their school.

Also holding sessions with the class were representatives of the Monroe office, Louisiana State Employment, who discussed job opportunities in the parish, apprenticeship training, services of the office, plus specfic consideration of indivdual needs of the class.

Field trips were made to Northeast State and the Employment Office. Vocational guidance and aptitude tests given at the latter place were interpreted for the students.

Evaluatng the guidance project at the Calhoun High School was attempted by means of a questionnaire, essay reports and a follow-up check of placement.

Students included in their essays the main points of the program such as the Kuder Test, field trip and opportunity to do something practical about securing employment. Chief adverse criticisms of the students were that such guidance had not been available to them before their senior year, that both boys and girls were given the same program, that the study was limited to seniors.

Administrators of the program plan to utilize more local talent to enrich the experience of students. They also hope to give more emphasis to occupations which are being practiced within the environment which the students know.

All who participated in the vocatonal guidance study at Calhoun have become enthusiastic about continuing it and disseminating its value throughout the state, Dr. Sageser said. The group considers that the plan can be stimulating and helpful to graduating seniors.

Fate Of Presbyterian Merger Proposal To Be Decided This Month

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 8 (AP)—The fate of the proposed merger of the three major branches of the Presbyterian Church will be decided this month. Sixteen years of preparation will be at stake.

Southern leaders of the church issued divergent statements today as Presbyteries prepared to decide the question.

The statements were calm outlines of their reasons for their respective stands.

One North Carolina churchman, Dr. Henry B. Dendy of Weaverville flatly predicted that the proposal would be defeated by the southern church in the next two weeks.

Dr. Dendy is secretary of the Assn. for the Preservation and Continuation of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

The clergyman based his prediction on an 11-1 vote against union by Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. (southern branch) who have gone on record thus far.

Only 11 more negative votes are needed to defeat merger with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. (northern branch) and the United Presbyterian Church of North America, Dendy noted.

"We'll get those in the next two weeks," he said.

Under the plan of union, three-fourths of the southern church's 35 Presbyteries must approve the proposal for the measure to be sent on to the denomination's general assembly.

The pro-union statements came from nine laymen of the church in North Carolina.

Arch B. Taylor, a tobacco manufacturer and an elder in a Winston-Salem Presbyterian Church, said he favored union because "it is the Christian way" and "as a deacon and now as an elder I promised to study the peace, unity, edification and purity of the church.

"Though I am by birth and location a Southerner, I am also a loyal American. I believe if 48 states can exist as a republic and live under a common constitution, at least three Presbyterian bodies ought to be able to do the same."

Signatories to the anti-union statement included Dr. Marc C. Weersing, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, Jackson, Miss; Dr. W. F. Mansell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Vicksburg, Miss; Dr. A. W. Dick, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Memphis, Tenn; Judge D. H. Edington, an elder in a Mobile, Ala. church; and Dr. McFerran Crowe, president of Belhaven College, Jackson, Miss.

Demo Attack On Ike's Message Is Answered By GOP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—UP—Republican leaders charged the Democratic national committee Saturday with "irresponsible" efforts to repudiate and undermine pledges of Democratic congressional leaders to cooperate with President Eisenhower.

These attacks on the Democratic national headquarters came from GOP national chairman Leonard W. Hall, chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Republican Policy committee, and House GOP whip Leslie C. Arends.

They were replying to the Democratic national committee's analysis of Mr. Eisenhower's legislative program as it was laid before Congress in his state of the union message Thursday.

This analysis, distributed to Democrats in Congress on a confidential basis and later made public, criticized or raised questions about administration proposals on a score if counts including defense, foreign aid, agriculture and foreign trade.

Hall said the Democratic committee apparently felt that the "almost unanimous favorable reaction" from Democrats in Congress to Mr. Eisenhower's message was "a mistake." He said those reactions were "honest ones."

"Now comes the Democrat national committee effort to change the tune to a political dirge," he said. "It will be interesting to see in the coming months whether the Democrat members follow the dictates of their own consciences or the bidding of their national committee."

Gospel Singers Set Program In Monroe, Jan. 14

The Blackwood Bros. and Statesmen quartets are to entertain lovers of Gospel song in the Monroe area once again, states a representative of the Twin City Singing Convention.

Under the auspices of the convention, the two groups will appear at the Neville High School auditorium, Friday, January 14 at 7:45 p.m.

These two singing organizations, traveling the southern states as well as the eastern and northern states as a team, devote their time to the singing of Gospel songs.

Recently, the group appeared in two of the larger and first churches of Detroit, Mich., where they sang for a week revival.

Both quartets, in the recent months have taken first place on Arthur Godfrey's talent show in New York.

Winnie Blackwood, son of the late R. W. Blackwood, is expected to appear on the program with the two quartets. During the past months he has made personal appearances and broadcast over the radio, and has gathered quite a listening audience.

It has been stated many times by singers and lovers of Gospel song, that these two groups' renditions of songs bring a wonderful message because of the spirit in which they are presented.

Congress Cold To Amendment Of Immigration Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Congress appeared likely today to turn a deaf ear to President Eisenhower's renewed call for correction of "injustices" in the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

The law, overhauling the immigration and naturalization laws, was passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto and has been a continuing subject of controversy. There is nothing now, however, to indicate any substantial change in congressional sentiment.

Sen. Watkins of Utah, senior Republican member of the Senate immigration subcommittee, said that before deciding whether to sponsor any administration amendments he would want to confer with the Justice Department and Immigration Service to find out just what they have in mind.

"I'm not averse to some liberalizing changes to make the law work smoother," he said, "but I doubt if there is sentiment in Congress to bring about changes in the fundamental philosophy of the Act."

Watkins, who was chairman of the Immigration subcommittee in the last Congress, voted to override Truman's veto. He is expected to be succeeded as chairman by Sen. Kilgore (D-WVa), who also will be head of the parent Judiciary Committee in the new Congress.

While Kilgore opposed the McCarran-Walter Act and voted to sustain Truman's veto, the Judiciary Committee as a whole hasn't shown any disposition to revise it.

The chairman of the Immigration subcommittee in the House will be Rep. Walter (D-Pa), the original cosponsor of the 1952 Act with the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev).

Both Walter and McCarran denied there was any racial or religious discrimination in the Act and defended it against criticism that it worked undue hardships on immigrants.

A chief item of contention has been the law's retention of the national origins quota system of immigration. This is based on the makeup of the U.S. population in 1920 and the effect is to give by far the largest immigration quotas to northern European countries.

Draft Extension Given Priority By House Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) said today the House Armed Services Committee will consider first a straight four-year extension of the present draft law, and delay until later action on a proposal to train 17-year-olds for reserve assignments.

Vinson, incoming chairman of the group, and Rep. Short (R-Mo), whom he will replace when the Democrats organize the new Congress, discussed the Defense Department's proposed legislative program with Secretary Wilson and other officials at the Pentagon.

Vinson said agreement was reached that the full committee take up the draft extension, while special subcommittees begin studies of proposals for a military pay raise and for strengthening the reserve forces. The present draft law is due to expire June 30.

Other proposals reportedly discussed included:

1. A possible new security program for the armed services and defense industries.

2. A new military housing program, which would provide between 27,000 and 30,000 new units a year for military personnel.

3. A Navy proposal for a new law which would wipe out miscellaneous authorizations for new ships, many not now wanted, and substitute a program covering an up to date fleet.

Vinson said Wilson and the joint chiefs of staff will brief the committee thoroughly on "the national defense situation" at a hearing to be held sometime after Jan. 20. He said Wilson would testify publicly, and non-security information offered by the military chieftains also would be given at an open session.

Short said Wilson reported he thought security in the armed services and defense industries now is "pretty well under control" but that some legislative proposals would be made. Short gave no details.

In the past there have been indications that a security program was being formulated for defense industries to tighten surveillance over them. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has demanded stronger attempts to weed out what he says is Communist influence in defense plants.

Short said Wilson told the congressmen he was convinced proposed manpower cuts in the armed services would not affect national security. The new cutback calls for a reduction to about 2,850,000 by mid-1956, a cut of 368,000.

The Missouri congressman quoted Wilson that he "never put balancing the budget over the security of the country." He said Wilson reported the reduction resulted from long and careful study between Pentagon civilian officials, and the joint chiefs of staff in consultation with the President.

Some Democrats have questioned sharply a proposed reduction in Army, Navy and Marine personnel in a budget nearly half of which would be devoted to the Air Force, for buying aircraft and antiair defense.

The shipbuilding plan which the Navy is asking would cancel large numbers of authorizations already approved and propose a similar tonnage of newer ships.

Congress will be asked to rewrite a maze of laws into new broad legislation authorizing a 10 million-ton Navy.

DR. HENRY SAGESER

Dr. H. Sageser Writes Vocational Guidance Article

Dr. Henry Sageser of the Northeast State education faculty is the author of an article on 'Vocational Guidance for the Small High School," which will be published in March. It will appear in the Personnel and Guidance Journal, a professional magazine published monthly.

Information for the work is based on a pilot study which is in its second year of performance at Calhoun High School. The state supervisor of guidance services chose the school with a senior class of 21 and 30 members respectively for the two-year period. She also obtained the cooperation of the parish superintendent of schools, principal of the high school, State Employment Service and Northeast State.

Purpose of the project was to pioneer the way for vocational guidance to reach small high schools in Louisiana.

Attention was given to evolving such a program as a unit of study integrated within the regular school plan of work.

The social science teacher arranged a unit in modern vocations and administered the Kuder Preference Record Test. Its interpretation led to a class discussion, followed by a study of occupations that interested members of the class.

Exporing library resources preceded a conference with Dr. Sageser, vocational guidance counselor of Northeast, who talked to the group at their school.

Also holding sessions with the class were representatives of the Monroe office, Louisiana State Employment, who discussed job opportunities in the parish, apprenticeship training, services of the office, plus specfic consideration of indivdual needs of the class.

Field trips were made to Northeast State and the Employment Office. Vocational guidance and aptitude tests given at the latter place were interpreted for the students.

Evaluatng the guidance project at the Calhoun High School was attempted by means of a questionnaire, essay reports and a follow-up check of placement.

Students included in their essays the main points of the program such as the Kuder Test, field trip and opportunity to do something practical about securing employment. Chief adverse criticisms of the students were that such guidance had not been available to them before their senior year, that both boys and girls were given the same program, that the study was limited to seniors.

Administrators of the program plan to utilize more local talent to enrich the experience of students. They also hope to give more emphasis to occupations which are being practiced within the environment which the students know.

All who participated in the vocatonal guidance study at Calhoun have become enthusiastic about continuing it and disseminating its value throughout the state, Dr. Sageser said. The group considers that the plan can be stimulating and helpful to graduating seniors.

Fate Of Presbyterian Merger Proposal To Be Decided This Month

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 8 (AP)—The fate of the proposed merger of the three major branches of the Presbyterian Church will be decided this month. Sixteen years of preparation will be at stake.

Southern leaders of the church issued divergent statements today as Presbyteries prepared to decide the question.

The statements were calm outlines of their reasons for their respective stands.

One North Carolina churchman, Dr. Henry B. Dendy of Weaverville flatly predicted that the proposal would be defeated by the southern church in the next two weeks.

Dr. Dendy is secretary of the Assn. for the Preservation and Continuation of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

The clergyman based his prediction on an 11-1 vote against union by Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. (southern branch) who have gone on record thus far.

Only 11 more negative votes are needed to defeat merger with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. (northern branch) and the United Presbyterian Church of North America, Dendy noted.

"We'll get those in the next two weeks," he said.

Under the plan of union, three-fourths of the southern church's 35 Presbyteries must approve the proposal for the measure to be sent on to the denomination's general assembly.

The pro-union statements came from nine laymen of the church in North Carolina.

Arch B. Taylor, a tobacco manufacturer and an elder in a Winston-Salem Presbyterian Church, said he favored union because "it is the Christian way" and "as a deacon and now as an elder I promised to study the peace, unity, edification and purity of the church.

"Though I am by birth and location a Southerner, I am also a loyal American. I believe if 48 states can exist as a republic and live under a common constitution, at least three Presbyterian bodies ought to be able to do the same."

Signatories to the anti-union statement included Dr. Marc C. Weersing, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, Jackson, Miss; Dr. W. F. Mansell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Vicksburg, Miss; Dr. A. W. Dick, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Memphis, Tenn; Judge D. H. Edington, an elder in a Mobile, Ala. church; and Dr. McFerran Crowe, president of Belhaven College, Jackson, Miss.

Demo Attack On Ike's Message Is Answered By GOP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—UP—Republican leaders charged the Democratic national committee Saturday with "irresponsible" efforts to repudiate and undermine pledges of Democratic congressional leaders to cooperate with President Eisenhower.

These attacks on the Democratic national headquarters came from GOP national chairman Leonard W. Hall, chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Republican Policy committee, and House GOP whip Leslie C. Arends.

They were replying to the Democratic national committee's analysis of Mr. Eisenhower's legislative program as it was laid before Congress in his state of the union message Thursday.

This analysis, distributed to Democrats in Congress on a confidential basis and later made public, criticized or raised questions about administration proposals on a score if counts including defense, foreign aid, agriculture and foreign trade.

Hall said the Democratic committee apparently felt that the "almost unanimous favorable reaction" from Democrats in Congress to Mr. Eisenhower's mesage was "a mistake." He said those reactions were "honest ones."

"Now comes the Democrat national committee effort to change the tune to a political dirge," he said. "It will be interesting to see in the coming months whether the Democrat members follow the dictates of their own consciences or the bidding of their national committee."

Gospel Singers Set Program In Monroe, Jan. 14

The Blackwood Bros. and Statesmen quartets are to entertain lovers of Gospel song in the Monroe area once again, states a representative of the Twin City Singing Convention.

Under the auspices of the convention, the two groups will appear at the Neville High School auditorium, Friday, January 14 at 7:45 p.m.

These two singing organizations, traveling the southern states as well as the eastern and northern states as a team, devote their time to the singing of Gospel songs.

Recently, the group appeared in two of the larger and first churches of Detroit, Mich., where they sang for a week revival.

Both quartets, in the recent months have taken first place on Arthur Godfrey's talent show in New York.

Winnie Blackwood, son of the late R. W. Blackwood, is expected to appear on the program with the two quartets. During the past months he has made personal appearances and broadcast over the radio, and has gathered quite a listening audience.

It has been stated many times by singers and lovers of Gospel song, that these two groups' renditions of songs bring a wonderful message because of the spirit in which they are presented.

Averett - Tait Wedding Is Solemnized In Jonesboro

An event of interest during the holiday season was the wedding Wednesday afternoon of Miss Freida Margaret Tait, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Durwood Tait, and the Reverend Clyde Wesley Averett son of Mrs. Whitfield P. McCain and the late Clyde Clifton Averett of West Monroe.

The Rev. John S. Hurt, pastor, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony, which took place at four o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Jonesboro. Vows were spoken before an altar decorated with white gladioli and greenery. The setting was illuminated by white candles in floor candelabra.

Miss Janice Irvn, at the organ, rendered a program of pre - nuptial music while the guests were being seated, and throughout the ceremony. She also accompanied Mrs. Jane Ledbetter who sang "Because," "I Love Thee," and the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used at the beginning and end of the ceremony.

Candles were lighted by Miss Enid Barr of Jonesboro and Miss Margaret James of Minden, young cousins of the bride. Their full length dresses were identically fashioned of bonnie blue nylon net over taffeta.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Edwin Barr, of Jonesboro, cousin of the bride, who was gowned in gray-peacock irridescent taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a wide portrait neckline, and the full skirt fell gracefully in deep unpressed peats.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. James McPherson of Baton Rouge, and Mrs. Harry L. Jones of Jonesboro, wore identical gowns of copenhagen blue nylon net over taffeta. The attendants wore small hats of white velvet and carried shirred white velvet muffs adorned with gardenias nestled in ruffles of blue net.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a redingote of white chantilly lace over permanently pleated nylon tulle and satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a small stand-up collar, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and was closed to the waist with tiny covered buttons. The princess style of the redingote extended to form a chapel train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was attached to a cap of lace styled in keeping with her gown. A single string a pearls, a gift from the groom, was her only jewelry. Her bouquet, a white orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley, was carried on a white Bible.

The Rev. Ray Prager of Monroe attended the groom as best man, and the ushers were Harold M. Jones, Jr., Denson Foster, J. G. Buckley, and Waymon Mott.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tait wore a dress of moss green peau de soie, with black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds. The mother of the groom chose a dress of navy blue crepe and a corsage of red rosebuds was pinned to her shoulder.

Immediately following the exchange of vowes, Mr. and Mrs. Tait were hosts at a reception held in the church parlor. The bride and bridegroom stood to receive with their mothers and feminine members of the wedding party.

The bride placed her bouquet on a table where Mrs. William R. McDonald and Mrs. Harold R. Moore invted the guests to sign the register.

The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of white stock and carnations, flanked by tall tapers in crystal holders. The three - tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the table and the crystal punch bowl at the other.

Mrs. Mary Rosamond and Mrs. Frank Bogard presided at the punch service, and Mrs. Thomas F. Taylor and Mrs. Cecil H. Tait, aunts of the bride, served the wedding confection. They were assisted by Mrs. William Douglas, sister of the groom. Others assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. David James of Minden, Mrs. A. V. Tait, Jr., of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Carl C. Williams of Ruston.

Later in the evening when the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a Lilli Ann suit of silk and mohair in tones of green, with a small green and white flower hat, white doe skin gloves and the orchid from her bouquet. Black shoes and bag completed her ensemble.

Following the wedding trip, Rev. and Mrs. Averett will be at home in Jonesboro.

Makes Over Golf Course

CONCORD, N. H. — Somebody went out on the municipal golf course here to practice his swing at night — with an axe.

And now, a hazard that plagued golfers for years is gone.

Many a hacker had cussed the pine tree to the right of and a few yards in front of the fifth tee. Thousands of drives had richocheted off the pine.

That is, until an unknown golfer came back to the course after dark and apparently decided to "get revenge" for poor scores. He hacked down the tree.

Wonder what his scorecard shows these days?

Wedding Vows Are Pledged By Miss Carroll Ann Smith

Miss Carroll Ann Smith and Lieutenant Joe Sidney Carter exchanged wedding vows in a beautiful candle light ceremony at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, December 30, at The First Baptist Church in Oak Ridge. The Reverend Percy Emanuel of Grayson performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Littleton Smith of Oak Ridge. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Carter of Oak Ridge.

Potted pine trees formed a background of greenery for an elevated arch of cathedral candles which extended across the front of the church. Candles were at each window and along the chancel rail. White gladioli and stock were placed in baskets along the alter, and entwined with the greenery on the arch under which the couple stood while plighting their troth.

Miss Gloria Carroll, cousin of the bride, presented a program of nuptial music prior to the ceremony. She accompanied Miss Betty Jo Hicks who sang "Stll As the Night' by Bohn, 'I Love Thee" by Greig, and at the close of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" by Marlotte.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a traditional wedding gown of ivory satin with a high neckline fashioned with a yoke of illusion embroidered in seed pearls and opulence sequins. The tight fitting bodice was fastened with a row of tiny buttons from neckline to below the waist. The long sleeves came to a point over her hands. The skirt was made full by pleats in front and extended into a chapel length train. She wore a headdress of orange blossoms to which was attached a face veil and full length veil of illusion edged in Chantilly lace. Her bouquet was of white feathered carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Elizabeth Conger, the bride's maid of honor, was attired in a cotillion blue dress of net over taffeta with taffeta applique on the flamboyant over skirt. Her head dress was fashioned of net edged in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations and stock with blue pom poms and silver leaves.

The bridesmaids, Miss Polly Riley, Miss Diane Ducote, Miss Patsy Triche, Miss Cecile Leblanc and Miss Diana Jane Smith, sister of the bride, wore identical dresses, replicas of that of the maid of honor. Their bouquets were solid white.

Two young cousins of the bride, Miss Martha Jane Smith and George B. Smith, were in attendance. The flower girl was a miniature of the bridesmaids and carried a small basket of flowers. George carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Clarke M. Williams served as best man. Groomsmen were Dr. J. L. Smith, uncle of the bride, George B. Franklin, Francis V. Jordan, H. A. Pipes, Jr., and Emmett M. Rolfe.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion an ice blue satin with brocaded yoke of satin and net. She wore a hat of irridescent sequins and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Carter, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in a pink lace model with a pink satin hat and orchid corsage.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Arrangements of white glads, stock and pom poms were placed at vantage points in the reception rooms.

The bride's table was overlaid with an embroidered linen cloth. Centering the table was a feathery arrangement of white flowers. At one end was a three tiered wedding cake topped with a wedding bell. At the other end was an early American punch bowl. Blue candles in three branched candelabra were also placed on the table and bordered with blue maline ruching.

Three of tre bride's aunts, Mrs. J. L. Smith, Jr., Mrs. W. B. Smith and Mrs. A. B. Carroll, served the punch and wedding cake. Mrs. R. C. Hathcox, cousin of the groom, Miss Ann Files and Miss Martha Ann Loughridge assisted in serving.

Presiding at the bride's register was Mrs. A. D. Montgomery, sister of the bridegroom.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, the bride changed to a black and gold wool tweed suit with black velvet collar, and black velvet accessories. She wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Oak Ridge High School. She attended Louisiana Tech and Louisiana State University where she is a member of Kap-Delta sorority. The groom graduated from Louisiana Tech.

The couple will reside in Spokane, Wash., where Lt. Carter is stationed with the Air Force.

Out of town guests included Mrs. J. L. Smith, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith, Martha Jane and Pearman, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Tatum, Mrs. Robert Colvin, Mrs. E. B. Tatum, and Mrs. Olive Williams of Dubach.

Girl Scout News

With the holidays behind and regular routine begun again, most troops are ready to plan activities for the next few months, including, of course, Girl Scout Week, cookie sale, cookouts and overnight camping. Some are already planning for day camping and established camping next summer.

One of the Twin Cities' most active troops, Troop 31, St. Paschal's School, West Monroe, is planning for an overnight at Pine Wood soon. Christmas was a busy time for these girls, who included thoughtfulness of others as well as fun for themselves in their plan. With a troop gift they were able to bring cheer into the life of an elderly person who was ill. As for themselves, they had a wonderful party at the Bancroft Camp. Parents came, too, and joined in the fun, with games, dancing and exchange of gifts.

At troop meetings the girls have enjoyed working on the cook badge. They are fortunate in that they meet in the school cafeteria and have the use of kitchen facilities. One of the requirements of the badge, for example, is that the girls make cocoa with three kinds of milk and decide which they like best. Cocoa tastes mighty good after school, so we venture to say that the girls seldom reach a decision.

In the field of international friendship the girls have collected articles for a layette, which they will send to Greece. My Troop, housekeeper, and tree badges are others that the girls are working on. The girls made sequin-trimmed Christmas candles for their mothers, gifts which were greatly appreciated.

Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. Ragland. Serving on the troop committee are Mr. Harry Martin, Mrs. Harry Hays, and Mrs. J. L. Norris. Notice the "Mr. and Mrs." The Martins are parents of five daughters, four of Scout age. We venture to say that theirs is the only family in the Twin Cities with four daughters active in scouting — Nancy and Mary in Troop 31, Kathy and Helen in Brownie Troop 15.

Also of interest is the fact the Charles F. Laws have three daughters in the troop — Horton, Nell, and Carolyn. Registered in the troop are: Jocelyn Brady, Karen Brady, Mary Sue Barnes, Virginia Feeback, Shirley Jolissaint, Nell Laws, Horton Laws, Carolyn Laws, Eileen LeBlanc, Rosary LeMoine, Stephanie Menuet, Nancy Martin, Mary Jean Martin, Sandra Peters, Mary Sandlin, Sue Wellerman, Eileen Emmons, Ann Ragland, Harriet Hays and Linda Williams.

Troop 21, Mrs. Raymond Boyd, leader, received a thank-you letter from Charity Hospital for the tray favors sent at Christmas, as did the girls planning board. The two groups made angels, Christmas trees, and clowns, which were used to brighten the patients' trays during the Christmas season.

Cook wide noodles and drain; mix butter or margarine, canned minced clams and canned mushrooms. Heat the clams and mushrooms together in the liquid from the cans before adding to the buttered noodles; but be careful not to boil or the clams will be tough.

Dice that small amount of leftover ham and add it to a can of baked beans.

Averett - Tait Wedding Is Solemnized In Jonesboro

An event of interest during the holiday season was the wedding Wednesday afternoon of Miss Freida Margaret Tait, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Durwood Tait, and the Reverend Clyde Wesley Averett son of Mrs. Whitfield P. McCain and the late Clyde Clifton Averett of West Monroe.

The Rev. John S. Hurt, pastor, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony, which took place at four o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Jonesboro. Vows were spoken before an altar decorated with white gladioli and greenery. The setting was illuminated by white candles in floor candelabra.

Miss Janice Irvn, at the organ, rendered a program of pre-nuptial music while the guests were being seated, and throughout the ceremony. She also accompanied Mrs. Jane Ledbetter who sang "Because," "I Love Thee," and the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used at the beginning and end of the ceremony.

Candles were lighted by Miss Enid Barr of Jonesboro and Miss Margaret James of Minden, young cousins of the bride. Their full length dresses were identically fashioned of bonnie blue nylon net over taffeta.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Edwin Barr, of Jonesboro, cousin of the bride, who was gowned in gray-peacock irridescent taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a wide portrait neckline, and the full skirt fell gracefully in deep unpressed peats.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. James McPherson of Baton Rouge, and Mrs. Harry L. Jones of Jonesboro, wore identical gowns of copenhagen blue nylon net over taffeta. The attendants wore small hats of white velvet and carried shirred white velvet muffs adorned with gardenias nestled in ruffles of blue net.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a redingote of white chantilly lace over permanently pleated nylon tulle and satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a small stand-up collar, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and was closed to the waist with tiny covered buttons. The princess style of the redingote extended to form a chapel train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was attached to a cap of lace styled in keeping with her gown. A single string a pearls, a gift from the groom, was her only jewelry. Her bouquet, a white orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley, was carried on a white Bible.

The Rev. Ray Prager of Monroe attended the groom as best man, and the ushers were Harold M. Jones, Jr., Denson Foster, J. G. Buckley, and Waymon Mott.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tait wore a dress of moss green peau de soie, with black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds. The mother of the groom chose a dress of navy blue crepe and a corsage of red rosebuds was pinned to her shoulder.

Immediately following the exchange of vowes, Mr. and Mrs. Tait were hosts at a reception held in the church parlor. The bride and bridegroom stood to receive with their mothers and feminine members of the wedding party.

The bride placed her bouquet on a table where Mrs. William R. McDonald and Mrs. Harold R. Moore invted the guests to sign the register.

The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of white stock and carnations, flanked by tall tapers in crystal holders. The three-tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the table and the crystal punch bowl at the other.

Mrs. Mary Rosamond and Mrs. Frank Bogard presided at the punch service, and Mrs. Thomas F. Taylor and Mrs. Cecil H. Tait, aunts of the bride, served the wedding confection. They were assisted by Mrs. William Douglas, sister of the groom. Others assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. David James of Minden, Mrs. A. V. Tait, Jr., of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Carl C. Williams of Ruston.

Later in the evening when the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a Lilli Ann suit of silk and mohair in tones of green, with a small green and white flower hat, white doe skin gloves and the orchid from her bouquet. Black shoes and bag completed her ensemble.

Following the wedding trip, Rev. and Mrs. Averett will be at home in Jonesboro.

Rehearsal Supper

On Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Dino A. Alberti, assisted by Mrs. John A. Lintott and Mrs. Mary Rosamond, were hosts at a rehearsal supper for the Tait-Averett wedding party.

One of the most beautiful weddinge of the early winter season was that of Miss Sara Kathryn Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Miller, and Mr. William T. Turner, Jr., Owensboro, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Turner, Sr., West Monroe, La., which was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the Carrollton Methodist Church in Carrollton, Ky.

The Rev. I. J. Scudder, pastor officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white stocks, white snapdragons, palms and salal, interspersed with lighted white candles in candelabra. Candles and greens decorated the church windows.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. R. L. Booth, organist, and Mrs. J. Gex Williams, who sang "At Dawning," "Oh Day of Golden Promise," and at the conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a lovely creation of chantilly lace over satin. fashioned with a fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt worn over hoops ended in a chapel train. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an all - white cascade bouquet of angel feathers, lacelon and gladiola flowerets, centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Edward Mullikin, Owensboro, matron of honor, and Miss Julia Mullikin, Cincinnati, bridesmaid, were gowned alike in pale green crystalet with darker green velvet trim. They wore matching headpieces of crystalet and velvet and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations, red roses, and Christmas green satin streamers.

The flower girl, Dorothy Rouse, Rouse, wore a miniature of the attendants' gowns and carried a basket and small colonial bouquet.

Mr. Edward Mullikin served Mr. Turner as best man. Ushers were Hugh Sullivan and Richard McCully, of Owensboro, James R. Burdine of Houston, Texas, and Dr. L. L. Rouse.

Mrs. Miller, mother of the bride, wore a powder blue crepe dress, pale rose velvet hat and black accessories. Mrs. Turner, the groom's mother, was gowned in light blue with matching accessories. Each wore a lavender orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, with Miss Mildred Mosgrove presiding at the punch bowl and Mrs. J. H. Wetherill serving the cake. Mrs. R. L. Booth, organist, and Mrs. John Stephens, violinist, provided a background of music.

The couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and en route home will visit his parents at West Monroe, La. For traveling the bride wore a cranberry wool suit and black accessories. A hat and scarf of multi - colored metallic completed her ensemble. Her corsage was a white orchid.

MR. AND MRS. EMORY R. AMBROSE

Ambrose - Smith Wedding Is Solemnized During Holidays

Miss Nellie Joyce Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Smith of Choudrant, became the bride of Emory R. Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Ambrose, in a beautiful double ring ceremony at four o'clock in the afternoon at the Beulah Methodist Church. The Rev. R. H. Hearne performed the nuptial vows.

The church was decorated with a background of southern smilax and baskets of white mums. The couple stood under an arch illuminated by white tapers in wrought-iron candelabra.

Miss Charlotte Foster presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied Miss Rebecca Foster who sang "Always," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white wedding gown with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace and Peter Pan collar. Long tight sleeves came to points over her wrist. The bouffant skirt featured lace which came to points over the skirt of white tulle and taffeta. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a headdress of lace sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white split carnations with lily of the valley atop a white Bible.

Miss Lula Kate Ball served the bride as maid of honor. She was gowned in a light blue taffeta model with a rounded neckline trimmed in seed pearls. Her bouquet was of rose - colored split carnations. Matching carnations and net formed her headdress.

Miss Anna Ruth Patterson, cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. Her gown was of pink taffeta and matched the honor attendant. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Shirley Norris, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a duplicate of the maid of honor's gown and carried a white bouquet.

Billy Joe Smith served the bridegroom as best man. Eugene Norris was ring bearer.

Groomsmen and ushers were Roland Emory, James Smith and Eddie Ray Hammons.

The bride's mother was wearing a navy blue taffeta dress with navy and white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. Ambrose, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a navy crepe dress with navy and write accessories complemented by white carnations.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed to a royal blue wool dress trimmed in black velvet with black accessories and white carnations.

They will make their home in Choudrant.

The bride is a graduate of Choudrant High School. Mr. Ambrose also graduated from Choudrant High School.

Out - of - town guests at the wedding were: M-Sgt. and Mrs. Howard J. Smith and Howie of Barksdale Field; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hulin and Miss Barbara Hulin of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Frantom of West Monroe; Billy Joe Smith of Newport, R. I.; Miss Charlotte Foster of Pineville; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hammons of Monroe; Mrs. Clarence Ford and Lula Kate of West Monroe; Jerry Johnson of Sterlington; Helen Pensell of Iowa.

Rehearsal Supper

A party followed the rehearsal of the Ambrose - Smith wedding in the home of Mrs. Malcolm Norris with Mrs. Clifford Foster as co-hostess.

The reception rooms were artistically decorated with seasonal arrangements.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over green and had as its centerpiece an arrangement of silvered pine and magnolia boughs interspersed with milti - colored balls. Flanking the arrangement were white tapers in crystal holders.

Miss Glenda Norris and Miss Charlotte Foster presided at the punch service.

Guests were: Nellie Joyce Smith, Emory Ambrose, Billy Joe Smith, Lela Kate Ball, Anna Ruth Patterson, Pat Emory, James Smith, Eddy Ray Hammons, Eugene and Srirley Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Smith, Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Hearne, Glenda and Mickey Norris, Charlotte and Rebecca Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Norris.

News From The Public Library

The gain in circulation over 1953 was made at two branches, Monroe and the Bookmobile. In Monroe, 3600 more books were circulated in 1954 than in 1953. On the Bookmobile, the gain was even larger, amounting to 5,310. In West Monroe the drop amounted to only 900 books, but at Carver there was a loss of 3,500 in circulation. Because of the slight use of the Carver branch, it was decided by the Board of Control to reduce the hours when the branch will be open. It is not economical to operate a branch full time when the circulation is so small. If the colored people of the community want their branch open full time, they will have to use it more than they have the past year.

On January 1 the book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library consisted of 38,896 books. During the year a total of 3,500 new books were added to the library collection and 991 were removed, making a total of 41,405 books now in the library collection. Of the 991 books removed only 245 were lost, when you consider that 291,628 books went in and out of the library, a loss of 245 is very small.

Other items of the annual reports are interesting. We answered during the 12 months period a total of 4,326 reference questions. The library was open 306 days during the year and the entire service cost the taxpayers of Ouachita parish an average of 57 cents per capita.

Are you a patron of your public library? If not, make a new year's resolution to use its services.

The year 1954 was another busy year for the Ouachita Parish Public Library. During the 12 months the library loaned to the people of the parish a total of 291,628 books. This is a gain of 4,500 over the previous year. This is a very fine gain considering the fact that people have had more distractions than ever before to keep them from reading. The circulation by branches is interesting. The figures are: Monroe, Adult, 49,251, Juvenile, 59,155; total, 108,406.

Bookmobile, Adult, 29,333, Juvenile, 90,626, total, 119,959.

Carver, Adult, 2,466, Juvenile, 6,389, total, 8,855.

Total, Adult, 106,553, Juvenile, 185,075, total, 291,628.

Lets' analyze these figures. In Monroe and West Monroe, the adult and juvenile circulation figures are fairly even. On the Bookmobile the juvenile circulation far outranks the adult, because we visit the rural schools of the parish. At the Carver branch the juvenile circulation was also larger than the adult. Another observation to be drawn from these figures is that almost one-half of the adult books checked out in the parish were checked out at the Monroe branch, while one-half of the juvenile books were checked out on the Bookmobile.

Terry Cloth Has Become Glamour Fabric

NEW YORK — The terry robe, always a favorite because of its wearability has gone sophisticated.

New colors and patterns as well as silhouettes have been adopted so that you can choose a terry lounger in anything from plain white to pin-stripe or leopard print.

Among the new terry styles are the "shirt tail" robe which is man-tailored, slim cut, and buttoned at the front; a pin-stripe duster with white collar, cuffs and pockets; another duster with deep, contrasting yoke and push - up sleeves; and a leopard print lounging suit.

There's even one terry duster dress cut on the lines of a sheath, with stand - away collar and goldtone buttons and belt.

Adaptations of the Japanese kimono also are shown, with colorful silk or cotton sash. Even the popular terry "wraparong"—which serves as both towel and robe after the bath — has been glamorized. New versions are rose - printed, candy-striped, or bound in bright shades.

MR. AND MRS. EMORY R. AMBROSE

Ambrose - Smith Wedding Is Solemnized During Holidays

Miss Nellie Joyce Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Smith of Choudrant, became the bride of Emory R. Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Ambrose, in a beautiful double ring ceremony at four o'clock in the afternoon at the Beulah Methodist Church. The Rev. R. H. Hearne performed the nuptial vows.

The church was decorated with a background of southern smilax and baskets of white mums. The couple stood under an arch illuminated by white tapers in wrought-iron candelabra.

Miss Charlotte Foster presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied Miss Rebecca Foster who sang "Always," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

.Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white wedding gown with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace and Peter Pan collar. Long tight sleeves came to points over her wrist. The bouffant skirt featured lace which came to points over the skirt of white tulle and taffeta. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a headdress of lace sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white split carnations with lily of the valley atop a white Bible.

Miss Lula Kate Ball served the bride as maid of honor. She was gowned in a light blue taffeta model with a rounded neckline trimmed in seed pearls. Her bouquet was of rose - colored split carnations. Matching carnations and net formed her headdress.

Miss Anna Ruth Patterson, cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. Her gown was of pink taffeta and matched the honor attendant. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Shirley Norris, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a duplicate of the maid of honor's gown and carried a white bouquet.

Groomsmen and ushers were Roland Emory, James Smith and Eddie Ray Hammons.

The bride's mother was wearing a navy blue taffeta dress with navy and white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. Ambrose, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a navy crepe dress with navy and write accessories complemented by white carnations.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed to a royal blue wool dress trimmed in black velvet with black accessories and white carnations.

They will make their home in Choudrant.

The bride is a graduate of Choudrant High School. Mr. Ambrose also graduated from Choudrant High School.

Out - of - town guests at the wedding were: M.-Sgt. and Mrs. Howard J. Smith and Howie of Barksdale Field; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rehearsal Supper

A party followed the rehearsal of the Ambrose - Smith wedding in the home of Mrs. Malcolm Norris with Mrs. Clifford Foster as co-hostess.

The reception rooms were artistically decorated with seasonal arrangements.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over green and had as its centerpiece an arrangement of silvered pine and magnolia boughs interspersed with milti - colored balls. Flanking the arrangement were white tapers in crystal holders.

Miss Glenda Norris and Miss Charlotte Foster presided at the punch service.

Guests were: Nellie Joyce Smith, Emory Ambrose, Billy Joe Smith, Lula Kate Ball, Anna Ruth Patterson, Pat Emory, James Smith, Eddy Ray Hammons, Eugene and Sririey Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Smith, Rev. and Mrs. R. News From The Public Library

The gain in circulation over 1953 was made at two branches, Monroe and the Bookmobile. In Monroe, 3600 more books were circulated in 1954 than in 1953. On the Bookmobile, the gain was even larger, amounting to 5,310. In West Monroe the drop amounted to only 900 books, but at Carver there was a loss of 3,500 in circulation. Because of the slight use of the Carver branch, it was decided by the Board of Control to reduce the hours when the branch will be open. It is not economical to operate a branch full time when the circulation is so small. If the colored people of the community want their branch open full time, they will have to use it more than they have the past year.

On January 1 the book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library consisted of 38,896 books. During the year a total of 3,500 new books were added to the library collection and 991 were removed, making a total of 41,405 books now in the library collection. Of the 991 books removed only 245 were lost, when you consider that 291,628 books went in and out of the library, a loss of 245 is very small.

Other items of the annual reports are interesting. We answered during the 12 months period a total of 4,326 reference questions. The library was open 306 days during the year and the entire service cost the taxpayers of Ouachita parish an average of 57 cents per capita.

Are you a patron of your public library? If not, make a new year's resolution to use its services.

The year 1954 was another busy year for the Ouachita Parish Public Library. During the 12 months the library loaned to the people of the parish a total of 291,628 books. This is a gain of 4,500 over the previous year. This is a very fine gain considering the fact that people have had more distractions than ever before to keep them from reading. The circulation by branches is interesting. The figures are: Monroe, Adult, 49,251, Juvenile, 59,155; total, 108,406.

West Monroe, Adult, 25,503, Juvenile, 28,905, total, 54,408.

Bookmobile, Adult, 29,333, Juvenile, 90,626, total, 119,959.

Carver, Adult, 2,466, Juvenile, 6,389, total, 8,855.

Total, Adult, 106,553, Juvenile, 185,075, total, 291,628.

Lets' analyze these figures. In Monroe and West Monroe, the adult and juvenile circulation figures are fairly even. On the Bookmobile the juvenile circulation far outranks the adult, because we visit the rural schools of the parish. At the Carver branch the juvenile circulation was also larger than the adult. Another observation to be drawn from these figures is that almost one-half of the adult books checked out in the parish were checked out at the Monroe branch, while one-half of the juvenile books were checked out on the Bookmobile.

Terry Cloth Has Become Glamour Fabric

NEW YORK — The terry robe, always a favorite because of its wearability has gone sophisticated.

New colors and patterns as well as silhouettes have been adopted so that you can choose a terry lounger in anything from plain white to pin-stripe or leopard print.

Among the new terry styles are the "shirt tail" robe which is man-tailored, slim cut, and buttoned at the front; a pin-stripe duster with white collar, cuffs and pockets; another duster with deep, contrasting yoke and push - up sleeves; and a leopard print lounging suit.

There's even one terry duster dress cut on the lines of a sheath, with stand - away collar and goldtone buttons and belt.

Adaptations of the Japanese kimono also are shown, with colorful silk or cotton sash. Even the popular terry "wraparong"—which serves as both towel and robe after the bath — has been glamorized. New versions are rose - printed, candy-striped, or bound in bright shades.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

Well, folks, here we are to start the new year with a new production. Everyone is excitedly talking about "Affairs of State," the highly successful Broadway comedy that ran for more than 660 performances. Tryouts have been going on all week, and Director Thom Feuerstein has been talking to some very fine talent, but as yet is not ready to announce the complete cast. We'd like to mention a few of the fine people who have been visiting the playhouse this week: Joan Johnston, Aileen Shirley, Dorothy Holt, Barbara Sheppard, Shady Wall, Herman Schwarts, Jr., Russel Brown, Charles Wilhite, Julius Cahn, Lealis Hale, Phil Saragusa, Jerry Smith, Gerry and Tavie Kenny, Margaret Buquoi, Joanne Genung, Art Johnson, Lamar Mulligan, Bob Canedo, Anne Hinton and Evelyn Stewart . . . with apologies to those we've overlooked.

"Affairs of State" promises to be the funniest show to hit the boards of our Little Theatre in many a moon. The lines are packed with both wisdom and humor, and there was many a chuckle at tryouts when our former President Harry's name appeared in the lines.

There is very little trace left of the highly successful, "Gently Does It" production, and work has already begun on the setting for the new play. Bill and Aletha Gregory have really dug in and they agree with Director Feuerstein that this will be the prettiest set yet. In this new setting, the trend is away from the classical design and will be replaced with modern lines.

Well, "the show must go on" and we hear rehearsal got underway Friday night with a tentative cast. Again, so 'tis said, that familiar shingle "Closed Rehearsal" was posted (husbands and wives of cast and crew excepted.) Far be it from us to trespass, so we'll wait. Patience is a virtue, they say, but we being the virtuous souls we are will abide and anticipate the finished product. Bet we'll be glad we did, cause "Affairs of State" will be worth waiting for. But you nice people with a love for thespian "doings" don't let that little sign stop you. The welcome mat is always out for potential crew workers. Your help on the set, wardrobe, etc., will be welcomed with open arms!

CHATTER AROUND TOWN . . . Welcome home to Frank Breese, a former president of Little Theatre. Frank has spent the past two and a half months in Boston. Nice to see you back in town, Frank . . . We hear that Little Theatre star, Jim Reynolds, is now living in Delaware. For those who wish to drop him a line, his address is: Jim Reynolds, 120 East 36th St., Wilmington, Delaware . . . We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to Marion Fisher (Freda of "Gently Does It") whose mother, Mrs. G. R. Kirk, died suddenly in Kansas City, Mo. . . . We also understand that Judith Bullock (Emmie of "Gently Does It") is visiting her family in Alabama, and her prolonged stay is due to the illness of her mother. Our best wishes for her quick recovery and Judy's return to Monroe . . . The first board of directors meeting of the new year was held Friday in the home of the vice - president, Lealis Hale, 307 Erin Ave. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hale after the meeting . . . Little Theatreites, Kay and Bid Causey, were pleasantly surprised when a host of their friends and neighbors dropped in Saturday night and gave them a "house warming" party, in their new home on Pargoud Drive . . . We hear that Thom Feuerstein had a "bang-up" time in Waco, Tex., over the holidays. Thom visited Baylor University while there and helped work on some very interesting lighting experiments . . . A sad goodby to a staunch and very faithful Little Theatre worker. Sue Sharman was honored at a going away party at the home of Fred and Dot Elmendorf, on Saturday evening. Sue is moving back to Minden, La., and has not announced what her future plans are. We'll all miss Sue around the theatre. We wish to extend to her our best wishes for whatever her future plans hold and thank her for faithful support in years past. A real trouper and Minden's gain is our loss.

Busy Time For Gardening

One Good Resolution For 1955

Just what resolution in 1955 will help most — or will give the greatest satisfaction. Someone has said, "We are as big as the things that make us mad." How often we become angry over acts and words of others, when actually, we need never be affected by that which comes from without. If we barb the hurricanes of unkind or unthoughtful words they invariably multiply. If, on the other hand, we meet them with mental poise being willing to bend a bit — they go over our heads, back out to sea, and are usually not heard of again. Thus we gain or retain mental poise. Mental poise is contagious—and we can change our temper in 1955 by remembering "We are as big as things that make us mad." How about making this resolution and get off to a good start in 1955.

Stock Taking Time

January is "stock taking" time and it is also "white sale" time. It is a good time to replace some of those worn towels. A towel has two important uses — one is to absorb moisture and the other is to wear well. Each of these uses depends on the grade of cotton from which the yarn is made, how tightly or loosely spun, how tightly the towel is woven and how close together the loops are.

When you shop for towels put them to the following tests? Is the underweave firm and strong enough to take care of the loops and not spread apart when you place your finger on the underside? How do they feel to the hands — soft and firm or rough and loosely woven? Are the selvages strong and capable of giving long wear? Are the hems well finished? What sizes should you buy? Who will be using them? How are they to be laundered? If you answer these questions satisfactorily you will be as wise as the owl with your buys.

Gardening

The weather man may be trying to fool us a bit, but we can take advantage of the warmer days to get our garden in readiness — yes, and do some planting. The first thing to do in the garden is to prepare the soil, apply fertilizer at the rate of 800 pounds per acre using 4-12-4, 4-12-6, or 6-8-8 on light soil. For heavier soil use 1000 pounds per acre. Also buy nitrogen of soda (200 pounds per acre) or ammonium nitrate (160 pounds per acre and use as a side dressing as soon as plants mark the row.

Need of More Milk in Diet.

Records show that most of us are not getting enough milk to supply our calcium requirements. Non fat dry milk is a low cost way of getting milk into the diet. It is not usually necessary to reconstitute non fat dry solids to a fluid before using. It may be used in the dry form with other dry ingredients, the water being added as you would milk.

These recipes will help get more milk in diet and by mixing a large quantity - save you time.

Cocoa mix: ½ cup sugar, ½ to ¾ cup cocoa, 3 cups dried milk, ⅛ teaspoon salt. Combine sugar, dried milk and salt. Store in a covered container. To make cocoa use ¼ cup mixture to one cup water. Add water gradually stirring until smooth. Bring to boiling temperature over a low flame, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water and cook 15 minutes. Beat until frothy with rotary egg beater just before serving.

Biscuit mix: 7½ cups flour, 1 cup shortening, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 3 teaspoons salt, 2 cups dry milk.

Proportions of liquid to use—¼ to one-third cup water to 1 cup mixture; for total mixture-3 to 3½ cups warm water. Sift the dry ingredients together very thoroughly and cut in the fat with pastry blender, knives or fingers. Place in a container which can be tightly closed. Store in refrigerator.

When ready to use, measure the amount desired into bowl. Make a shallow well in center of mixture, add the water slowly and stir from the center with a fork until ingredients are moistened and soft dough is formed. Remove from bowl to lightly floured board. Knead for a few seconds until smooth; then roll out until ½ to ¾ inch thick. Cut into small rounds and baked in hot oven (400 degrees F) for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once. Two cups mixture plus ½ to two - thirds cups water make about 14 2-inch biscuits.

Reminder

Regular council meeting will be January 15th at 10:00 a.m. Don't forget dues, fellowship fund and pennies for friendship. See you next Sunday.

Prospects Good For Women Engineers

WASHINGTON — The woman engineer can just about write her own job ticket.

The labor department says there is a shortage of engineering graduatts and urges women to enter the field.

There is a relatively wide choice of employment for the college-trained woman engineer today," said Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, director of the women's bureau. "It is up to the individual woman to make the choice . . . because individual employers in almost every kind of industry seem willing to hire qualified engineers."

There are approximately 3,600 women engineers working today, she said. Salaries reported in 1953 by the Society of Women Engineers ranged mostly from $4,000 to $6,000 annually, but about 25 per cent were above $6,000. More than three - fourths had been working for five years or less.

Cook poultry giblets in a small amount of seasoned water. Then use the stock for soup, sauce or gravy. Giblet meat is good chopped and mixed with hard-cooked eggs and mayonnaise; use as a spread for crackers or in a sandwich.

Casey's Widow Tells Of Jones' Immortal Run

JACKSON, Tenn. — Thousands of persons will argue there was no such person as Casey Jones, the famed engineer. They say he was a product of legend.

"They're nuts," said his widow.

Mrs. Casey Jones, a small grey-haired woman just recently turned 87, still lives here, but not in the house she once shared with the engineer immortalized in song.

Several months ago, Mrs. Jones fell and injured her hip. She now is in one of Jackson's nursing homes and Mrs. Ruth Ballew, head of the home, said Mrs. Jones has a long fight before she will be able to walk again.

"But she never complains," said Mrs. Jones. "She is an inspiration for all."

Substituted

It has been more than half a century since Casey Jones highballed his way through an early morning mist into immortality. He was killed April 29, 1900, near Vaughn, Miss.

"Casey wasn't even supposed to be the engineer on that run," his widow said.

She explained that he had pulled into Memphis the night before, dead tired from his regular run. When the engineer who was to take over the Illinois Central's "Cannonball Express" became ill, Casey volunteered to fill in.

Jones left Memphis one hour and 35 minutes late on the 188-mile route to Canton, Miss., vowing, "I'm going to run her till she leaves the rail, or make it on time with the southbound mail."

Mrs. Jones said that when the "Cannonball" ploughed into a line of boxcars stalled on the track, Casey was only two minutes off the regular schedule.

Ballad Gave Fame

She was at home, hanging out clothes when a neighbor came by. "I asked her what she was doing, calling so early," Mrs. Jones recalled. "I said, 'Is anything wrong with my husband?' And then I knew."

Sim Webb, the fireman with Casey on his last run, survived the crash and now works as a bricklayer in Memphis.

Casey probably would have been no more legendary a hero than other engineers who have died at the throttle if it weren't for the ballad, the work of Wallace Saunders, an engine - wiper Casey had befriended.

The train that carried Casey to his death was an old "iron horse," full of smoke, grime and grit.

Before she became ill, Mrs. Jones was guest of honor at an exhibition of the latest in railroading equipment.

"I only wish Casey could be here," she said. "But I don't know what he would think of all these new diesels, the 'astra-domes' and stuff."

Housewives Are Good Buyers

SAN FRANCISCO — The average American housewife is a "sophisticated buyer," one authority says.

Dilman M. K. Smith, vice - president of the Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N. J., told the recent American Home Economics Association convention the homemaker is more selective now because "she has had home economics courses in school and is continuously exposed to present - day advertising.

"The manufacturer who wants to attract her patronage must give attention continuously to her desires or she will withhold her patronage or seek out in the market place another manufacturer's products that look and perform the way she thinks they should ," Smith said.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

Well, folks, here we are to start the new year with a new production. Everyone is excitedly talking about "Affairs of State," the highly successful Broadway comedy that ran for more than 660 performances. Tryouts have been going on all week, and Director Thom Feuerstein has been talking to some very fine talent, but as yet is not ready to announce the complete cast. We'd like to mention a few of the fine people who have been visiting the playhouse this week: Joan Johnston, Aileen Shirley, Dorothy Holt, Barbara Sheppard, Shady Wall, Herman Schwarts, Jr., Russel Brown, Charles Wilhite, Julius Cahn, Lealis Hale, Phil Saragusa, Jerry Smith, Gerry and Tavie Kenny, Margaret Buquoi, Joanne Genung, Art Johnson, Lamar Mulligan, Bob Canedo, Anne Hinton and Evelyn Stewart . . . with apologies to those we've overlooked.

"Affairs of State" promises to be the funniest show to hit the boards of our Little Theatre in many a moon. The lines are packed with both wisdom and humor, and there was many a chuckle at tryouts when our former President Harry's name appeared in the lines.

There is very little trace left of the highly successful, "Gently Does It" production, and work has already begun on the setting for the new play. Bill and Aletha Gregory have really dug in and they agree with Director Feuerstein that this will be the prettiest set yet. In this new setting, the trend is away from the classical design and will be replaced with modern lines.

Well, "the show must go on" and we hear rehearsal got underway Friday night with a tentative cast. Again, so 'tis said, that familiar shingle "Closed Rehearsal" was posted (husbands and wives of cast and crew excepted.) Far be it from us to trespass, so we'll wait. Patience is a virtue, they say, but we being the virtuous souls we are will abide and anticipate the finished product. Bet we'll be glad we did, cause "Affairs of State" will be worth waiting for. But you nice people with a love for thespian "doings" don't let that little sign stop you. The welcome mat is always out for potential crew workers. Your help on the set, wardrobe, etc., will be welcomed with open arms!

CHATTER AROUND TOWN . . . Welcome home to Frank Breese, a former president of Little Theatre. Frank has spent the past two and a half months in Boston. Nice to see you back in town, Frank . . . We hear that Little Theatre star, Jim Reynolds, is now living in Delaware. For those who wish to drop him a line, his address is: Jim Reynolds, 120 East 36th St., Wilmington, Delaware . . . We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to Marion Fisher (Freda of "Gently Does It") whose mother, Mrs. G. R. Kirk, died suddenly in Kansas City, Mo. . . . We also understand that Judith Bullock (Emmie of "Gently Does It") is visiting her family in Alabama, and her prolonged stay is due to the illness of her mother. Our best wishes for her quick recovery and Judy's return to Monroe . . . The first board of directors meeting of the new year was held Friday in the home of the vice - president, Lealis Hale, 307 Erin Ave. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hale after the meeting . . . Little Theatreites, Kay and Bid Causey, were pleasantly surprised when a host of their friends and neighbors dropped in Saturday night and gave them a "house warming" party, in their new home on Pargoud Drive . . . We hear that Thom Feuerstein had a "bang-up" time in Waco, Tex., over the holidays. Thom visited Baylor University while there and helped work on some very interesting lighting experiments . . . A sad goodby to a staunch and very faithful Little Theatre worker. Sue Sharman was honored at a going away party at the home of Fred and Dot Elmendorf, on Saturday evening. Sue is moving back to Minden, La., and has not announced what her future plans are. We'll all miss Sue around the theatre. We wish to extend to her our best wishes for whatever her future plans hold and thank her for faithful support in years past. A real trouper and Minden's gain is our loss.

Busy Time For Gardening

One Good Resolution For 1955

Just what resolution in 1955 will help most — or will give the greatest satisfaction. Someone has said, "We are as big as the things that make us mad." How often we become angry over acts and words of others, when actually, we need never be affected by that which comes from without. If we barb the hurricanes of unkind or unthoughtful words they invariably multiply. If, on the other hand, we meet them with mental poise being willing to bend a bit — they go over our heads, back out to sea, and are usually not heard of again. Thus we gain or retain mental poise. Mental poise is contagious—and we can change our temper in 1955 by remembering "We are as big as things that make us mad." How about making this resolution and get off to a good start in 1955.

Stock Taking Time

January is "stock taking" time and it is also "white sale" time. It is a good time to replace some of those worn towels. A towel has two important uses — one is to absorb moisture and the other is to wear well. Each of these uses depends on the grade of cotton from which the yarn is made, how tightly or loosely spun, how tightly the towel is woven and how close together the loops are.

When you shop for towels put them to the following tests? Is the underweave firm and strong enough to take care of the loops and not spread apart when you place your finger on the underside? How do they feel to the hands — soft and firm or rough and loosely woven? Are the selvages strong and capable of giving long wear? Are the hems well finished? What sizes should you buy? Who will be using them? How are they to be laundered? If you answer these questions satisfactorily you will be as wise as the owl with your buys.

Gardening

The weather man may be trying to fool us a bit, but we can take advantage of the warmer days to get our garden in readiness — yes, and do some planting. The first thing to do in the garden is to prepare the soil, apply fertilizer at the rate of 800 pounds per acre using 4-12-4, 4-12-6, or 6-8-8 on light soil. For heavier soil use 1000 pounds per acre. Also buy nitrogen of soda (200 pounds per acre) or ammonium nitrate (160 pounds per acre and use as a side dressing as soon as plants mark the row.

Need of More Milk in Diet.

Records show that most of us are not getting enough milk to supply our calcium requirements. Non fat dry milk is a low cost way of getting milk into the diet. It is not usually necessary to reconstitute non fat dry solids to a fluid before using. It may be used in the dry form with other dry ingredients, the water being added as you would milk.

These recipes will help get more milk in diet and by mixing a large quantity - save you time.

Cocoa mix: ½ cup sugar, ½ to ¾ cup cocoa, 3 cups dried milk, ⅛ teaspoon salt. Combine sugar, dried milk and salt. Store in a covered container. To make cocoa use ¼ cup mixture to one cup water. Add water gradually stirring until smooth. Bring to boiling temperature over a low flame, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water and cook 15 minutes. Beat until frothy with rotary egg beater just before serving.

Biscuit mix: 7½ cups flour, 1 cup shortening, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 3 teaspoons salt, 2 cups dry milk.

Proportions of liquid to use—¼ to one-third cup water to 1 cup mixture; for total mixture-3 to 3½ cups warm water. Sift the dry ingredients together very thoroughly and cut in the fat with pastry blender, knives or fingers. Place in a container which can be tightly closed. Store in refrigerator.

When ready to use, measure the amount desired into bowl. Make a shallow well in center of mixture, add the water slowly and stir from the center with a fork until ingredients are moistened and soft dough is formed. Remove from bowl to lightly floured board. Knead for a few seconds until smooth; then roll out until ½ to ¾ inch thick. Cut into small rounds and baked in hot oven (400 degrees F) for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once. Two cups mixture plus ½ to two - thirds cups water make about 14 2-inch biscuits.

Reminder

Regular council meeting will be January 15th at 10:00 a.m. Don't forget dues, fellowship fund and pennies for friendship. See you next Sunday.

Prospects Good For Women Engineers

WASHINGTON — The woman engineer can just about write her own job ticket.

The labor department says there is a shortage of engineering graduatts and urges women to enter the field.

There is a relatively wide choice of employment for the college-trained woman engineer today," said Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, director of the women's bureau. "It is up to the individual woman to make the choice . . . because individual employers in almost every kind of industry seem willing to hire qualified engineers."

There are approximately 3,600 women engineers working today, she said. Salaries reported in 1953 by the Society of Women Engineers ranged mostly from $4,000 to $6,000 annually, but about 25 per cent were above $6,000. More than three - fourths had been working for five years or less.

Casey's Widow Tells Of Jones' Immortal Run

JACKSON, Tenn. — Thousands of persons will argue there was no such person as Casey Jones, the famed engineer. They say he was a product of legend.

"They're nuts," said his widow.

Mrs. Casey Jones, a small grey-haired woman just recently turned 87, still lives here, but not in the house she once shared with the engineer immortalized in song.

Several months ago, Mrs. Jones fell and injured her hip. She now is in one of Jackson's nursing homes and Mrs. Ruth Ballew, head of the home, said Mrs. Jones has a long fight before she will be able to walk again.

"But she never complains," said Mrs. Jones. "She is an inspiration for all."

Substituted

It has been more than half a century since Casey Jones highballed his way through an early morning mist into immortality. He was killed April 29, 1900, near Vaughn, Miss.

"Casey wasn't even supposed to be the engineer on that run," his widow said.

She explained that he had pulled into Memphis the night before, dead tired from his regular run. When the engineer who was to take over the Illinois Central's "Cannonball Express" became ill, Casey volunteered to fill in.

Jones left Memphis one hour and 35 minutes late on the 188-mile route to Canton, Miss., vowing, "I'm going to run her till she leaves the rail, or make it on time with the southbound mail."

Mrs. Jones said that when the "Cannonball" ploughed into a line of boxcars stalled on the track, Casey was only two minutes off the regular schedule.

Ballad Gave Fame

She was at home, hanging out clothes when a neighbor came by.

"I asked her what she was doing, calling so early," Mrs. Jones recalled. "I said, 'Is anything wrong with my husband?' And then I knew."

Sim Webb, the fireman with Casey on his last run, survived the crash and now works as a bricklayer in Memphis.

Casey probably would have been no more legendary a hero than other engineers who have died at the throttle if it weren't for the ballad, the work of Wallace Saunders, an engine - wiper Casey had befriended.

The train that carried Casey to his death was an old "iron horse," full of smoke, grime and grit.

Before she became ill, Mrs. Jones was guest of honor at an exhibition of the latest in railroading equipment.

"I only wish Casey could be here," she said. "But I don't know what he would think of all these new diesels, the 'astra-domes' and stuff."

Housewives Are Good Buyers

SAN FRANCISCO — The average American housewife is a "sophisticated buyer," one authority says.

Dilman M. K. Smith, vice - president of the Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N. J., told the recent American Home Economics Association convention the homemaker is more selective now because "she has had home economics courses in school and is continuously exposed to present - day advertising.

"The manufacturer who wants to attract her patronage must give attention continuously to her desires or she will withhold her patronage or seek out in the market place another manufacturer's products that look and perform the way she thinks they should ," Smith said.

RICH CARBURETOR ROBS MOTORIST

Car owners who are wasting money and not getting proper gas mileage due to over-rich mixtures will be pleased to learn of a Wisconsin inventor who has developed a very clever unit that helps save gasoline by "Vacu-mating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits cars, trucks and tractors. The manufacturers, the Vacu-matic Carburetor Co., 7617 362-H W. State St., Wauwatosa, Wis., are offering a Vacu-matic to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. Housewives' Chief Interest To Ease Work

NEW YORK — Today's woman is highly interested in politics, clubs, education and what Marilyn Monroe thinks of marriage. But she wants more than anything else to read how her job as housewife can be made easier.

After that, she wants to know how she can make herself more attractive and better dressed.

This is the gist of opinion of women's editors in answer to a United Press questionnaire on what in their pages pulls the greatest readership. Some 143 newspapers answered the questionnaire. They represented all kinds of papers—from metropolitan dailies to those of the small towns — and were from all sections of the nation.

Some of the women's editors said bluntly their readers were fed to the teeth with "the same old celebrities called on for comment. How about some new faces?" One quipped that "Marilyn Monroe always ends up on the sports pages anyway."

Another women's editor said the only personality outside her own community who has any appeal for women readers "is Mamie Eisenhower." Another editor — male—said he believed women readers had heard enough even about the First Lady.

The women's editors with few exceptions agreed that their readers like stories of general interest—of women in polites, business and club life; of the atom in its relation to the kitchen of the future and what women in Russia aren't wearing.

But there is more reader interest, they said, in such down-to-earth subjects as budgets, nutrition, child care, and beautification both of the home and the housewife. And with a few exceptions, the editors said women wanted more fashion news.

"But the woman isn't interested," said one, "in advice on how to wash her brassiere every night or scrub her elbows and knees now that winter's here."

Another women's editor said:

"We're not interested in the population of Pago Pago, but we would like to be able to tell housewives how they can ease their working day."

Women also like to hear how others of their sex are making a living, one editor said.

And, with few exceptons, the editors added, there should be more news of special interest to the women — all 53,000,000 of them.

Pie Tastes Change With Size Of Towns

CHICAGO — Lemon pie is strictly a "big city" dish. In small towns it's just so much meringue.

That's the word of one authority who says that, for some unknown reason, taste in pies varies according to the size of the town.

The only exception is apple pie. That's the No. 1 favorite anywhere, anytime.

Lemon pie ranks second in the taste buds of the big city dwellers—those in cities with a population of 500,000 or more. But then it falls flatter as cities get smaller, says Ralph S. Herman, director of bakery sales for a well - known milling firm (General Mills.)

In cities from 100,000 to 500,000, lemon pie drops to third place behind apple and pumpkin. Cherry pie wins third place among residents of cities between 10,000 and 100,000 with lemon dropping to fourth.

When it comes to communities under 10,000 lemon is just an "also ran." Berry pies of all kinds take over fourth place in these cities.

Tastes in pies also differ, quite naturally, in various sections of the country.

New Englanders go for mince pie in a big way. Cherry, which ranks third nationally, is a great favorite in the middle - east states. Pumpkin, the second - ranking pei natoinally, takes the honors in the west - central states.

Then, too, the time of year brings out cravings for certain flavors.

More apple pies are made and eaten in August, September, October and November.

In springtime, fancies turn heavily to lemon and chocolate pies.

The favorites during the fall and early winter are mince and pumpkin.

Religion To Get Stress In Emphasis Week

RUSTON (Special) — Religious Emphasis week dates for Louisiana Tech have been set for February 20-25, F. Carl Jones, chairman of the religious activities committee, announces.

Five speakers will be on programs here. They are: Dr. Penrose St. Amant, professor of church history at New Orleans Baptist Theological seminary; Dr. E. J. Kircher, professor of educatoin at the University of Ohio; Dr. David O Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Arkadelphia, Ark.; Otto Estes, executive secretary of the Lousiana Heart Association; and Henry Morris, head of civil engineering department, Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette.

Some students of Tech are serving as chairmen of committees, with the faculty religious activities committee and religious center directors acting in advisory capacities.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Our daughter, who is only fifteen, is going blind. What can we do to keep up her courage? N. T.

ANSWER: My heart aches for you. Truly, this is a cross you have to bear.

Keep very close to Christ and He will tell you what to do.

Encourage your daughter to make good use of what vision yet remains. Have her store up pictures, in every detail of your home and surroundings. Then when she is blind she will remember where everything is, and can care for herself much of the time. And call to her attention all that is beautiful. Tell her to store these images in her memory.

Perhaps what will help most is to remind her that we do not see with our eyes alone. Many have a worse affliction. They go through life spiritually blind. To such Jesus said, "If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness." (Matthew 6:23).

In this difficult hour read the Bible with your daughter. Read the Sermon on the Mount, the Psalms, and other passages, until she knows them.

You will recall that Helen Keller, deaf and blind, said that she read her braille Bible so often that in many places she wore the dots off the pages. As she read, Helen's handicap no longer seemed unsurmountable. She realized that she, too, could be of service to others. Her eyes were sightless, but her mind grasped God's purposes. She worked to promote world peace. She opened new opportunities for the blind, so they need no longer be helpless.

In these days when your daughter is losing her physical sight, try to increase her spiritual vision. Remind her that God cares for her; and if she'll trust Him, He will be her guide.

(What is YOUR question? Write Billy Graham care of this newspaper.)

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 3:16—"For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life." (RSV)

I hesitate to suggest my favorite Bible verse. It is a bit as if some one asked me to name my favorite son or daughter. There are four of them and each has an equal place in my affections. Bible verses are a bit like that to me.

Perhaps John 3:16 stands at the top of the list. No other verse seems to embody so much of the evangel. This verse, sometimes called, "The Gospel in a Nutshell" certainly is at the heart of the Gospel message. God's infinite love, His supreme gift to man, His inclusive invitation to eternal life, and His promise of our redemption through Christ, are the basic foundations on which our salvation rests.

It is for these and other reasons that I cherish John 3:16, as containing a gold nugget of spiritual truth of par excellence value.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Our daughter, who is only fifteen, is going blind. What can we do to keep up her courage? N. T.

ANSWER: My heart aches for you. Truly, this is a cross you have to bear.

Keep very close to Christ, and He will tell you what to do.

Encourage your daughter to make good use of what vision yet remains. Have her store up pictures, in every detail, of your home and surroundings. Then when she is blind she will remember where everything is, and can care for herself much of the time. And call to her attention all that is beautiful. Tell her to store these images in her memory.

Perhaps what will help most is to remind her that we do not see with our eyes alone. Many have a worse affliction. They go through life spiritually blind. To such Jesus said, "If therefore the light that is in thee by darkness, how great is that darkness." (Matthew 6:23).

In this difficult hour read the Bible with your daughter. Read the Sermon on the Mount, the Psalms, and other passages, until she knows them.

You will recall that Helen Keller, deaf and blind, said that she read her braille Bible so often that in many places she wore the dots off the pages. As she read, Helen's handicap no longer seemed unsurmountable. She realized that she, too, could be of service to others. Her eyes were sightless, but her mind grasped God's purposes. She worked to promote world peace. She opened new opportunities for the blind, so they need no longer be helpless.

In these days when your daughter is losing her physical sight, try to increase her spiritual vision. Remind her that God cares for her; and if she'll trust Him, He will be her guide.

(What is YOUR question? Write Billy Graham care of this newspaper.)

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 3:16—"For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life." (RSV)

I hesitate to suggest my favorite Bible verse. It is a bit as if some one asked me to name my favorite son or daughter. There are four of them and each has an equal place in my affections. Bible verses are a bit like that to me.

Perhaps John 3:16 stands at the top of the list. No other verse seems to embody so much of the evangel. This verse, sometimes called, "The Gospel in a Nutshell" certainly is at the heart of the Gospel message. God's infinite love, His supreme gift to man, His inclusive invitation to eternal life, and His promise of our redemption through Christ, are the basic foundations on which our salvation rests.

It is for these and other reasons that I cherish John 3:16, as containing a gold nugget of spiritual truth of par excellence value.

Prayers For Peace Will Be Continued For Whole Year

Year - long, non - stop prayers for world peace are under way in churches in 11 communities. Not until the end of 1955 will the final "amen" be spoken. More than a thousand congregations already are scheduled to take part in the day-and-night vigil, which was organized by the board of evangelism of the Methodist Church.

The chain of prayer began in Washington; San Antonio, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn.; Ashland, Ky.; Minter City, Miss.; Phoenix Ariz.; Springfield, Ore.; Centerview, Mo.; New York City, and Chicago.

From day to day the prayer center will shift back and forth across the country until the ritual comes to an end next Dec. 31 at churches in Ogden, Utah, and Boston.

Taking part will be whole congregations, individual families, and such special groups as a 2,500-member circle in the First Methodist Church of Shreveport, La.

The program is part of a broad Methodist drive to promote peace and world order. In addition to prayer, it includes special sermons and study projects on such subjects as disarmament and the United Nations.

Director of the prayer vigil is Dr. Harry Denman, of Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the board.

January Is Month To Plant Roses

Our suggestion to you gardeners is to get that transplanting done. Sometimes February is a bad month so don't put it off. This is a good month to buy shrubs you need. Somebody said to remind everybody to get a pussy willow. When Gladys Dickerson and Mae Stone made the camellia arrangement on TV last year, they used pussy willow stems. Hundreds of you promised yourselves to get a plant this year. They root easily too.

1955 All America Rose Winners

As you know, our department recommends planting roses the last of January or the first of February. Since that time will soon be here let's see about that highest of honors, the All America Rose award. This coveted honor in the rose world goes to three gorgeous newcomers. They are Jiminy Cricket, a Florabunda of coral-orange; Queen Elizabeth, a Grandiflora of delicate pure pink; Tiffany a hybrid tea of warm clear pink. The test garden at LSU has grown Jiminy Cricket and Tiffany. Dr. Hanchey reports that the plants have been there only one year and so the test hasn't been adequate to quote results. However, he says both hold promise and can well be grown in Baton Rouge.

Queen Elizabeth has not been grown at LSU. It is the new type grandflora. Several other grandfloras are in the LSU plot and Dr. Hanchey says they are very satisfactory as a group.

There are 22 special all America rose test gardens at different locations in the U. S. They are under the supervision of outstanding horticulturists, who rate the roses on the basis of: hardiness, disease resistance, fragrance, flower form, color and other points. Tests are carried on in this gardens under extremes in soils, weather, disease prevalence and tests with all types of fertilizers. So the three 1954 All America winners were passed on after tests were carried on for two years at 22 special gardens.

Jiminy Cricket is the florabunda with red buds that open to a coral orange. Later it fades to a pink coral much like Fashion. It has a nice odor, foliage is glossy bronze as it puts out, then turns to a glossy green. It is upright in growth, is ideal for hedges and the cut flowers hold up well indoors.

Tiffany, the hybrid tea produces long, pointed buds of deep pink with yellow shading at the base of the petals. The open blossoms are a warm, clear pink and it has exceptional lasting qualities. Each flower is produced on a single strong stem. The plant is vigorous and resists disease.

Queen Elizabeth is the first grandflora to win the award. The new class is being offered to the public for the first time this year. It is a cross between Charlotte Armstrong, a hybrid tea and floradora, a floribunda. Queen Elizabeth is delicate, pure pink with deep green, glossy foliage. The flowers are borne on long, almost thornless stems which are ideal for cutting. Blooms are carried both singly and in clusters and hold up very well when cut. The plants are fairly tall, in some areas growing to a height of six feet or more. The flower size falls between that of the florabunda and the hybrid tea.

Prepare Ground

Prepare the ground well where you plan to plant your roses. Spade deep and work in some humus. Be sure the place is well drained and gets at least six hours of sunshine.

Around The House

Miss Rupert Perry, home management specialist, gave me this recipe for treating stubborn white spots on furniture. Dip the finger in salad oil, then in salt and rub. Repeat until the spot disappears. Then dry and polish.

Do you need extra chairs occasionally? Maybe folding camp stools is your answer. Paint the wooden part to match your living room furnishings, and cover the canvass with colorful corduroy, denim or Indian head. They fold up easily for storage in the closet where you can quickly get to them when company arrives. You can use the same stool as a tray stand for a large metal refreshment tray. Or — you might use it as a luggage rack for overnight guests.

Dates

The second part of the refinishing furniture program will be given on television Tuesday, at 2:30. I'll review the first steps. Write me for a copy of the instructions.

When Elizabeth Guthrie made the Della Robbia wreath on television just before Christmas, garden clubs from four towns sent out notices in advance so their members would be sure to see the demonstration.

Films Depict Garden Beauty Of America

The New Year at the Garden Center started with a delightful flower show presented by members of the Garden Gate Garden Club of Winnsboro. Mrs. C. E. McKenzie and Mrs. John Lewis served as judges. In the arrangement class a blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. C. R. Adams, Jr., for a distinctive and original arrangement. For a container Mrs. Adams used an antique sugar bowl of crystal and silver with tall lines and a silver handle. Her arrangement was a diagonal line design of ivy and white empress camellias.

Second place was awarded to Mrs. Billy Duplissey for a most original arrangement. In a small brown cowboy boot, Mrs. Duplissey created a crescent design of beautifully dried materials. The crescent was formed with variety of dock in natural tan, brown magnolia leaves, dried hydrangea and colorful dried zinnias formed the focal point. A silver and bronze spur was used as an accessory. The arrangement was placed on a desert sand base and displayed against a chartreuse background.

Third place was awarded to Mrs. James Holmes for a beautiful arrangement in complimentary colors. Branches of pyracantha berries and foliage were used in a green container of matching tone.

All of the horticulture was in the blue ribbon class! Ribbons were awarded to Mrs. J. W. McLemore, Jr., for paper-white narcissus, Mrs. Billy Duplissey for Professor Sargent camellia and Mrs. C. R. Adams, Jr., for purple dawn camellia.

An eastern manufacturer has sent to the Garden Center for trial purposes, a kit which appears to be the answer to the flower arranger's prayer. This is a flower arrangement caddy for transporting arrangements and horticulture specimens from the home to flower show or meetings. This caddy is designed to be attached to the front seat of a car and hold the arrangement firmly in place in an upright position. You are invited to come in to the Garden Center and see this caddy and comment on its possibilities for use in our garden club world.

Another manufacturer of chemical sprays is offering, without charge, to the garden clubs of America the following technicolor and sound films: How to Grow Beautiful Roses; How to Grow Beautiful Azaleas and Camellias; Orchids of Hawaii; European Gardens; African Violets and Gloxinias; Fuschias and Begonias.

The average showing time of each film is approximately twenty minutes. This company will supply a well trained person to operate this movie projection machine and one who is qualified to talk to Garden Club members concerning their flower garden problems. As stated above these wonderful and colorful films come to the garden clubs without charge. Club presidents, if you are interested please contact the Garden Center specifying place of showing and three dates in order of preference. We will contact this company for confirmation of the date.

To garble the words of Confucius, I am at this time confused at viewing too much beauty in too little time. Manzanita growing in quantity at 5600 feet, in the San Bernardino mountains, the bright beauty and lacy foliage of the California pepper, the symmetrical beauty of the smaller Brazilian pepper tree with its large scarlet berries. Double poinsettias growing twelve feet tall in the gardens of Long Beach. Mass outdoor plantings of Bird of Paradise (Strelitzia reginae) in San Diego. A glorious sight is the scarlet - flowering eucalyptus in full bloom. The brilliant scarlet flowers are shown against a background of large, dark, glossy leaves. This is the variety (ficifolia) that produces the eucalyptus pods so often used in our dried arrangements. The solemn, austere beauty of our western mountains, Arizona, land of the sun. The great open spaces of West Texas, Langtry, home of Judge Roy Bean, with its fine cactus and native plants. The unexpected, breath-taking view of Pecos River Canyon, all flashes by as a film run too fast. How welcome the pine belt at Houston. Next time I tour, hope I have time to study the flora in each section. America is truly beautiful.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Foliage Plants In Mid - Winter

We southerners do not give very much thought to foliage plants with colored leaves in the winter because we have such a short period of cold weather when few flowers are in bloom. Late December and early January are our only reminders of the kind of winters the Yankees have. Nevertheless, we could make good use of some of the shrubs and vines that have colored leaves in winter. There are some non - evergreen foliage plants, too, that have colored leaves almost as pretty as flowers in the summer.

In England and France where there are few sunny days in winter, one sees miles of hedges made of various yellow leaved forms of privet and other plants. Since, on very misty days, one has to find the way around either by hedges or different kinds of picket fences, the yellow - leaf hedge is something of a help. They have overdone it a bit, however; row after monotonous row of adjoined houses are garnished with what looks like the old Manda's golden privet that sold so well here in 1910. In the gardens, a better use has been made of these bright leaved shrubs. In the Bois de Boulogne in Paris and not far from the famous Bagatelle Rose Garden where the new varieties are tested out, there is a striking iris garden. Three of its sides are made of clipped English yew, but one end has a fine screen of yellow leaves glossy privet all across it. A long bench sits in front of it, and the picture created by the golden foliage (with some green, here and there), the white bench and a purple-leaf plum behind it is arresting. None of this depends upon flowers for its effect at all.

Down at Nice, there is a high fence in front of some apartment houses, and on the fence they have planted a form of wisteria with mostly light bright yellow leaves. It is warm enough at Nice, of course, for that light blue plumbago from the Cape of Good Hope to live out of doors in winter, and this plant has climbed up on the fence, too. The effect of the light yellow and the light blue in complement to each other brought out your columnist's color camera in a flash! In the colder sections where we live, the plumbago does not get to such size in one season—even when you take it into the house in winter — but heavenly blue morning glories will give us almost the same color. For a darker blue that is permanent from year to year, we could plant the hardy perennial Ipomoea learl. This is the great big morning-glory you see in the patios in New Orleans blooming in summer and fall. One of the oldest southern nurseries has carried the plants for years. Most of us gardeners up here in the cooler sections do not seem to realize that the plants are cold hardy here.

Most of our nurseries have a few golden - leaved plants sitting around. There are several kinds of evergreen privet with golden-leaved forms. Aucubas can be bought with various amounts of yellow in their leaves. These are interesting and bright in a darkish corner on the north side of the house in amongst some of the green leaved kinds. If you are tired of green evergreens in winter, you can vary your picture by planting some of the kings of creeping euonymous that have colored leaves in winter. They will not offend you in summer because the foliage usually turns back almost to green during the growing season. The very showiest of the euonymouses is the one with the long name Euonymous radicans vegetus coloratus. Right now, it is a bright red violet that will attract your eye anywhere in the winter landscape.

This is the variety (ficifolia) that produces the eucalyptus pods so often used in our dried arrangements. The solemn, austere beauty of our western mountains, Arizona, land of the sun. The great open spaces of West Texas, Langtry, home of Judge Roy Bean, with its fine cactus and native plants. The unexpected, breath-taking view of Pecos River Canyon, all flashes by as a film run too fast. How welcome the pine belt at Houston. Next time I tour, hope I have time to study the flora in each section. America is truly beautiful.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Foliage Plants In Mid - Winter

We southerners do not give very much thought to foliage plants with colored leaves in the winter because we have such a short period of cold weather when few flowers are in bloom. Late December and early January are our only reminders of the kind of winters the Yankees have. Nevertheless, we could make good use of some of the shrubs and vines that have colored leaves in winter. There are some non - evergreen foliage plants, too, that have colored leaves almost as pretty as flowers in the summer.

In England and France where there are few sunny days in winter, one sees miles of hedges made of various yellow leaved forms of privet and other plants. Since, on very misty days, one has to find the way around either by hedges or different kinds of picket fences, the yellow - leaf hedge is something of a help. They have overdone it a bit, however; row after monotonous row of adjoined houses are garnished with what looks like the old Manda's golden privet that sold so well here in 1910. In the gardens, a better use has been made of these bright leaved shrubs. In the Bois de Boulogne in Paris and not far from the famous Bagatelle Rose Garden where the new varieties are tested out, there is a striking iris garden. Three of its sides are made of clipped English yew, but one end has a fine screen of yellow leaves glossy privet all across it. A long bench sits in front of it, and the picture created by the golden foliage (with some green, here and there), the white bench and a purple-leaf plum behind it is arresting. None of this depends upon flowers for its effect at all.

Down at Nice, there is a high fence in front of some apartment houses, and on the fence they have planted a form of wisteria with mostly light bright yellow leaves. It is warm enough at Nice, of course, for that light blue plumbago from the Cape of Good Hope to live out of doors in winter, and this plant has climbed up on the fence, too. The effect of the light yellow and the light blue in complement to each other brought out your columnist's color camera in a flash! In the colder sections where we live, the plumbago does not get to such size in one season—even when you take it into the house in winter — but heavenly blue morning glories will give us almost the same color. For a darker blue that is permanent from year to year, we could plant the hardy perennial Ipomoea leari. This is the great big morning-glory you see in the patios in New Orleans blooming in summer and fall. One of the oldest southern nurseries has carried the plants for years. Most of us gardeners up here in the cooler sections do not seem to realize that the plants are cold hardy here.

Most of our nurseries have a few golden - leaved plants sitting around. There are several kinds of evergreen privet with golden-leaved forms. Aucubas can be bought with various amounts of yellow in their leaves. These are interesting and bright in a darkish corner on the north side of the house in amongst some of the green leaved kinds. If you are tired of green evergreens in winter, you can vary your picture by planting some of the kings of creeping euonymous that have colored leaves in winter. They will not offend you in summer because the foliage usually turns back almost to green during the growing season. The very showiest of the euonymouses is the one with the long name Euonymous radicans vegetus coloratus. Right now, it is a bright red violet that will attract your eye anywhere in the winter landscape.

PATTERN A741
A CABANA ORIGINAL
by Isabel Dobson

PROMINENT DESIGNER—"The HIT OF MY COLLECTION—it's the Empire-princess line," American designer Isabel Dobson declares "Simple as can be— but oh, that wide-away neckline above the petticoat skirt does marvelous things for any woman's femininity—and figure!" This young designer with a sparkling approach to fashion thinks a brief sleeve is more flattering than the bare-arm look. We're sure most of you agree with her. We certainly do! Miss Dodson's Original for Cabana is a print pique in turquoise on white. "I'd like to see it," she says, "in icy white or dramatic black — or any one of the sparkling sea and sun colors." Home dressmakers might make their version in taffeta, faille, or linen as well as cotton is the advice of this leading designer to you, our readers.

Pattern A741 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards 45-inch fabric.

East, Pass.

Opening lead: Two of diamonds.

East was the victim of inertia in the defense of today's hand. Following the line of least resistance he overlooked the best chance to beat the contract.

The bidding was quite normal. North did not consider that his hand was good enough to justify a free bid over West's two diamond cal, discounting completely the value of his queen of diamonds.

West opened the deuce of diamonds and East won with the king. When he attempted to cash another diamond trick the defense collapsed. Declarer drove out the ace of hearts and by successive spade leads from dummy held the opposition to one trick in that suit.

East should have realized that the second diamond would not live. West's raise surely marked him with four trumps, but even had he not entered the auction his lead of the deuce announced a holding of four cards. The deuce could not have been from three to an honor since all the honors are in sight and from three small cards West's preferred lead would have been the top. (It is true that a certain number of players lead low from three small of partner's suit, but after a close study of the subject over several years, we have reached the conclusion that the high lead is superior. The only advantage of the low lead from three is that it distinguishes between a doubleton and a trebleton but this advantage is outweighed by several other considerations.)

It behooved East to formulate some plan of attack which contemplated the winning of four tricks. The club suit offered no hope so that the three additional tricks would have to be found in spades and hearts. The king of spades stood out as the indicated lead. If West held the ace the contract would probably be defeated on the spot by a third ruff. If West had the queen of spades and a quick trump trick, a similar result would be obtained. If West had not a spade honor, nothing would have been lost by the lead of the king. As the cards lay, South would have been rendered helpless by this lead. A diamond, a heart, a spade and a spade ruff spells out down one for declarer.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

New Personalities

HOLLYWOOD, January 8 — One major problem confronting producers is the discovery and development of new starring personalities.

Often established stars seem to "wear out" for a number of reasons, among them being bad stories and ditto roles. To rehabilitate them in the public favor is an extremely difficult task so new personalities must be found to replace them. Years of experience has taught Hollywood that stars whose personality and performance find cordial reception with the moviegoing public are the ones who bring people into the theaters. Sometimes an off - beat sotry, such as we used on our "Francis," the talking mule pictures, will accomplish the same purpose but the audience appeal of personalities is not too often replaced by such a substitute.

How do producers go about finding new talent? Well, they scout TV and radio programs, little theatre groups, the Broadway stage, beauty contests and so on down the line. Occasionally a star emerges from the tremendous ranks of extras and bit players but only occasionally.

A really great role, or a series of great roles, can develop a star practically overnight. For example, Donald O'Connor was well established before he appeared in the "Francis" pictures which I had the pleasure of directing but these same productions have tremendous impetus to his career, establishing him as a topflight personality.

Generally, the process of developing a star involves a great deal of hard labor which the public seldom knows about. After the difficulties incident to finding talent which has symptoms of personalities values, the real work begins.

Young players especially, those without considerable experience in the business of acting, are sent to the studio's dramatic school for polishing and grooming. This is indeed an arduous assignment, requiring hours of study and acting to improve their technique. In some instances, ambitious novices engage "outside" dramatic coaches to tutor them. This process affords genuine competition as the ones which fail to make the grade are apt to end up in some business other than motion pictures. It's no routine for a lazy person, believe me.

But this is only one phase of the preparation for stardom. Hours are spent in the wardrobe departments trying out clothes and costumes which fit the particular player's personality and type. And the same applies to the hair dressing department, as well - grooming is of vital importance to any actor and actress.

Interwoven in all this is the publicity build-up which is essential to developing a following for any star, incipient or otherwise. This involves posing for still pictures and portraits, interviews with fan and other magazines, making personal appearances at various important events and doing things to get their names and pictures in the papers. This may appear to be a lot of fun on the surface but actually its a wearing routine, during which the subject must be alert and articulate all the while. Publicity and promotion cannot be disassociated from a star build - up as they must provide a happy professional marriage if the hopeful is to succeed. Ballyhoo is just as essential as many other basic ingredients in the process of star-building.

In addition to scouting all entertainment avenues in the United States, the producers pay considerable attention to the field abroad. As in the instance of the domestic star - seeking drive, new talent comes to their attention through agents who manage their careers, as well as professional scouts. Pictures made abroad are examined closely for new possibilities which show promise of future stardom. And the same goes for the legitimate theaters through the world.

For the most part, only players who show what is interpreted as definite starring potentialities are imported to Hollywood. This seems to be especially true of young actors and actresses and more especially applies to girls with glamour proportions. Personally, I have made a number of pictures in Europe and right now am directing "Deadlock" in London with Stewart Granger and Jean Simmons, both of whom have worked successfully in Hollywood. In these and other productions, I have come across new talent which, some day soon, might see their names on the marquees of theaters throughout America and the world, too.

Let me stress one point, however, if you're ambitious for a Hollywood career, don't blindly set out for California. Get all the professional training you can in your home locality and be sure, as best you can, that you really have talent before trying to storm the often inhospitable gates of Hollywood. And be certain you're financed for a long dry financial spell. It's a rough road to stardom and only a few lucky and talented novices make the difficult grade.

'TRACK OF THE CAT'—Robert Mitchum eyes Dianna Lynn as Teresa Wright looks on in the Wayne-Fellow film, "Track of the Cat," bowing into the Paramount Theater on Thursday. The CinemaScope and Warner-Color outdoor drama presented by Warnes Bros. is based on the best-selling novel by Walter Van Tilburg Clark.

'Violent Men' Story Of Men In Land Battle

Violence and passion are powerfully merged in Columbia Pictures' "The Violent Men," starring Glenn Ford, Barbara Stanwyck and Edward G. Robinson at the Paramount Theatre. Photographed in the magnificent medium of Cinemascope and enriched with color by Technicolor, "The Violent Men" brilliantly depicts that strange and dangerous breed who ruthlessly lived and recklessly died in the course of the nation's expansion westward.

Set in the post - Civil War period when small ranch owners faced the greed and terror of the land barons, those semi-feudal settlers out to build cattle empires without regard to cost in human life and suffering, "The Violent Men" is a breathless, thrilling tale of high adventure. Combined with its swift action, however, is a moving record of emotional conflict between the men and women who fight beside and against each other for the land.

Ford portrays a former cavalry officer who rallies the small ranchers in self - defense against the relentless, completely brutal fight for power waged by crippled, embittered land baron Edward G. Robinson, his avaricious wife, Barbara Stanwyck, and his cold-blooded killer brother Brian Keith. Single - minded in their war against Ford and his fellows, the evil triumvirate are split amongst themselves, with the faithless wife attempting the murder of the husband; with the brother, in turn, having an affair with another girl even as he makes love to the faithless, scheming wife. Ford, for his part, sees his own fiancee, May Wynn, walk out on him and his desperate fight for survival; there is, on the other hand, lovely Dianne Foster, daughter of the Robinson household, torn between her devotion for her father and her distaste and hatred for her mother, who becomes attracted to the man leading the fight against them both.

The screen play for "The Violent Men" was penned by Harry Kleiner, based upon a novel by Donald Hamilton. Rudolph Mate directed and Lewis J. Rachmil produced.

'Sign Of The Pagan' Epic Story Of Attila

There is no more spectacular event in the chronicles of the early Christian era than the onslaught of Attila's Huns against the Roman Empire. And it is unlikely that the screen can better capture the spectacle, the Technicolor splendor and thundering excitement of this mighty sweep of history than does Universal-International's CinemaScope production of "Sign of The Pagan," which begins an engagement today at the Jim Theatre.

Starring Jeff Chandler, Jack Palance, the exotic continental beauty, Ludmilla Tcherina, and Rita Gam, "Sign of The Pagan" captures all the flaming excitement of the current novel by Roger Fuller. A drama high in content of human emotion, the story of a centurion's valiant effort to halt the barbaran tidal wave before it engulfs the separated segments of the Empire at Rome and at Constantinople is inspiring.

Chandler is the heroic centurion who appeals first to the corrupt Theodosius who rules at Constantinople to stop appeasing Attila and then to the weak Valentinian at Rome to take a stand against the Hun King. His only allies are the hamstrung General Paulinus (Jeff Morrow) and the scandal-ridden Pulcheria (Ludmilla Tcherina), both virtual prisoners of Theodosius.

In the wonderful scenic spread of CinemaScope, there is tremendous surge to the threat against 5th Century civilization by the united barbarian kingdoms, charging with fire and flame, with pillage and destruction from village to village through the very gates of undefended Rome, itself. There is spectacular pagan revelry in the Bacchanalian feast of Romans and barbarians. There is prophecy wrapped up in the lightning wrath of a God whom Attila has scourged. There is the tremendous jolt of history in the monumental meeting between Attila and Pope Leo, a meeting in which the Pope threatens Attila with the spirit of the vast army of Christian martyrs. And, finally, there is the might of Rome locked in combat with Attila's armies.

With warmth, director Douglas Sirk carries through this spectacular march of events the love-affair between Chandler, the sandalmaker's son, and Ludmilla Tcherina, the notorious Pulcheria.

There is little to choose between a quartet of brilliant performances. Chandler is ever heroic, ever sensitive to the tide that threatens his world. And it took a strong performance by Chandler, to hold up to the brutal, violent, scheming, yet tragic Attila of Jack Palance. Mlle. Tcherina is beautiful to behold and Rita Gam, the lusty warrior-daughter of Attila, gives a strong account as the pagan convert to Christianity.

Historic scope dominates this Albert J. Cohen production.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

New Personalities

HOLLYWOOD, January 8 — One major problem confronting producers is the discovery and development of new starring personalities.

Often established stars seem to "wear out" for a number of reasons, among them being bad stories and ditto roles. To rehabilitate them in the public favor is an extremely difficult task so new personalities must be found to replace them. Years of experience has taught Hollywood that stars whose personality and performance find cordial reception with the moviegoing public are the ones who bring people into the theaters. Sometimes an off - beat sotry, such as we used on our "Francis," the talking mule pictures, will accomplish the same purpose but the audience appeal of personalities is not too often replaced by such a substitute.

How do producers go about finding new talent? Well, they scout TV and radio programs, little theatre groups, the Broadway stage, beauty contests and so on down the line. Occasionally a star emerges from the tremendous ranks of extras and bit players but only occasionally.

A really great role, or a series of great roles, can develop a star practically overnight. For example, Donald O'Connor was well established before he appeared in the "Francis" pictures which I had the pleasure of directing but these same productions have tremendous impetus to his career, establishing him as a topflight personality.

Generally, the process of developing a star involves a great deal of hard labor which the public seldom knows about. After the difficulties incident to finding talent which has symptoms of personalities values, the real work begins.

Young players especially, those without considerable experience in the business of acting, are sent to the studio's dramatic school for polishing and grooming. This is indeed an arduous assignment, requiring hours of study and acting to improve their technique. In some instances, ambitious novices engage "outside" dramatic coaches to tutor them. This process affords genuine competition as the ones which fail to make the grade are apt to end up in some business other than motion pictures. It's no routine for a lazy person, believe me.

But this is only one phase of the preparation for stardom. Hours are spent in the wardrobe departments trying out clothes and costumes which fit the particular player's personality and type. And the same applies to the hair dressing department, as well - grooming is of vital importance to any actor and actress.

Interwoven in all this is the publicity build-up which is essential to developing a following for any star, incipient or otherwise. This involves posing for still pictures and portraits, interviews with fan and other magazines, making personal appearances at various important events and doing things to get their names and pictures in the papers. This may appear to be a lot of fun on the surface but actually its a wearing routine, during which the subject must be alert and articulate all the while. Publicity and promotion cannot be disassociated from a star build - up as they must provide a happy professional marriage if the hopeful is to succeed. Ballyhoo is just as essential as many other basic ingredients in the process of star-building.

In addition to scouting all entertainment avenues in the United States, the producers pay considerable attention to the field abroad. As in the instance of the domestic star - seeking drive, new talent comes to their attention through agents who manage their careers, as well as professional scouts. Pictures made abroad are examined closely for new possibilities which show promise of future stardom. And the same goes for the legitimate theaters through the world.

For the most part, only players who show what is interpreted as definite starring potentialities are imported to Hollywood. This seems to be especially true of young actors and actresses and more especially applies to girls with glamour proportions. Personally, I have made a number of pictures in Europe and right now am directing "Deadlock" in London with Stewart Granger and Jean Simmons, both of whom have worked successfully in Hollywood. In these and other productions, I have come across new talent which, some day soon, might see their names on the marquees of theaters throughout America and the world, too.

Let me stress one point, however, if you're ambitious for a Hollywood career, don't blindly set out for California. Get all the professional training you can in your home locality and be sure, as best you can, that you really have talent before trying to storm the often inhospitable gates of Hollywood. And be certain you're financed for a long dry financial spell. It's a rough road to stardom and only a few lucky and talented novices make the difficult grade.

'TRACK OF THE CAT'—Robert Mitchum eyes Dianna Lynn as Teresa Wright looks on in the Wayne-Fellow film, "Track of the Cat," bowing into the Paramount Theater on Thursday. The CinemaScope and Warner-Color outdoor drama presented by Warnes Bros. is based on the best-selling novel by Walter Van Tilburg Clark.

'Violent Men' Story Of Men In Land Battle

Violence and passion are powerfully merged in Columbia Pictures' "The Violent Men," starring Glenn Ford, Barbara Stanwyck and Edward G. Robinson at the Paramount Theatre. Photographed in the magnificent medium of Cinemascope and enriched with color by Technicolor, "The Violent Men" brilliantly depicts that strange and dangerous breed who ruthlessly lived and recklessly died in the course of the nation's expansion westward.

Set in the post - Civil War period when small ranch owners faced the greed and terror of the land barons, those semi-feudal settlers out to build cattle empires without regard to cost in human life and suffering, "The Violent Men" is a breathless, thrilling tale of high adventure. Combined with its swift action, however, is a moving record of emotional conflict between the men and women who fight beside and against each other for the land.

Ford portrays a former cavalry officer who rallies the small ranchers in self - defense against the relentless, completely brutal fight for power waged by crippled, embittered land baron Edward G. Robinson, his avaricious wife, Barbara Stanwyck, and his cold-blooded killer brother Brian Keith. Single - minded in their war against Ford and his fellows, the evil triumvirate are split amongst themselves, with the faithless wife attempting the murder of the husband; with the brother, in turn, having an affair with another girl even as he makes love to the faithless, scheming wife. Ford, for his part, sees his own fiancee, May Wynn, walk out on him and his desperate fight for survival; there is, on the other hand, lovely Dianne Foster, daughter of the Robinson household, torn between her devotion for her father and her distaste and hatred for her mother, who becomes attracted to the man leading the fight against them both.

The screen play for "The Violent Men" was penned by Harry Kleiner, based upon a novel by Donald Hamilton. Rudolph Mate directed and Lewis J. Rachmil produced.

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. — (UP) —Two brothers, James and Joseph Burns, took jobs at Pratt and Whitney Aircraft 15 years ago.

'Sign Of The Pagan' Epic Story Of Attila

There is no more spectacular event in the chronicles of the early Christian era than the onslaught of Attila's Huns against the Roman Empire. And it is unlikely that the screen can better capture the spectacle, the Technicolor splendor and thundering excitement of this mighty sweep of history than does Universal-International's CinemaScope production of "Sign of The Pagan," which begins an engagement today at the Jim Theatre.

Starring Jeff Chandler, Jack Palance, the exotic continental beauty, Ludmilla Tcherina, and Rita Gam, "Sign of The Pagan" captures all the flaming excitement of the current novel by Roger Fuller. A drama high in content of human emotion, the story of a centurion's valiant effort to halt the barbaran tidal wave before it engulfs the separated segments of the Empire at Rome and at Constantinople is inspiring.

Chandler is the heroic centurion who appeals first to the corrupt Theodosius who rules at Constantinople to stop appeasing Attila and then to the weak Valentinian at Rome to take a stand against the Hun King. His only allies are the hamstrung General Paulinus (Jeff Morrow) and the scandal-ridden Pulcheria (Ludmilla Tcherina), both virtual prisoners of Theodosius.

In the wonderful scenic spread of CinemaScope, there is tremendous surge to the threat against 5th Century civilization by the united barbarian kingdoms, charging with fire and flame, with pillage and destruction from village to village through the very gates of undefended Rome, itself. There is spectacular pagan revelry in the Bacchanalian feast of Romans and barbarians. There is prophecy wrapped up in the lightning wrath of a God whom Attila has scourged. There is the tremendous jolt of history in the monumental meeting between Attila and Pope Leo, a meeting in which the Pope threatens Attila with the spirit of the vast army of Christian martyrs. And, finally, there is the might of Rome locked in combat with Attila's armies.

With warmth, director Douglas Sirk carries through this spectacular march of events the love-affair between Chandler, the sandalmaker's son, and Ludmilla Tcherina, the notorious Pulcheria.

There is little to choose between a quartet of brilliant performances. Chandler is ever heroic, ever sensitive to the tide that threatens his world. And it took a strong performance by Chandler, to hold up to the brutal, violent, scheming, yet tragic Attila of Jack Palance. Mlle. Tcherina is beautiful to behold and Rita Gam, the lusty warrior-daughter of Attila, gives a strong account as the pagan convert to Christianity.

Historic scope dominates this Albert J. Cohen production.

1. ARE MEN MORE LIKE THE APES THAN WOMEN ARE? YES ☐ NO ☐
2. IS THERE ANY SURE-FIRE METHOD FOR REFORMING CRIMINALS AND DELINQUENTS? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. ARE 'DUST BOWLS' AND LAND CONSERVATION CHIEFLY PROBLEMS IN PSYCHOLOGY? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer To Question No. 1

1. Women will answer with an A-bomb "Yes!" Luckily (for them) scientists agree. They assure us that man's face, head, and reproductive system have more similarities to those of the apes and monkeys. Biologists believe that the female has always been the leader in evolution — the true "Mother of the Race" — in both plants and animals. Boys, that's sure one on us.

Answer To Question No. 2

2. No. Sociologist Bernard Kirby, Washington State Board of Pardons and Paroles, sums up numerous studies. These studies show chiefly that some methods are more successful than others, but all are far from perfect. He urges states to provide more funds for scientific studies of criminals and delinquents before and after different methods of punishment and reformation. Applause here. Cheapest way in the long run.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Yes, says H. S. Fennell, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in "Scientific American." Dust bowls are due chiefly to (1) lack of will to conserve, and (2) man's short memory. Droughts are natural, but we forget this and during wet periods plow land that is sure to be blown away. Until man learns and remembers these psychological lessons, deserts — as always — will be "on the march."

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Devoted Wife Of Kind, Good-Natured Man Is Coldly Unresponsive To His Embrace

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband is considerate and good-natured; the trouble is with me. When we are together usually I am cold and unresponsive; then when John is at work or elsewhere away from me, I regret my unjustified behavior and can feel love for him.

He says he's not certain I love him, although I do, very much, but it seems I just can't express it directly to him. I try hard, it seems to me; and I vow to myself that I will be sincerely demonstrative when he gets home, as a loving wife should be.

But always the same situation recurs; I scorn his advances, all the time not knowing why, apparently unable to act otherwise. Perhaps you can help me to understand myself, and make my husband's life more meaningful.

She Is Product Of Broken Home

I have wondered if my attitude is due to family background—to a broken home and no parental love or guidance. My father wanted to put us children in an orphanage, and our mother, in whose custody we were placed (she did this to spite my father) only thought of us as a block to her search for happiness, though she never remarried.

Now that we are all going separate ways, two of us married, she wants us all back under her wing; and has tried to break up our marriages, and to prevent the unmarried children from finding happiness with a helpmeet. This is all past history to me, however; I want to do something about the present and the future; and I've been thinking of getting psychiatric help, except I haven't that kind of money. Please advise me. —F.S.

Past and Present Probably Figure

DEAR F. S.: From what you say, there is no great mystery about the primary source of your denying attitude towards your husband's love-hunger. Your parents' feuding relationship has transmitted to you an involuntary reflex of hostility to the opposite sex. And your sharp though unconscious quarrel with your mother's faulty temperament may lead you to distrust your own attractiveness to anyone. Thus perhaps you are unconsciously afraid to let yourself go and love John freely—supposing you could—lest he lose interest once your guard is down and he feels he knows and possesses you fully.

However, there may be more to the story than your inhibitions, acquired from uneasy observations of parental discord. There may be a secondary factor blocking your intelligent wifely wish to be demonstrative with John. By which I mean, maybe John is an awkward or unprepossessing lover, despite his kindnes and good nature.

In general, a devoted wife's responsiveness to her spouse is proportionate to his skill or competence in establishing a climate of reciprocal approval of self-forgetfulness in lovemaking. And possibly your chilly air, carried over from the past, has completely shaken John's confidence in his ability to please you. A husband needs sure conviction and much affirmation on this score, if he is to become a magnetic sweetheart in marriage. Moreover, consistent wifely reassurance is the finest preface to tactful teaching, when indicated.

Mental Sharing Is Advocated

Now, about your stymied attitude. Perhaps you keep your feelings too much to yourself, mentally as well as physically. Have you tried talking things out with John, telling him about your ambivalent emotions—about your love for him when he is out of sight, and your "freezing-up" when he gets home, despite your desire and intent to be demonstrative? Trustful sharing of innermost thoughts is the deepest kind of intimacy—a contact of souls—and one of the most precious potentials of married teamwork. Thus such a venture on your part might break the ice of your past conditioning and set you free to really love John.

In any case, mere intellectual understanding of your difficulty won't automatically dissolve the obstacle. In addition, you will have to re-educate your emotional reflexes; and according to psychologists, "Emotion follows action." So, act towards John as you plan to act, whether you feel in the mood or not, meanwhile cultivating mental closeness (see above)—and you'll probably need no further advice. —M. H.

Priest Addresses A. A. Meet Here

An estimated crowd of 125 persons heard a heart warming and action - stirring address to Alcoholics Anonymous by Father Raymond S. Pfau, a priest the archdiocese of Indianapolis, Ind., which was delivered at the ballroom of Hotel Virginia.

Context of his speech, which according to Father Pfau, is copyrighted and could not be released for press purposes, kept the crowd practically on the edge of their seats with attentiveness. The archdiocese calling upon an inexehaustable supply of animated illustrations ran true to fashion of a fine orator.

As Father Pfau finished his address, the local chairman of the Alcoholics Anonymous group stated that it was customary for the group "steerer" to comment on the speech of the principal speaker.

"Wow" was the only word that the chairman said.

It was announced at the meeting last night that Father Pfau's next appearance before a A. A. group will be in Alexandria at 4 O'clock Sunday afternoon.

WMHS Band Boosters Will Meet Monday

The West Monroe High School Band Boosters club will hold a meeting in the school band room at 7:30 Monday, according to Mrs. J. Rodney Mouton, publicist for the group.

All parents of band members were urged to attend the meeting, the first since the new year.

HEN HOUSE

AVON, Conn. —(UP) —While Scoutmaster Henry C. Lee was off with his troop on a camping exercise, the fathers of his Scouts decided to build him a much needed hen house. When Lee returned from the trip he was greeted by a sign on top of the new building which read: "A Hennery for our Henry."

LET'S EXPLOR

By ALBERT EDWA

Reg. U.

1. ARE MEN MORE LIKE THE APES THAN WOMEN ARE?

Answer To Question No. 1

1. Women will answer with an A-bomb "Yes!" Luckily (for them) scientists agree. They assure us that man's face, head, and reproductive system have more similarities to those of the apes and monkeys. Biologists believe that the female has always been the leader in evolution — the true "Mother of the Race" — in both plants and animals. Boys, that's sure one on us.

Answer To Question No. 2

2. No. Sociologist Bernard Kirby, Washington State Board of Pardons and Paroles, sums up numerous studies. These studies show chiefly that some methods are more successful than others, but all are far from perfect. He urges states to provide more funds for scientific studies of criminals and delinquents before and after different methods of punishment and reformation. Applause here. Cheapest way in the long run.

MARY HAV

Devoted W
Natured M
Unresponsi

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband is considerate and good-natured; the trouble is with me. When we are together usually I am cold and unresponsive; then when John is at work or elsewhere away from me, I regret my unjustified behavior and can feel love for him.

He says he's not certain I love him, although I do, very much, but it seems I just can't express it directly to him. I try hard, it seems to me; and I vow to myself that I will be sincerely demonstrative when he gets home, as a loving wife should be.

But always the same situation recurs; I scorn his advances, all the time not knowing why, apparently unable to act otherwise. Perhaps you can help me to understand myself, and make my husband's life more meaningful.

She Is Product Of Broken Home

I have wondered if my attitude is due to family background—to a broken home and no parental love or guidance. My father wanted to put us children in an orphanage, and our mother, in whose custody we were placed (she did this to spite my father) only thought of us as a block to her search for happiness, though she never remarried.

Now that we are all going separate ways, two of us married, she wants us all back under her wing; and has tried to break up our marriages, and to prevent the unmarried children from finding happiness with a helpmeet. This is all past history to me, however; I want to do something about the present and the future; and I've been thinking of getting psychiatric help, except I haven't that kind of money. Please advise me. —F.S.

Past and Present Probably Figure

DEAR F. S.: From what you say, there is no great mystery about the primary source of your denying attitude towards your husband's love-hunger. Your parents' feuding relationship has transmitted to you an involuntary reflex of hostility to the opposite sex. And your sharp though unconscious quarrel with your mother's faulty temperament may lead you to distrust your own attractiveness to

Priest Addresses A. A. Meet Here

An estimated crowd of 125 persons heard a heart warming and action - stirring address to Alcoholics Anonymous by Father Raymond S. Pfau, a priest the archdiocese of Indianapolis, Ind., which was delivered at the ballroom of Hotel Virginia.

Context of his speech, which according to Father Pfau, is copyrighted and could not be released for press purposes, kept the crowd practically on the edge of their seats with attentiveness. The archdiocese calling upon an inexehaustable supply of animated illustrations ran true to fashion of a fine orator.

As Father Pfau finished his address, the local chairman of the Alcoholics Anonymous group stated that it was customary for the group "steerer" to comment on the speech of the principal speaker.

"Wow" was the only word that the chairman said.

It was announced at the meeting last night that Father Pfau's next appearance before a A. A. group will be in Alexandria at 4 0'clock Sunday afternoon.

1. ARE MEN MORE LIKE THE APES THAN WOMEN ARE?

Answer To Question No. 1

1. Women will answer with a A-bomb "Yes!" Luckily (for them scientists agree. They assure u that man's face, head, and reproductive system have more similarities to those of the apes and monkeys. Biologists believe that th female has always been the leade in evolution — the true "Mothe of the Race" — in both plants an animals. Boys, that's sure one o us.

Answer To Question No. 2

2. No. Sociologist Bernard Kir by, Washington State Board o Pardons and Paroles, sums u numerous studies. These studie show chiefly that some method are more successful than others but all are far from perfect. H urges states to provide more fund for scientific studies of criminal and delinquents before and afte different methods of punishmen and reformation. Applause here Cheapest way in the long run.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: M husband is considerate and good natured; the trouble is with me When we are together usually I an cold and unresponsive; then whe John is at work or elsewhere awa from me, I regret my unjustifie behavior and can feel love for him

He says he's not certain I lov him, although I do, very much but it seems I just can't expres it directly to him. I try hard, seems to me; and I vow to my self that I will be sincerely demonstrative when he gets home, as loving wife should be.

But always the same situatio recurs; I scorn his advances, al the time not knowing why, apparently unable to act otherwise. Perhaps you can help me to understand myself, and make my husband's life more meaningful.

She Is Product
Of Broken Home

I have wondered if my attitud is due to family background—to broken home and no parental lov or guidance. My father wanted t put us children in an orphanage and our mother, in whose custod we were placed (she did this t spite my father) only thought o us as a block to her search fo happiness, though she never re married.

Now that we are all going separate ways, two of us married, sh wants us all back under her wing and has tried to break up ou marriages, and to prevent the unmarried children from finding happiness with a helpmeet. This is al past history to me, however I want to do something about th present and the future; and I'v been thinking of getting psychiatric help, except I haven't that kin of money. Please advise me. —F.S

Past and Present

DEAR F. S.: From what you say there is no great mystery abou the primary source of your denying attitude towards your husband's love-hunger. Your parents feuding relationship has transmitted to you an involuntary refle of hostility to the opposite sex And your sharp though unconsciou quarrel with your mother's fault temperament may lead you to distrust your own attractiveness t

She Is Product

I have wondered if my attitud is due to family background—to broken home and no parental lov or guidance. My father wanted t put us children in an orphanage and our mother, in whose custod we were placed (she did this t spite my father) only thought o us as a block to her search fo happiness, though she never re married.

Now that we are all going separate ways, two of us married, sh wants us all back under her wing and has tried to break up ou marriages, and to prevent the unmarried children from finding happiness with a helpmeet. This is al past history to me, however I want to do something about th present and the future; and I'v been thinking of getting psychiatric help, except I haven't that kin of money. Death Claims Texan Beset By Bleeding

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Hubert Harris, the 47-year-old manufacturer who had been kept alive by more than 168 blood transfusions, died early today.

Bleeding mysteriously through the intestinal tract, he had been given more than 168 pints of blood.

Baylor Hospital reported Harris died about 6:00 a.m.

Only last night, surgeons had opened Harris' stomach in a meticulous exploration of his intestines. They hoped to find the bleeding points and then close them off.

Complicating Harris' illness was the fact he had a rare blood type—B-negative.

Doctors said the more than 168 pints of blood Harris had received was more than anyone else had received consecutively.

Dr. John Emmert said the operation revealed "diffused type bleeding from multiple areas prohibit-

Session Called To Hear Charges Of Invasion Threat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—UP—The Council of the Organization of American States (OAS) called an extraordinary session Monday to hear charges that Nicaragua is threatening to invade neighboring Costa Rica.

Costa Rican Ambassador Antonio Facio said he would present his country's case at the meeting which is expected to last all day.

Costa Rica's Deputy Foreign Minister Fernando Fournier was dispatched to Washington by President Jose Figueres to help present his country's appeal.

Fournier said Sunday that Costa Rica, which has no army, is protected by only a 1,500-man police force. He said that Nicaragua recently had purchased 25 mustang planes from Sweden.

"They are not for parade purposes," Fournier said. "Costa Rica is one of the few countries with no army. We have only a police force, and our equipment is inadequate. We have no planes."

Figueres said in a telephone interview with United Press that he expected the Nicaraguans to start their invasion with an air attack on his country.

The president said that Nicaragua had recruited soldiers of fortune from Mexico, Venezuela and Costa Rica itself and had stationed them on Costa Rica's northern border.

Figueres said some of these troops possibly would invade the country in motor boats because it takes "only a few hours" to cross Lake Nicaragua into Costa Rica.

He said Nicaragua had been recruiting mercenaries for several months.

She Is Product
Of Broken Home

I have wondered if my attitud is due to family background—to broken home and no parental lov or guidance. My father wanted put us children in an orphanage and our mother, in whose custod we were placed (she did this t spite my father) only thought o us as a block to her search fo happiness, though she never re married.

Now that we are all going sepa rate ways, two of us married, sh wants us all back under her wing and has tried to break up ou marriages, and to prevent the un married children from finding hap piness with a helpmeet. This is al past history to me, however
I want to do something about th present and the future; and I've been thinking of getting psychiat ric help, except I haven't that kin of money. Please advise me. —F.S

the primary source of your deny feuding relationship has transmit ted to you an involuntary refle of hostility to the opposite sex

And your sharp though unconsciou quarrel with your mother's fault temperament may lead you to dis trust your own attractiveness t

Priest Addresses A. A. Meet Here

sons heard a heart warming an action - stirring address to Alco

Hotel Virginia.

Context of his speech, which ac cording to Father Pfau, is copy for press purposes, kept the crow practically on the edge of thei seats with attentiveness. The arch diocese calling upon an inexe haustable supply of animated illus trations ran true to fashion of fine orator.

As Father Pfau finished his ad dress, the local chairman of th
Alcoholics Anonymous group state that it was customary for th

"Wow" was the only word tha the chairman said.

It was announced at the meetin
